Computation Formula: $Weight = 1.5 \times 700 (L + 40)$
(L = Distance between the center of the front axle and the center of the rear axle of a given group.)

Legend:
Line A: Four tires per axle or two 14-inch wide tires. Value is the formula weight plus 15%.
Line B: Eight tires per axle or four 14-inch wide tires. Value is the formula weight plus 25%.

Historical Note

New Table made by final rulemaking at 9 A.A.R. 665, effective April 8, 2003 (Supp. 03-1). Table amended by final rulemaking at 19 A.A.R. 2486, effective September 7, 2013 (Supp. 13-3).

Illustration 3. Overweight Axle Groups

The axle group weights shown on the previous tables are maximum weights allowed on any combination of axles within the distance between the front and rear axle of a given group to a maximum of 18 feet. The values in Table 3.01 line "A" are an expansion of the formula $W = 1.5 \times 700 (L + 40)$, where L is the distance between the centers of the front and rear axles of a group. The values in line "B" and in the remaining tables are computed by applying the percentages provided in the Table footnotes and are intended to increase the allowable weights based on wider axles and increased number of tires. Measured axle widths shall be rounded down to the nearest 3" increment when determining the appropriate table to use.

- (Axle 1) limited to 28,000 lbs for single alone
- (Axle 2 + 3); L = 4'; W = 46,200 lbs for tandem alone
- (Axle 1) + (Axle 2 + 3); L = 14'; W = 56,700 lbs for the group
- (Axle 4 + 5); L = 6'; W = 60,375 lbs (25% increase for 10' wide - 8 tires)
- (Axle 2 + 3 + 4); L = 16'; W = $(2/3 \times 58,800) + (1/3 \times 73,500) = 63,700$ lbs
- (Axle 3 + 4 + 5); L = 18'; W = $(1/3 \times 60,900) + (2/3 \times 76,125) = 71,050$ lbs
- (Axle 3 + 4); L = 12'; W = $(1/2 \times 54,600) + (1/2 \times 68,250) = 61,425$ lbs
- (Axle 6 + 7 + 8); L = 10' 8"; W = 61,180 (15% increase for 10' wide - 4 tires)

Note: The Department shall review each possible axle group that can exist within an 18-foot distance. Axle group configurations of different widths or numbers of tires shall be prorated within the total group load in determining any allowable increase over the basic formula weight.

R17-6-412. Highway-specific Restrictions, Requirements, Conditions, and Allowances

- A. The Department may temporarily prohibit operation of an oversize or overweight special permitted vehicle, or impose additional weight restrictions, requirements, conditions, or allowances, if safe transport on a highway under the Department's jurisdiction is unavoidably affected by a temporary construction or maintenance project, incident, or emergency situation as indicated on the Department's web site at www.az511.gov.
- B. The Department shall post to its web site at www.azdot.gov all updates to any temporary or permanent highway restrictions, requirements, conditions, or allowances affecting a route listed under Table 4 as appropriate for safe transport of an oversize or overweight vehicle or vehicle and load.
- C. A permittee and driver shall check the Department's web site at www.azdot.gov daily for updates to any temporary or permanent highway restrictions, requirements, conditions, or allowances affecting safe transport of an oversize or overweight vehicle or vehicle and load on a route listed under Table 4.
- D. A permittee or driver of an oversize or overweight vehicle or load shall not access a route listed under Table 4 unless operating in full compliance with all indicated permanent highway restrictions, requirements, conditions and allowances, including any additional instructions indicated on the special permit issued by the Department.

- E. A permittee and driver shall additionally check daily for up-to-date information on traffic conditions, road closures, and restrictions by:
 1. Accessing the Department's Traffic Operations Center online at www.az511.gov; or
 2. Contacting a highway project engineer at the ADOT district office identified on the Department's web site at www.azdot.gov/Highways as responsible for oversight of the permittee's applicable transport route.
- F. The information contained in Table 4 reflects highway restrictions, requirements, conditions, and allowances applicable on the effective date of this Section. Real-time updates published as an addendum to Table 4 are posted by the Department to its web site at www.azdot.gov, the Arizona Central Commercial Permits office, and Class C Maintenance Permit Services. This information is critical for ensuring safe transport of an oversize or overweight vehicle or load and is subject to change as provided under this Section.

- (a) The expanding regional economy depends on expanding transportation capacity.
- (b) Highway transportation is the major mode for movement of people and goods in the western states.
- (c) Uniform application in the west of more adequate vehicle size and weight standards will result in a reduction of pollution, congestion, fuel consumption and related transportation costs which are necessary to permit increased productivity.
- (d) A number of western states, already having adopted substantially the 1964 bureau of public roads recommended vehicle size and weight standards, still find current federal limits more restrictive.
- (e) The participating jurisdictions are most capable of developing vehicle size and weight standards most appropriate for the regional economy and transportation requirements, consistent with and in recognition of principles of highway safety.

Section 2. Purposes.

The purposes of this agreement are to:

- (a) Adhere to the principle that each participating jurisdiction should have the freedom to develop vehicle size and weight standards that it determines most appropriate to its economy and highway system.
- (b) Establish a system authorizing the operation of vehicles traveling between two or more participating jurisdictions at more adequate size and weight standards.
- (c) Promote uniformity among participating jurisdictions in vehicle size and weight standards on the basis of the objectives set forth in this agreement.
- (d) Secure uniformity as far as possible of administrative procedures in the enforcement of recommended vehicle size and weight standards.

- (e) Provide means for the encouragement and utilization of research which will facilitate the achievement of the purposes of this section, with due regard for the findings set forth in section 1 of this article.
- (f) Facilitate communication between legislators, state transportation administrators and commercial industry representatives in addressing the emerging highway transportation issues in participating jurisdictions.

Article II

Definitions

Section 1. As used in this agreement:

(a) In General.—

- (1) The Secretary shall withhold 50 percent of the apportionment of a State under section 104(b)(1) in any fiscal year in which the State does not permit the use of The Dwight D. Eisenhower System of Interstate and Defense Highways within its boundaries by vehicles with a weight of twenty thousand pounds carried on any one axle, including enforcement tolerances, or with a tandem axle weight of thirty-four thousand pounds, including enforcement tolerances, or a gross weight of at least eighty thousand pounds for vehicle combinations of five axles or more.
- (2) However, the maximum gross weight to be allowed by any State for vehicles using The Dwight D. Eisenhower System of Interstate and Defense Highways shall be twenty thousand pounds carried on one axle, including enforcement tolerances, and a tandem axle weight of thirty-four thousand pounds, including enforcement tolerances and with an overall maximum gross weight, including enforcement tolerances, on a group of two or more consecutive axles produced by application of the following formula:

where W equals overall gross weight on any group of two or more consecutive axles to the nearest five hundred pounds, L equals distance in feet between the extreme of any group of two or more consecutive axles, and N equals number of axles in group under consideration, except that two consecutive sets of tandem axles may carry a gross load of thirty-four thousand pounds each providing the overall distance between the first and last axles of such consecutive sets of tandem axles (1) is thirty-six feet or more, or (2) in the case of a motor vehicle hauling any tank trailer, dump trailer, or ocean transport container before September 1, 1989, is 30 feet or more: Provided, That such overall gross weight may not exceed eighty thousand pounds, including all enforcement tolerances, except for vehicles using Interstate Route 29 between Sioux City, Iowa, and the border between Iowa and South Dakota or vehicles using Interstate Route 129 between Sioux City, Iowa, and the border between Iowa and Nebraska, and except for those vehicles and loads which cannot be easily dismantled or divided and which have been issued special permits in accordance with applicable State laws, or the corresponding maximum weights permitted for vehicles using the public highways of such State under laws or regulations established by appropriate State authority in effect on July 1, 1956, except in the case of the overall gross weight of any group of two or more consecutive axles on any vehicle (other than a vehicle comprised of a motor vehicle hauling any tank trailer, dump trailer, or ocean transport container on or after September 1, 1989), on the date of enactment of the Federal-Aid Highway Amendments of 1974, whichever is the greater.

Title 2, Chapter 5, Subchapter A, Covered and Uncovered Employees; Subchapter B, Covered Employees

GOVERNOR'S REGULATORY REVIEW COUNCIL

STAFF MEMORANDUM - FIVE-YEAR REVIEW REPORT

MEETING DATE: July 10, 2018

AGENDA ITEM: F-3

TO: Members of the Governor's Regulatory Review Council (Council)

FROM: Council Staff

DATE: June 19, 2018

SUBJECT: DEPARTMENT OF ADMINISTRATION (F-18-0703)
Title 2, Chapter 5, Subchapter A, Covered and Uncovered Employees; Subchapter B, Covered Employees

COMMENTS ON THE FIVE-YEAR REVIEW REPORT

Purpose of the Agency and Number of Rules in the Report:

This five-year-review report from the Arizona Department of Administration (Department) covers 73 rules in A.A.C. Title 2, Chapter 5 related to the State Personnel System. In 2012, Governor Brewer established the State Personnel System, which consolidated seven different personnel systems within the executive branch, and transitioned most of the State employees to at will uncovered status. Covered employees can only be terminated for cause, while uncovered employees serve at the pleasure of the appointment authorities and could be terminated without cause.

Subchapter A, applicable to covered and uncovered employees, establish rules related to the classification system; recruitment, selection, and appointment; compensation system; conditions of employment; leave; performance management; disciplinary actions; complaints; and separations. Subchapter B, applicable to covered employees, establish rules related to employment status; disciplinary actions; grievances; appeals; and reduction in force.

The rules were made via exempt rulemaking in September 2012. This is the first five-year-review report on the rules.

Proposed Action

The Department plans to amend the rules to address the issues identified in this memo and submit a Notice of Final Rulemaking to the Council by December 2019.

1. Has the agency analyzed whether the rules are authorized by statute?

Yes. The Department cites to both general and specific authority for the rules. A.R.S. § 41-742 authorizes the director of the Department to establish and administer the State Personnel System. Additionally, A.R.S. § 41-743 requires the director to adopt rules and procedures relating to personnel and personnel administration for both covered and uncovered employees.

2. Summary of the agency's economic impact comparison and identification of stakeholders:

The rules were made via exempt rulemaking, so no economic, small business, and consumer impact statement was required.

The key stakeholders include the Department as well as approximately 100 state agencies, boards, and commissions. As of June 30, 2017, there were 33,222 employees in the State Personnel System that were subject to these rules.

3. Has the agency analyzed the costs and benefits of the rulemaking and determined that the rules impose the least burden and costs to those who are regulated?

Yes. The Department indicates that the rules provide the least intrusive and least costly method of achieving the regulatory objective.

4. Has the agency received any written criticisms of the rules over the last five years?

Yes. The Department received comments on R2-5A-105; R2-5A-B601; R2-5A-B602; R2-5A-B609; and R2-5A-D601. The comment and the Department's response are provided under the respective rule throughout the report. Council staff believes the Department adequately addressed the public comments.

5. Has the agency analyzed the rules' clarity, conciseness, and understandability, consistency with other rules and statutes, and effectiveness?

Yes. The Department indicates that the rules are clear, concise, and understandable with the following exceptions:

- R2-5A-101: Definitions should be amended or added to provide greater clarity.
- R2-5A-302: The term "disabled veteran" should be amended to improve clarity.
- R2-5A-305: Similar to subsection (C), there should also be an exception for relationship to an interviewer or panel member. Additionally, the definition for "related within the third degree" should be modified.
- R2-5A-A601: Clarifying changes should be made to subsection (E), regarding eligibility for continued insurance benefits.

- R2-5A-B611: Subsection (B), related to utilization of meritorious service leave for full authority peace officers, should be amended to remain consistent with the most recent version of the guidelines established by the director of the Department
- R2-5A-C602: Subsection (D), pertaining to insurance benefits continuation, should be removed as it is no longer necessary and creates potential conflict with the statewide benefits policy related to unpaid benefits premium collection.
- R2-5A-D601: Subsection (G), related to insurance benefits continuation, should be removed as it is no longer necessary and creates potential conflict with the statewide benefits policy related to unpaid benefits premium collection.

The Department has identified that the following rules should be amended to be made more effective:

- R2-5A-104: To avoid any potential conflicts, the rule should be amended to replace the listed category of protected individuals with the term “protected category” and by defining the term “protected category” in R2-5A-101.
- R2-5A-403: Subsections (E)(3) and (E)(5) should be amended to remain consistent with the most recent version of the compensation guidelines.
- R2-5A-B603: Subsection (D) should be modified to allow for the use of sick leave to attend court related proceedings under A.R.S. § 8-420 or 13-4429.
- R2-5A-C602: Subsections should be added to address additional circumstances in which an employee can be granted leave without pay.
- R2-5A-D602: The rule is inconsistent with agency procedures. Additionally, the rule restricts the amount of leave that can be used, potentially creating a negative impact for employees.
- R2-5A-D603: The rule requires an employee to submit a copy of the orders when requesting military leave; however, it may not be possible or practical for the employee to submit the orders.
- R2-5A-701: The rule should be amended to incorporate the temporary procedures implemented by the director, to extend the performance appraisal exemption to all uncovered employees in political appointment positions.
- R2-5A-702: In the recent months, the Department has been piloting a new performance appraisal system. Once the new system is finalized, the rule will require amendment.
- R2-5B-202: The rule should be amended to address circumstances such as if an employee on original probation voluntarily accepts an uncovered position and then returns to a covered position, the employee must complete the remainder of the original probationary period.

The Department indicates that the rules are consistent with other rules and statutes, except for R2-5A-D601. The rule, related to Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA), references “husband and wife” in subsection (D)(4). The subsection is not consistent with the FMLA regulations, which were revised in 2015, to amend the definition of spouse to include all individuals legally married, and specifically include individuals in same-sex and common law marriages.

6. Has the agency analyzed the current enforcement status of the rules?

Yes. The Department indicates that the rules are enforced as written, except for R2-5A-D601. As mentioned above, the rule is inconsistent with the FMLA regulations. The Department enforces the inconsistencies in the rule according to FMLA regulations.

7. Are the rules more stringent than corresponding federal law and, if so, is there statutory authority to exceed the requirements of federal law?

No. The Department indicates that the rules are not more stringent than federal law.

8. For rules adopted after July 29, 2010, do the rules require a permit or license and, if so, does the agency comply with A.R.S. § 41-1037?

No. The rules do not require issuance of a permit or license.

9. Conclusion

The Department plans to submit a Notice of Final Rulemaking to the Council by December 2019. The report meets the requirements of A.R.S. § 41-1056 and R1-6-301. Council staff recommends approval of this report.

CHAPTER 5. DEPARTMENT OF ADMINISTRATION
STATE PERSONNEL SYSTEM
FIVE-YEAR REVIEW
BACKGROUND AND SUMMARY

Prior to 2012, the majority of state agencies, boards and commissions were subject to the jurisdiction of the Arizona Department of Administration (ADOA) Human Resources System, the largest of the human resources systems within Arizona State Government and one of only two merit systems established by statute. Of the 31,496 employees at the end of FY2011, 25,882 employees, or over 82%, were covered by the merit system. Merit system (i.e., covered or "state service") employees could only be dismissed from service for cause. Less than 18% of the State workforce were non-merit (i.e., uncovered, or "at will") employees, were not subject to the ADOA Personnel Rules, served at the pleasure of the appointing authorities, and could be separated without the right of appeal.

On May 12, 2012, Governor Jan Brewer signed into law HB2571, State Personnel System, which consolidated seven different personnel systems within the executive branch, including the ADOA Human Resources System, into the State Personnel System and transitioned a majority of the State workforce to at will uncovered status. To effect this transition to an at will uncovered workforce, HB2571 added a new section, A.R.S. § 41-742, which identified the categories of current employees who would be at will uncovered and stipulated that all new hires beginning September 29, 2012, were at will uncovered employees, with two exceptions: a full authority peace officer in the covered service in any state agency; and, an employee of the Arizona Department of Corrections employed as a Correctional Officer 1, 2 or 3, or a Community Corrections Officer.

Laws 2012, Chapter 321 (HB2571) authorized the Department to adopt rules relating to personnel and personnel administration for both uncovered and covered employees in the State Personnel System. Section 170 of the Act provided the Department the authority to conduct exempt rulemaking for approximately one year.

In its 2012 rulemaking, the Department renamed A.A.C. Title 2, Chapter 5, from Personnel Administration to State Personnel System and repealed all merit system rules in the Chapter. The new rules for the State Personnel System were effective September 29, 2012, and are contained in two Subchapters. Subchapter A provides rules that are applicable to both covered and uncovered positions, applicants for covered and uncovered positions, and covered and uncovered employees in the State Personnel System. Subchapter B provides rules that are applicable only to covered positions, applicants for covered positions and covered employees in the State Personnel System.

Through an analysis of the rules in 2 A.A.C. 5, the Department has determined that a number of rules could be revised to improve their effectiveness or to clarify their content, as described in this report. The Department may add, delete or modify other rules, as necessary. Subject to review of the Human Resources Director and the ADOA Director, and if a rulemaking moratorium is in effect at the time the rulemaking is initiated, the Department plans to submit a Notice of Final Rulemaking to the Governor's Regulatory Review Council (Council) by December 2019.

INFORMATION THAT IS IDENTICAL FOR ALL OF THE RULES

As provided by Arizona Administrative Code (A.A.C.) R1-6-301(B), the following information is the same for all of the rules in this report:

A.R.S. § 41-743 provides specific authority for the ADOA Director to adopt rules and procedures relating to personnel and personnel administration for both covered and uncovered employees and specifies what the rules shall include.

4. Analysis of consistency with federal and state statutes and rules and a listing of the statutes or rules used in determining the consistency

a. Consistency with federal statutes

Except as indicated in the “Note” provided below, the rules are consistent with applicable federal laws. The federal laws used in determining the consistency pertain to fair employment practices/discrimination, wage and salary administration, and employee benefits and workplace safety and include, but are not limited to:

Note:

Rule R2-5A-D601, Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) Leave, specifically subsection (D)(4), which references “husband and wife” is not consistent with the FMLA regulations. Note:

- 2 A.A.C. 15, Department of Administration – General Services Division

5. Agency enforcement policy

The rules have been enforced by the ADOA Director, statewide HRD Director, Chief Human Resources Officers assigned to large agencies, and the Shared Services Chief Human Resources Officer, who provides human resources guidance for small and medium agencies, and by statewide human resources policies and guidelines issued by the Department, as well as standardized forms. Agency human resources policies are subject to review by ADOA HRD.

8. Economic, small business and consumer impact comparison

The rules in 2 A.A.C. 5 were adopted by exempt rulemaking, effective September 29, 2012, and published in the Arizona Administrative Register (A.A.R.) at 18 A.A.R. 2782. A subsequent exempt rulemaking amended nine rules effective April 13, 2013, and published at 19 A.A.R. 717. Because these rulemakings were exempt from the requirements of the Administrative Procedures Act, no economic, small business and consumer impact statement was required at the time of the rulemaking.

In this economic, small business, and consumer impact comparison, annual cost/revenues are designated as “minimal” when less than $1,000.00; “moderate” when between $1,000.00 and $10,000.00; “substantial” when $10,000.00 or more; and “significant” when meaningful or important, but not readily subject to quantification.

Currently, approximately 100 state agencies, boards and commissions are in the State Personnel System (SPS) and subject to these rules. The SPS is the largest personnel system in State government and the Department administers the SPS through these rules, statewide policies and procedures, and by providing support to individual agencies and oversight of their personnel management.

According to the State of Arizona 2017 Workforce Report published by the Department, as of June 30, 2017, there were 33,222 SPS employees. With some exceptions, all employees are subject to these rules, which outline the job classification system, recruitment, selection, pay, leave administration, performance management, changes to employment status and a complaint system. Additional rules apply to only covered employees.

The Department estimates any additional costs imposed to the state agencies, boards and commissions subject to the rules to be moderate. All personnel actions are subject to the availability of funding. The rules directly affect state agencies and employees and not small businesses or consumers.

9. Summary of business competitiveness analyses of the rules

The Department did not receive a business competitiveness analysis of the rules in the last five years.

10. Status of the completion of action indicated in the previous five-year review report

Not applicable. This is the first five-year review report on these rules.

11. A determination that the probable benefits of the rule outweigh within this state the probable costs of the rule, and the rule imposes the least burden and costs to regulated persons by the rule, including paperwork and other compliance costs, necessary to achieve the underlying regulatory objective

The Department has determined that the rules impose the least burden and costs to persons regulated by the rules.

12. Analysis of stringency compared to federal laws

After analysis, the Department has determined that the rules are not more stringent than federal laws.

13. For rules adopted after July 29, 2010, that require the issuance of a regulatory permit, license, or agency authorization, whether the rules are in compliance with A.R.S. § 41-1037

Not applicable. The rules in 2 A.A.C. 5 do not require the issuance of a regulatory permit or license.

The Department received one written criticism/comment of the rule in the past five years.

Comment: In September 2016, Craig Harris, The Arizona Republic, sent an email to the Department's Public Information Officer and also submitted a letter to the Governor's Regulatory Review Council (GRRC), which GRRC forwarded to the Department. In his correspondence, Mr. Harris acknowledged that the Department was given rulemaking authority by the Legislature; however, he believed the Department had made [R2-5A-105] "in secret" and without any public hearings.

Response: R2-5A-105 was added by exempt rulemaking in 2012; however, the rule previously existed in a substantively similar form as R2-5-105 since 1986. The Department was given the authority by statute to enact the personnel rules in order to implement the 2012 personnel reform. Laws 2012, Ch. 321, Sec. 170 exempted the Department from the regular rulemaking requirements; however, the Department was required to provide at least two opportunities for comment. The Department not only provided two opportunities for comment, but it also communicated with state agencies, worked with interested parties throughout the process, and launched a public website to provide information about personnel reform, key dates and the rulemaking. Further, although no response to comments was required, the Department provided a summary of how it modified the rules based on comments received as set forth in the notices of Exempt Rulemaking.

R2-5A-402. Salary Administration

2. The objective of the rule

The rule requires the ADOA Director to develop procedures for salary administration and identifies the factors that must be considered by an agency head when setting an employee's salary.

3. Analysis of effectiveness in meeting the objective

The Department believes that the rule effectively meets its objectives. Of note, the Department is monitoring a human resources national trend that emerged during 2017 – a movement to ban salary history inquiries – as the rule lists the employee's current or former salary as one of several factors for consideration including education, experience, skills, performance, and the salaries of similarly situated employees when setting an employee's salary. The practice of setting an employee's salary partly on what the employee has earned in the past has become controversial in recent years because some believe that this practice may encourage pay inequities to persist throughout an employee's career.

During the 2018 Arizona legislative session, at least three bills were introduced in an attempt to ban Arizona employers from asking about an applicant's salary history information (HB2224, HB2353 and SB1242); however, none of the bills were heard in committee. At the regional level, with a recent ruling, the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals joins the Fifth, Tenth and Eleventh Circuits in holding that the Equal Pay Act precludes employers from relying on an employee's prior pay when setting a starting salary that results in a wage discrepancy.

The Seventh and Eighth Circuits, by contrast, have held that reliance on the use of prior salary history does not, by itself, violate the Equal Pay Act. This split in the Circuit Courts may lead to eventual Supreme Court intervention.

6. Analysis of clarity, conciseness and understandability

The Department believes that the language of the rule is clear, concise and understandable.

7. Summary of the written criticisms of the rule within the last five years

During the last five years, no written criticisms of the rule have been received.

14. Proposed course of action

The Department will continue to monitor state legislation, federal legislation and court decisions, and intends to amend the rule by removing the current or former salary from the factors that must be considered when setting an employee's salary. Subject to the rulemaking moratorium, the Department anticipates submitting a Notice of Final Rulemaking by December 2019.

R2-5A-403. Supplemental Pay

2. The objective of the rule

This rule outlines different types of supplemental pay, and allows an employee to exceed the maximum of the grade range due to the receipt of the supplemental pay.

3. Analysis of effectiveness in meeting the objective

The rule is mostly effective in meeting its objective. However, the most recent revision of the compensation guidelines has resulted in a conflict between the rule and the guidelines for subsection E.3. Variable Pay, and subsection E.5, reporting on the utilization of variable pay strategies. Specifically, the reporting requirements outlined in rule are not consistent with the compensation guidelines.

6. Analysis of clarity, conciseness and understandability

The Department considers the language of the rule to be clear, concise and understandable. As noted in item #3 above, there are two noted conflicts in the rule versus current guidelines.

7. Summary of the written criticisms of the rule within the last five years

During the last five years, no written criticisms of the rule have been received.

6. Analysis of clarity, conciseness and understandability

The Department believes the rule to be clear, concise and understandable.

7. Summary of the written criticisms of the rule within the last five years

The Department received one written criticism/comment of the rule in the past five years.

Comment: A written comment was received from a State employee who had previously worked for a county; the employee suggested the State eliminate Columbus Day from observed holidays and instead observe the day after Thanksgiving as a holiday, similar to what had been implemented by Maricopa County.

Response: Legislative action would be required to change the applicable statute(s) to change any legally observed holidays. A.R.S. § 38-401, Office hours for state offices, requires state offices to be open from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. each day from Monday through Friday except on holidays (as listed in A.R.S. § 1-301, Holidays enumerated). By contrast, county offices are governed by A.R.S. § 11-413, County offices; business periods, which permits a county board of supervisors to designate the Friday after the fourth Thursday in November (Friday after Thanksgiving) as a legal holiday in place of the second Monday in October (Columbus Day).

The Department believes this rule to be clear, concise and understandable.

7. Summary of the written criticisms of the rule within the last five years

The Department received one written criticism/comment of the rule in the past five years.

Comment: In February 2014, following the death of an Arizona Department of Transportation (ADOT) employee, a member of ADOT's management team submitted an email asking about employees donating annual leave to the deceased employee's family in order to help the family with funeral expenses.

Response: A.R.S. § 41-748 governs this leave, and the transfer of annual leave may only occur from one employee to another employee in the same state agency, or, from one employee to another state employee in another state agency if the employees are members of the same family (defined). Although donations of annual leave would not be permitted in the situation described, existing rules allow an agency head to implement a policy regarding the payment of annual leave to a non-separating employee, thereby allowing an employee to assist the family of a deceased employee by donating the cash received from an annual leave payout.

14. Proposed course of action

The rule remains effective and no repeal or amendment is projected.

Comment: In April 2015, an ADOT employee sent an email to the HRD mailbox regarding taking time off to care for a living donor who was the employee's significant other, and asked if living donor leave could be expanded to include paid leave in these situations.

Response: A.R.S. § 41-706 governs this leave, and the leave may be taken only by a state employee (defined) who serves as a bone marrow donor or organ donor. Absent a statutory change, the Department is unable to amend the rule to extend paid living donor leave to any employee other than the employee who serves as the donor.

This rule requires the Director to establish guidelines for meritorious service leave and permits an agency head to establish a meritorious service leave program in accordance with the guidelines.

3. Analysis of effectiveness in meeting the objective

The Department believes that the rule is mostly effective in meeting its objectives. However, the most recent revision of the guidelines has created a conflict between the rule and the guidelines for subsection B, regarding the utilization of meritorious service leave for full authority peace officers.

6. Analysis of clarity, conciseness and understandability

The Department considers the language of the rule to be clear, concise and understandable. As noted in #3 above, there is a noted conflict in the rule versus current guidelines.

3. Analysis of effectiveness in meeting the objective

The Department believes the rule is mostly effective in meeting its objective. However, there are subsections that may need revision in order to address additional circumstances for use of leave without pay.

In addition, most of the language in subsection D. Insurance benefits continuation, is no longer necessary and creates potential conflict with a recently issued statewide benefits policy pertaining to unpaid benefits premium collection.

6. Analysis of clarity, conciseness and understandability

The Department believes this rule to be mostly clear, concise and understandable, except as noted in item #3 above.

7. Summary of the written criticisms of the rule within the last five years

This rule establishes procedures for leave taken that qualifies as Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) leave, and an employee's eligibility for continued participation in the health benefit and life insurance plans while on FMLA leave.

3. Analysis of effectiveness in meeting the objective

The Department believes the rule to be mostly effective in meeting its objective. As noted in the Department's response to item #4 (Information That is Identical for All of the Rules), there is one technical and conforming conflict in the rule as compared with interpretation of federal law, revising the term "husband and wife" to "spouse". In addition, most of the language in subsection G. Insurance benefits continuation, is no longer necessary and creates potential conflict with statewide benefits policy pertaining to unpaid benefits premium collection.

6. Analysis of clarity, conciseness and understandability

The Department believes the rule to be mostly clear, concise and understandable with the revisions addressed in item #3.

7. Summary of the written criticisms of the rule within the last five years

This rule explains the use of industrial leave, payments, light duty, continued participation in the health benefit and life insurance plans, and eligibility for continued accrual of other leaves.

3. Analysis of effectiveness in meeting the objective

The Department believes that the rule is partially effective in meeting its objective. Recent establishment of more accurate automated procedures caused a conflict within the rule and brought to light the inconsistency in application of calculations used in determining workers' compensation benefits. The rule unintentionally restricts the amount of leave that can be used, creating a potentially negative impact to the employee. In addition, most of the language in subsection G. Insurance benefits continuation, is no longer necessary and creates potential conflict with statewide benefits policy pertaining to unpaid benefits premium collection.

6. Analysis of clarity, conciseness and understandability

The Department believes that the rule is partially clear, concise and understandable with the exception noted in item #3 above.

7. Summary of the written criticisms of the rule within the last five years

This rule identifies the circumstances and the maximum number of hours that an employee may be absent with pay to fulfill military obligations.

3. Analysis of effectiveness in meeting the objective

The Department believes the rule to be mostly, clear, concise and understandable with the exception of the item addressed in #3 above.

Shortly after its adoption, the Department launched a new statewide performance appraisal system, Managing Accountability and Performance (MAP), to comply with the new rule. Agencies have reported that the MAP system, similar to prior appraisal systems, is cumbersome and time consuming. To address agency concerns, the Department has been piloting a new performance appraisal system. Once the new system is finalized, it is anticipated that rule revisions will be necessary.

R2-5B-202. Original Probation

2. The objective of the rule

This rule establishes an original probationary period, provides for extensions of original probation, outlines the completion of the original probation, and provides for the separation of an employee while on original probation.

3. Analysis of effectiveness in meeting the objective

The Department believes the rule is partially effective in meeting the objective. This rule is substantially similar to the Personnel Rules that were in effect prior to Personnel Reform. Prior to Reform, if an uncovered employee moved to a position in the covered service, it was the State's practice to place the employee on original probation, unless the employee was eligible for credit for prior covered service, or the employee was a reinstatement or reemployment (no longer applicable under the State Personnel System).

After Reform, the State continued the practice of placing an employee on original probation if the employee moved from a position in the uncovered service (e.g., a Correctional Sergeant) to a position in the covered service (e.g., a Correctional Officer 2).

In one particular case, an individual employed by the Arizona Department of Corrections (ADC) had completed the original probationary period as a Correctional Officer, promoted to Correctional Sergeant (uncovered), and then demoted to Correctional Officer 2 (covered). Consistent with past practice, ADC placed the employee on original probation in the covered class. ADC subsequently terminated the individual, and because the individual was on original probation, the individual was advised he had no right of appeal. The individual filed an appeal with the Personnel Board, citing he had previously satisfied the original probation requirements and should not have been placed on original probation again. The case was elevated through the courts and ADC reported that a court ultimately ruled that the Personnel Board must take jurisdiction on the termination appeal stating that ADC did not have the authority to establish such a policy because the State Personnel System Rules were silent on this matter.

Although the situation described above concerns an individual who completed the original probationary period, this highlights that the rules have an unintended gap with respect to completion of probation prior to movement to the uncovered service. This should be addressed as the intent is to ensure an individual successfully completes the full original probationary period and not allow movement within the system to circumvent that requirement.

6. Analysis of clarity, conciseness and understandability

The Department believes the rule to be partially clear, concise and understandable with the exception of the issue identified in #3.

7. Summary of the written criticisms of the rule within the last five years

No written criticisms of the rule have been received.

14. Proposed course of action

The Department intends to revise the rule to address the conflicts noted in item #3, by incorporating a requirement that if an employee on original probation voluntarily accepts a change in assignment to the uncovered service and subsequently returns to a position in the covered service, the employee must complete the remainder of the original probationary period so the employee serves the required one year of original probation. Subject to the rulemaking moratorium, the Department anticipates submitting a Notice of Final Rulemaking by December 2019.

FMLA Regulations, 29 CFR 825.100 through 29 CFR 825.800 (July 2012), are incorporated by this reference and on file with the Department and available from the U.S. Government Printing Office, 732 North Capitol Street N.W., Washington, D.C. 20401. This incorporation by reference contains no future editions or amendments. Any interference with, restraint of, or denial of an employee's rights provided by the FMLA is strictly prohibited.
- B. Eligible employee.
1. An eligible employee for the purposes of the FMLA is an employee who:
 - a. Is an employee of the state of Arizona;
 - b. Has been employed by the state of Arizona for at least 12 months; and
 - c. Worked for at least 1,250 hours of service during the 12 months immediately preceding commencement of the leave.
 2. An agency head shall not extend FMLA benefits to an ineligible employee.
- C. Situations covered by the FMLA. A state agency shall grant an eligible employee FMLA leave when the employee takes leave for one or more of the following reasons:
1. The birth of a child or placement of a child with the employee for adoption or foster care, provided the leave concludes within 12 months of the birth or placement.
 2. To care for the employee's spouse, child or parent with a serious health condition.
 3. The employee is unable to work because of the employee's own serious health condition.
 4. Any qualifying exigency arising out of the fact that the employee's spouse, child or parent is a covered military member on active duty or call to active duty status in support of a contingency operation.
 5. To care for a covered service member with a serious injury or illness when the covered service member is the employee's spouse, child, parent or next of kin.
- D. Amount of FMLA leave.
1. An employee who takes FMLA leave for any of the situations described in subsections (C)(1), (2), (3) or (4) may take a maximum of 12 workweeks of leave during any rolling 12-month period, measured backward from the first day of each approved period of FMLA leave.
 2. An employee who takes FMLA leave for the situation described in subsection (C)(5) may take up to 26 workweeks of leave in a single 12-month period.
 3. During a 12-month period, an eligible employee is able to take no more than 12 workweeks of leave for any of the situations described in subsections (C)(1), (2), (3) or (4) and a combined total of 26 workweeks of leave if the leave includes the situation described in subsection (C)(5).
 4. If a husband and wife are both state employees, the husband and wife are limited in the amount of FMLA leave taken to a combined total of:
 - a. 12 workweeks of leave for the birth and care of a newborn child, placement of a child for adoption or foster care, or to care for a parent who has a serious health condition.
 - b. 26 workweeks of leave to care for a covered service member with a serious injury or illness.
- E. Designation of FMLA leave. An employee need not specifically request FMLA leave to be placed on FMLA leave. If an eligible employee takes leave for any reason covered by the FMLA and has not already exhausted the employee's available FMLA leave, the agency head shall designate the employee's leave as FMLA leave.
- F. Use of paid leave. Except for portions of industrial leave, an employee on FMLA leave shall be required to use the employee's available paid leave while on FMLA leave as follows and in the following order:

- J. Agency rights. Nothing in the FMLA or this rule should be construed as limiting an agency's right to manage, discipline or terminate an employee, including an employee's failure to comply with the agency's request for appropriate documentation to substantiate the employee's need for the leave. However, an employee's use of FMLA leave cannot be considered as a negative factor in any employment decision.

GOVERNOR'S REGULATORY REVIEW COUNCIL

AGENDA ITEM: F-4

TO: Members of the Governor's Regulatory Review Council (Council)

FROM: Council Staff

SUBJECT: DEPARTMENT OF INSURANCE (F-18-0704)
Title 20, Chapter 6, Article 7, Licensing Provisions and Procedures; Article 8, Prohibited Practices, Penalties; Article 10, Long-Term Care Insurance; Article 12, HIV/AIDS: Prohibited and Required Practices; Article 14, Insurance Holding Company; Article 16, Credit for Reinsurance; Article 17, Examinations; Article 22, Military Personnel

This five-year review report covers 61 rules, 17 appendices, and four exhibits in A.A.C. Title 20, Chapter 6. Article 7 relates to licensing time-frames. Article 8 relates to unfair claim settlement practices. Article 10 contains 26 rules and 10 appendices related to long-term care insurance. Article 12 relates to HIV/AIDS practices for insurers. Article 14 contains 10 rules and seven appendices related to insurance holding companies. Article 16 contains 12 rules and four exhibits related to credit for reinsurance. Article 17 relates to examinations of insurance companies. Article 22 relates to military sales practices. The rules have been amended at various points between 1998 and January 2018.

Proposed Action

The Department intends to complete a series of rulemakings to address issues identified in the report. The Department plans to amend Article 22 by March 2019, Article 8 by August 2019, and Article 7 by April 2020.

1. Has the agency analyzed whether the rules are authorized by statute?

Yes. The Department cites to many statutes as authority for the rules, including A.R.S. § 20-143(A), under which the Director of the Department "may make reasonable rules necessary for effectuating any provision of this title [A.R.S. Title 20, Insurance]."

2. Summary of the agency’s economic impact comparison and identification of stakeholders:

Articles 10, 14, and 16 were promulgated using exempt rulemaking procedures, so there is no EIS for comparison. The Department notes that these rules have minimal economic impact. The Department indicates that Articles 7, 12, 17, and 22 have minimal or nonexistent economic impact. No EIS was available for Article 8, which was originally promulgated in 1982. The Department did not identify any economic impacts created by this rule.

3. Has the agency analyzed the costs and benefits of the rulemaking and determined that the rules impose the least burden and costs to those who are regulated?

The Department concludes that any economic impact is generally created by statutes, not rules. These rules are largely procedural, and they establish a legal framework for the insurance industry in Arizona. The Department indicated that the modest benefits of these rules outweigh any minimal costs.

4. Has the agency received any written criticisms of the rules over the last five years?

Yes. The Department indicates that it received a comment from the National Association of Insurance Commissioners related to Section 1408, which was addressed in a rulemaking effective January 2018.

5. Has the agency analyzed the rules’ clarity, conciseness, and understandability, consistency with other rules and statutes, and effectiveness?

Yes. The Department indicates that the rules are generally effective in achieving their objectives. The Department states that the clarity, conciseness, and understandability of Sections 708, 801, 2201, and Table A could be improved. In addition, the Department states that Table A uses the terms “agent” and “broker” which are inconsistent with the term “insurance producer” that is defined in A.R.S. § 20-281(5).

6. Has the agency analyzed the current enforcement status of the rules?

Yes. The Department indicates that the rules are enforced as written.

7. Are the rules more stringent than corresponding federal law and, if so, is there statutory authority to exceed the requirements of federal law?

No. The Department indicates that the rules are not more stringent than corresponding federal laws, in particular the Military Personnel Financial Services Protection Act.

8. For rules adopted after July 29, 2010, do the rules require a permit or license and, if so, does the agency comply with A.R.S. § 41-1037?

Not applicable. None of the rules reviewed require a permit or license.

9. Conclusion

The Department intends to complete a series of rulemakings to address issues identified in the report. The Department plans to amend Section 2201 by March 2019, Section 801 by August 2019, and Section 708 and Table A by April 2020. The report meets the requirements of A.R.S. § 41-1056 and R1-6-301. Council staff recommends approval of this report.

Five-Year-Review Report
Title 20. Commerce, Financial Institutions, and Insurance
Chapter 6. Department of Insurance
Article 7. Licensing Provisions and Procedures

1. Authorization of the rule by existing statutes

General Statutory Authority: A.R.S. § 20-143(A).

Specific Statutory Authority: A.R.S. § 41-1073(A).

2. The objective of each rule:

Rule	Objective
R20-6-708	Licensing Timeframes. The purpose and objective of this rule is to establish definitions for this Section and set forth the requirements for the administrative completeness and the substantive review time frames and requirements for compliance with those time-frames.
Table A	Licensing Time-frames Table. This table lists licenses issued by the Department and the time-frames for those licenses.

3. Are the rules effective in achieving their objectives?

Yes No

If not, please identify the rule(s) that is not effective and provide an explanation for why the rule(s) is not effective.

Rule	Explanation

4. Are the rules consistent with other rules and statutes?

Yes No

If not, please identify the rule(s) that is not consistent. Also, provide an explanation and identify the provisions that are not consistent with the rule.

Rule	Explanation
R20-7-708	Licensing Time-frames. This rule appears to be redundant to many of the Licensing Time Frames laws found at Title 41, Chapter 6, Article 7.1. The Department should only retain the subsections of the rule that are not duplicative.
Table A	Parts of this table are consistent with state statutes. However, parts of Table A inconsistently use the terms “agent” and “broker.” The statutorily defined term that encompasses those entities is “insurance producer,” which is defined in ARS § 20-281(5). As a result, some references to “agent” and “broker” need to be changed to “insurance

	producer.” However, even though the terms “agent” and “broker” are sometimes used, rather than the defined term “insurance producer,” those terms are understood in the industry to mean the same thing. The table also needs to be updated to reflect the types of licenses currently issued by the Department since they have changed since this rule was promulgated.

5. Are the rules enforced as written? Yes X No

If not, please identify the rule(s) that is not enforced as written and provide an explanation of the issues with enforcement. In addition, include the agency’s proposal for resolving the issue.

Rule	Explanation

6. Are the rules clear, concise, and understandable? Yes No X

If not, please identify the rule(s) that is not clear, concise, or understandable and provide an explanation as to how the agency plans to amend the rule(s) to improve clarity, conciseness, and understandability.

Rule	Explanation
R20-6-708	The last sentence in R20-6-708(D)(2) should be revised to read: “The notice of inadequate response shall identify each component or item of information required, to which the applicant did not make some response.” The word “not” should be added for clarification.
Table A	Parts of Table A are not clear and understandable because it contains outdated references to “agent” and “broker” rather than “insurance producer.” Table A also contains some incorrect statutory citations and does not accurately reflect the types of licenses currently being issued by the Department.

7. Has the agency received written criticisms of the rules within the last five years? Yes No X

If yes, please fill out the table below:

Commenter	Comment	Agency’s Response

9. Has the agency received any business competitiveness analyses of the rules? Yes ___ No X

10. Has the agency completed the course of action indicated in the agency's previous five-year-review report?

The Department had proposed, but did not pursue, to revise the last sentence of R20-6-708(D)(2) to add the word "not" before the phrase "make some response."

11. A determination that the probable benefits of the rule outweigh within this state the probable costs of the rule, and the rule imposes the least burden and costs to regulated persons by the rule, including paperwork and other compliance costs, necessary to achieve the underlying regulatory objective:

The rule's benefits outweigh, within this State, the costs of the rule and impose the least burden and costs to persons regulated by the rule, including paperwork and other compliance costs necessary to achieve the underlying regulatory objective.

12. Are the rules more stringent than corresponding federal laws? Yes ___ No X

Please provide a citation for the federal law(s). And if the rule(s) is more stringent, is there statutory authority to exceed the requirements of federal law(s)?

13. For rules adopted after July 29, 2010 that require the issuance of a regulatory permit, license, or agency authorization, whether the rules are in compliance with the general permit requirements of A.R.S. § 41-1037 or explain why the agency believes an exception applies:

Not applicable.

14. Proposed course of action

If possible, please identify a month and year by which the agency plans to complete the course of action.

The Department should review the rule, R20-6-708 and eliminate any provisions that are duplicative of the requirements of Title 41 which already apply to the Department. The Department should revise Table A to correct any inconsistent use of terms, incorrect statutory references and to reflect the current license types issued by the Department. No action is planned for the 2018 calendar year.

The Department plans to include this rulemaking in its 2020 Regulatory Agenda and will target an early second quarter date of April, 2020.

7. Has the agency received written criticisms of the rules within the last five years? Yes No X

If yes, please fill out the table below:

Commenter	Comment	Agency's Response

8. Economic, small business, and consumer impact comparison:

The Department has not identified any significant economic impact in the last five-year period. No economic impact statement is available from 1982 when the rule was initially promulgated. However, the impact of the rule is to allow the Department to carry out its mandate regarding investigations and disposition of claims arising out of policies issued under State law. The rule addresses wrong-doing and protects claimants by imposing standards on insurers for fair investigation and disposition of claims.

9. Has the agency received any business competitiveness analyses of the rules? Yes No X

10. Has the agency completed the course of action indicated in the agency's previous five-year-review report?

In its 2013 report, the Department proposed to revise R20-6-801 to comply with current rule writing standards. The Department has not prioritized this rulemaking due to a lack of resources to perform rule writing tasks.

11. A determination that the probable benefits of the rule outweigh within this state the probable costs of the rule, and the rule imposes the least burden and costs to regulated persons by the rule, including paperwork and other compliance costs, necessary to achieve the underlying regulatory objective:

The rule's benefits outweigh, within this State, the costs of the rule and impose the least burden and costs to persons regulated by the rule, including paperwork and other compliance costs necessary to achieve the underlying regulatory objective.

12. Are the rules more stringent than corresponding federal laws? Yes ___ No X

Not applicable.

14. Proposed course of action

No action is planned for the 2018 calendar year. The Department plans to include this rulemaking on its 2019 Regulatory Agenda and will target a third quarter date of August, 2019.

8. Economic, small business, and consumer impact comparison:

This Article was recently rewritten with the revisions becoming effective on November 10, 2017. The Department adopted the most recent version of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners’ Model Regulation. Because the Legislature exempted the Department from Title 41 for the rulemaking, the Department did not prepare an Economic Impact Statement. This Article does not impact small businesses.

9. Has the agency received any business competitiveness analyses of the rules? Yes No X

10. Has the agency completed the course of action indicated in the agency’s previous five-year-review report?

Please state what the previous course of action was and if the agency did not complete the action, please explain why not.

The previous report, submitted in 2013, proposed no course of action.

In 2014, the National Association of Insurance Commissioners (“NAIC”) adopted the current version of the Long-Term Care Model Regulation. SB 1441 (L. 2016, Ch. 280); Long-Term Care; Rates; Premiums, enacted into law under an emergency clause effective May 17, 2016, required the Department to adopt rules relating to long-term care insurance that substantially conform to those adopted in model regulations adopted by the NAIC, including the 2014 revisions.

12. Are the rules more stringent than corresponding federal laws? Yes ___ No ___

Please provide a citation for the federal law(s). And if the rule(s) is more stringent, is there statutory authority to exceed the requirements of federal law(s)?

13. For rules adopted after July 29, 2010 that require the issuance of a regulatory permit, license, or agency authorization, whether the rules are in compliance with the general permit requirements of A.R.S. § 41-1037 or explain why the agency believes an exception applies:

Not applicable.

14. Proposed course of action

If possible, please identify a month and year by which the agency plans to complete the course of action.

Because the rules were updated in 2017, the Department has no plans to amend this Article in the next five years unless an error is discovered that would require a rulemaking.

National Association of Insurance Commissioners	Remove the word “investment” in R20-6-1408(A)(4)(d) to be consistent with A.R.S. § 20-481.19(B).	Word removed in a rulemaking, effective January 16, 2018.

8. Economic, small business, and consumer impact comparison:

The Department revised this Article to comply with changes made to the Arizona Holding Company Act (A.R.S. §§ 20-481 through 20-481.30). Effective February 14, 2015, pursuant to Senate Bill 1089 (2014, Chapter 104, Section 20), the Department made major revisions to this Article. Because the Legislature exempted the Department from Title 41 for the rulemaking, the Department did not prepare an Economic Impact Statement. This Article does not impact small businesses.

9. Has the agency received any business competitiveness analyses of the rules? Yes No X

10. Has the agency completed the course of action indicated in the agency’s previous five-year-review report?

Please state what the previous course of action was and if the agency did not complete the action, please explain why not.

Yes. In 2014, to comply with the National Association of Insurance Commissioners' accreditation standards, the Department passed amendments to Arizona's insurance holding company statutes, A.R.S. §§ 20-481 through 20-481.32.

In 2015, the Department published a Final Exempt Rulemaking to adopt rule changes to reflect the statutory changes enacted the prior year. Unfortunately, the Department failed to remove the word "investment" from R20-6-1408(A)(4)(d) to be consistent with A.R.S. § 20-481.19(B).

In 2017, the Department amended R20-6-1408(A)(4)(d) to remove the word "investment." The amendment to the rule became effective on January 16, 2018.

8. Economic, small business, and consumer impact comparison:

Because this Article was amended in 2015 under a Session Law exempting the Department from the requirements of Title 41 (Laws 2015, Ch. 119, § 3), the Department did not perform an economic, small business and consumer impact comparison. However, this Article does not generally impact small businesses. It only impacts insurers seeking to claim a credit for insurance it cedes to other insurers (reinsures).

9. Has the agency received any business competitiveness analyses of the rules? Yes No

10. Has the agency completed the course of action indicated in the agency's previous five-year-review report?

Please state what the previous course of action was and if the agency did not complete the action, please explain why not.

In the 2013 five-year-review report the Department recommended no changes unless the National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC) adopted new accreditation standards that would require a change to the Article. Subsequent to that submission, the NAIC adopted new accreditation standards which required a change to A.R.S. §§ 20-261.03 and 20-261.05 through 20-261.08. The changes to the statutes required that the Department amend its rules to conform to the revised statutory authority. The Department amended this Article, effective November 30, 2015.

8. Economic, small business, and consumer impact comparison:

These rules are procedural in nature and do not impact the economy. Many of the impacts on insurers are a result of statutory requirements rather than the rules. The economic impact to the insurers and the Department depends on the complexity of the examination and the seriousness of the issues raised by the examination. The Department incurs costs for staff to engage contract examiners to conduct its examinations, to provide continuous oversight and direction to contract examiners during the course of an examination and to review final deliverables provided by the contract examiners such as Draft Reports of Examination, Letters to Management, Management Representation Letters and Summary Review Memorandums. The rules allow the Department to carry out its mandate to examine insurers.

The last action on this Article occurred in 2005 (R20-6-1702).

Rule	Objective
R20-6-2201	Military Sales Practices. This Section incorporates by reference the 2007 National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC) Military Sales Practices Model Regulation (“Model Regulation”) with no future editions or amendments. Congress required that the states, through the NAIC, work with the Secretary of Defense to ensure implementation of appropriate standards to protect members of the Armed Forces from dishonest and predatory insurance sales practices while on military installations. States were then required to report to Congress their progress on adoption of the NAIC standards. Accordingly, the Department adopted the Model Regulation.

The Department has no plans to make these changes during calendar year 2018.

The Department plans to include this rulemaking in its 2019 Regulatory Agenda with a first quarter target date of March, 2019.

Within the stated calendar quarter, this Title contains all rules made, amended, repealed, renumbered, and recodified; or rules that have expired or were terminated due to an agency being eliminated under sunset law. These rules were either certified by the Governor's Regulatory Review Council or the Attorney General's Office; or exempt from the rulemaking process, and filed with the Office of the Secretary of State. PREFACE

Under Arizona law, the Department of State, Office of the Secretary of State (Office), accepts state agency rule filings and is the publisher of Arizona rules. The Office of the Secretary of State does not interpret or enforce rules in the Administrative Code. Questions about rules should be directed to the state agency responsible for the promulgation of the rule.

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES DIVISION

RULES

A.R.S. § 41-1001(17) states: “‘Rule’ means an agency statement of general applicability that implements, interprets, or prescribes law or policy, or describes the procedures or practice requirements of an agency.”

THE ADMINISTRATIVE CODE

The Arizona Administrative Code is where the official rules of the state of Arizona are published. The Code is the official codification of rules that govern state agencies, boards, and commissions. Virtually everything in your life is affected in some way by rules published in the Arizona Administrative Code, from the quality of air you breathe to the licensing of your dentist. This chapter is one of more than 230 in the Code compiled in 21 Titles.

ADMINISTRATIVE CODE SUPPLEMENTS

Rules filed by an agency to be published in the Administrative Code are updated quarterly. Supplement release dates are printed on the footers of each chapter:

First Quarter: January 1 - March 31
Second Quarter: April 1 - June 30
Third Quarter: July 1 - September 30
Fourth Quarter: October 1 - December 31

For example, the first supplement for the first quarter of 2017 is cited as Supp. 17-1.

HOW TO USE THE CODE

Rules may be in effect before a supplement is released by the Office. Therefore, the user should refer to issues of the Arizona Administrative Register for recent updates to rule Sections.

ARTICLES AND SECTIONS

Rules in chapters are divided into Articles, then Sections. The “R” stands for “rule” with a sequential numbering and lettering system separated into subsections.

HISTORICAL NOTES AND EFFECTIVE DATES

Historical notes inform the user when the last time a Section was updated in the Administrative Code. Be aware, since the Office publishes each quarter by entire chapters, not all Sections are updated by an agency in a supplement release. Many times just one Section or a few Sections may be updated in the entire chapter.

ARIZONA REVISED STATUTE REFERENCES

The Arizona Revised Statutes (A.R.S.) are available online at the Legislature’s website, www.azleg.gov. An agency’s authority note to make rules is often included at the beginning of a chapter. Other Arizona statutes may be referenced in rule under the A.R.S. acronym.

SESSION LAW REFERENCES

Arizona Session Law references in the introduction of a chapter can be found at the Secretary of State’s website, www.azsos.gov/services/legislative-filings.

EXEMPTIONS FROM THE APA

It is not uncommon for an agency to be exempt from the steps outlined in the rulemaking process as specified in the Arizona Administrative Procedures Act, also known as the APA (Arizona Revised Statutes, Title 41, Chapter 6, Articles 1 through 10). Other agencies may be given an exemption to certain provisions of the Act.

An agency’s exemption is written in law by the Arizona State Legislature or under a referendum or initiative passed into law by Arizona voters.

When an agency files an exempt rulemaking package with our Office it specifies the law exemption in what is called the preamble of rulemaking. The preamble is published in the Arizona Administrative Register online at www.azsos.gov/rules, click on the Administrative Register link.

In the Administrative Code the Office includes editor’s notes at the beginning of a chapter indicating that certain rulemaking Sections were made by exempt rulemaking. Exempt rulemaking notes are also included in the historical note at the end of a rulemaking Section.

The Office makes a distinction to certain exemptions because some rules are made without receiving input from stakeholders or the public. Other exemptions may require an agency to propose exempt rules at a public hearing.

EXEMPTIONS AND PAPER COLOR

If you are researching rules and come across rescinded chapters on a different paper color, this is because the agency filed a Notice of Exempt Rulemaking. At one time the office published exempt rules on either blue or green paper. Blue meant the authority of the exemption was given by the Legislature; green meant the authority was determined by a court order. In 2001 the Office discontinued publishing rules using these paper colors.

PERSONAL USE/COMMERCIAL USE

This chapter is posted as a public courtesy online, and is for private use only. Those who wish to use the contents for resale or profit should contact the Office about Commercial Use fees. For information on commercial use fees review A.R.S. § 39-121.03 and 1 A.A.C. 1, R1-1-113.

Public Services managing rules editor, Rhonda Paschal, assisted with the editing of this chapter.

 3. The words and phrases used to describe a policy shall accurately describe the benefits of the policy and not exaggerate any benefit through the use of phrases such as "all," "full," "complete," "comprehensive," "unlimited," "up to," "as high as," "this policy will pay your hospital and surgical bills" or "this policy will replace your income," or similar words and phrases.

 12. An advertisement shall not make any offer prohibited under A.R.S. § 20-452(4).
 13. An advertisement shall not advertise any health insurance policy or form that has not been approved by the Department, unless the policy or form being advertised is exempt from approval or not subject to approval by order or statute.

The insurer shall provide the Department with the full name of the author and a copy of the full testimonial if the advertisement is filed with the Department or requested by the Department. If an insurer uses a testimonial, the insurer adopts the statements in the testimonial as the insurer's own statements. If a testimonial or endorsement is used more than one year after it is given, the insurer shall obtain a written confirmation from the author that the testimonial represents the current opinion of the author.
2. The insurer shall disclose that a spokesperson has a financial interest or the proprietary or representative capacity of a spokesperson in an advertisement in the introductory portion of a testimonial or endorsement in the same form and with equal prominence as the endorsement. If a spokesperson is directly or indirectly compensated for making a testimonial or endorsement, the insurer shall disclose that fact in the advertisement by language that states, "Paid Endorsement," or words of similar import in type, style, and size at least equal to that used for the spokesperson's name or the body of the testimonial or endorsement, whichever is larger. For television or radio advertising, the insurer shall place the required disclosure prominently in the introductory portion of the advertisement.

F. Statistics. An advertisement with information on the dollar amounts of claims paid, the number of persons insured, or similar statistical information relating to any insurer or policy shall not use facts that are irrelevant to the sale of insurance and shall accurately reflect all of the relevant facts specific to the advertised policy or insurer. An advertisement shall not state or imply that statistics are derived from the policy being advertised unless that is true. The insurer shall identify in the advertisement the source of any statistics used.

G. Inspection of policy. An offer in an advertisement of free inspection of a policy or offer of a premium refund does not cure misleading or deceptive statements in the advertisement.

H. Identification of plan or number of policies.

1. If an advertisement offers a choice in the amount of benefits the advertisement shall disclose that the amount of benefits depends on the policy selected and that the premium will vary with the amount of the benefits.
2. If an advertisement refers to benefits contained in more than one policy, other than a group master policy, the advertisement shall disclose that the benefits are provided only if multiple policies are purchased.

I. Disparaging comparisons and statements. An advertisement shall not make unfair, incomplete, or unsubstantiated comparisons of other insurers' policies or benefits or falsely disparage other insurers' policies, services, or business methods. A comparison is unsubstantiated if the insurer has no empirical study, analysis, or documentation supporting the comparative statement or comparison of policies or benefits.

J. Jurisdictional limits. If an insurer has an advertisement that is meant to be seen or heard beyond the limits of the jurisdiction in which the insurer is licensed, the advertisement shall indicate that the insurer is licensed in a specified state or states only, or is not licensed in a specified state or states, by use of language such as "This Company is licensed only in State A" or "This Company is not licensed in State B."

K. Identity of insurer. The insurer shall state the name of the actual insurer in all of its advertisements. An advertisement shall clearly identify the insurer and shall not use a trade name, an insurance group designation, name of the parent company of the insurer, name of a particular division of the insurer, service mark, slogan, symbol, or other device that may mislead or deceive the public as to the insurer's identity.

- L. Group insurance. An advertisement shall not state or imply that prospective policyholders become group or quasi-group members and enjoy special rates or underwriting privileges, unless it is true. An advertisement to join an association, trust, or group that is also an invitation to contract for insurance coverage shall disclose that the applicant will be purchasing both membership in the association, trust, or group and insurance coverage.
- M. Government approval. An advertisement shall not state or imply any of the following:
1. That a governmental agency or regulator is connected with or has provided or endorsed a policy or endorsed an insurer;
 2. That a governmental agency or regulator has examined an insurer's financial condition and found it satisfactory. This subsection does not apply if an insurer is responding to a specific documented, public, false allegation about its financial condition.
- N. Endorsements. An advertisement may state that an individual, group, society, association, or other organization has approved or endorsed the insurer or its policy if the organization or group has done so in writing and if any proprietary relationship between the organization and the insurer is disclosed.
- O. Claims handling. An advertisement shall not contain false statements about the time within which claims are paid or statements that imply that claim settlements will be liberal or generous beyond the terms of the policy.
- P. Statements about the insurer. An advertisement shall not contain false or misleading statements about an insurer's assets, corporate structure, financial standing, length of time in business, or relative position in the insurance business.

- B. Applicability
 1. This Section applies to:
 - a. All persons subject to regulation under A.R.S. Title 20; and
 - b. Advertising, promotion, solicitation, negotiation, and sale of life insurance policies, regardless of the form of dissemination.
 2. This Section does not apply to group insurance, franchise insurance, or to annuities without life contingencies.
- C. General provisions. A life insurance advertisement shall not mislead the public by:
 1. Omitting information that fairly describes the subject matter as a life insurance policy and the benefits available under the policy;
 2. Placing undue emphasis on facts that, even if true, are not relevant to the sale of life insurance; or
 3. Placing undue emphasis on features of incidental or secondary importance to the life insurance aspects of the policy.
- D. The Department deems the following acts misleading and deceptive:
 1. Using any statement, including phrases such as "investment," "investment plan," "founders plan," "charter plan," "expansion plan," "profit," "profits," or "profit sharing," in a context or under circumstances or condi-

- tions that may mislead a purchaser or prospective purchaser to believe that the insurer is selling something other than a life insurance policy or will provide some benefit not included in the policy, or not available to other persons of the same class and equal expectation of life;
2. Using any phrase as the name or title of a life insurance policy if the phrase does not include the words "life insurance," unless other language in the same document expressly provides that the contract is a life insurance policy;
3. Making any statement relating to the growth or earnings of the life insurance industry or to the tax status of life insurance companies in a context that would reasonably be understood as attempting to interest a prospective applicant in the purchase of shares of stock in the insurance company rather than in the purchase of a life insurance policy;
4. Making any statement that reasonably tends to imply that the insured will enjoy a status common to a stockholder or will acquire a stock ownership interest in the insurance company by purchasing the policy, unless the statement is made with reference to policies of domestic life insurers engaged in a program allowed under A.R.S. § 20-453;
5. Providing a policyholder with a premium receipt book, policy jacket, return envelope, or other printed or electronic material referring to the insurer's "investment department," "insured investment department," or similar terminology in a manner implying that the policy is sold, issued, or serviced by the insurer's investment department;
6. Making any statement that reasonably tends to imply that, by purchasing a policy, the purchaser or prospective purchaser will become a member of a limited group of persons who may receive the payment of dividends, special advantages, benefits, or favored treatment unless the insurance contract specifically provides for the described payment of dividend, special advantages, benefits, or favored treatment;
7. Stating or implying that only a limited number of persons or limited class of persons may buy a particular kind of policy, unless the limitation is related to recognized underwriting practices or specifically stated in the policy or rider;
8. Describing premium payments in language that states the payment is a "deposit," unless:
 - a. The payment establishes a debtor-creditor relationship between the insurance company and the policyholder; or
 - b. The term is used with the word "premium" in a manner as to clearly indicate the true character of the payment;
9. Providing any illustration or projection of future dividends that:
 - a. Is not based on the company's actual scale for payment of current dividends, and
 - b. Does not clearly indicate that the dividends are not guarantees;
10. Using the words "dividends," "cash dividends," "surplus," or similar phrases in a manner that states or implies that the payment of dividends is guaranteed or certain to occur;
11. Stating, without qualification, that a purchaser of a policy will share in a stated percentage or portion of the insurer's earnings;
12. Making any statement that projected dividends under a participating policy will be or can be sufficient at any future time to assure the receipt of benefits such as a paid-up policy without further payment of premiums unless the statement also explains:

Department of Insurance

- a. The benefits or coverage that would be provided at the future time, and
 - b. The conditions under which the receipt of benefits without further payment of premiums would occur;
13. Describing a life insurance policy or premium payments in terms of "units of participation," unless accompanied by other language clearly indicating that the references are to a life insurance policy or to premium payments, as applicable.
 14. Advising producers to avoid disclosing that life insurance is the subject of the solicitation or sale;
 15. Stating that an insured is guaranteed certain benefits if the policy is allowed to lapse, without explaining the non-forfeiture benefits;
 16. Using a dollar amount in printed material to be shown to a prospective policyholder, unless the amount is accompanied by language that:
 - a. States the nature of the dollar amount,
 - b. Prohibits including the use of dollar amounts not related to guaranteed values and properly projected dividend figures, and
 - c. Prohibits the use of figures showing growth of stock values, or other values not a part of the life insurance contract.
 17. Stating that a policy provides features not found in any other insurance policy, unless the insurer can demonstrate that other policies do not have the same feature;
 18. Making any statement or implication about an insurance policy that cannot be verified by reference to the policy contract, a sample of the policy being described, or the company's officially published rate book and dividend illustrations;
 19. Stating that life insurance is "loss proof" or "depression proof," except that an insurer may make statements that life insurance benefits, other than dividends, are guaranteed by the company regardless of economic conditions;
 20. Making any statement that a company makes a profit as a result of policy lapses or surrenders;
 21. Making comparisons to the past experience of other life insurance companies as a means of projecting possible experience for the company issuing the advertising; and
 22. Conduct or statements designed to mislead a prospective applicant or purchaser.

1. An insurer's notice of discontinuance shall include a request to the group policyholder to notify covered employees of the date when the group policy or contract will discontinue and to advise that, unless otherwise provided in the policy or contract, the insurer is not liable for claims for losses incurred after the date of discontinuance. If the plan involves employee contributions, the notice of discontinuance shall also advise that if the policyholder continues to collect employee contributions beyond the date of discontinuance, the policyholder is solely liable for benefits for the period which contributions were collected.
 2. The insurer shall also provide the policyholder with a supply of notice forms that the policyholder can distribute to the covered employees. The notice forms shall explain the discontinuance and the effective date, and advise employees to refer to their certificates or contracts to determine their rights on discontinuance.
- E. Extension of benefits.
1. A group policy shall provide a reasonable provision for extension of benefits for an employee or dependent who is totally disabled on the date of discontinuance as follows:
 - a. For a group life plan with a disability benefit extension of any type such as a premium waiver extension, extended death benefit in the event of total disability, or payment of income for a specified period during total disability, the discontinuance of the group policy shall not terminate the benefit extension.
 - b. For a group plan providing benefits for loss of time from work or specific indemnity during hospital confinement, discontinuance of the policy during a disability or hospital confinement shall not effect benefits payable for that disability or hospital confinement.
 - c. A hospital or medical expense coverage, other than dental and maternity expense, shall include a reasonable extension of benefits or accrued liability provision. A provision is reasonable if:
 - i. It provides an extension of at least 12 months under "major medical" and "comprehensive medical" type coverage; or
 - ii. Under other types of hospital or medical expense coverage, it provides either an extension of at least 90 days or an accrued liability for expenses incurred during a period of disability or during a period of at least 90 days starting with a specific event that occurred while coverage was in force, such as an accident.
 2. An insurer shall ensure that the policy and group insurance certificates includes a description of the extension of benefits or accrued liability provision.
 3. An insurer shall ensure that benefits payable during a period of extension or accrued liability are subject to the policy's regular benefit limits, such as benefits ceasing at exhaustion of a benefit period or of maximum benefits.
 4. For hospital or medical expense coverage, an insurer may limit benefit payments to payments applicable to the disabling condition only.
- F. Continuance of coverage in situations involving replacement of one plan by another.
1. When a group policyholder secures replacement coverage with a new insurer, self-insures, or foregoes provision of coverage, the replaced insurer is liable only to the extent of its accrued liabilities and extensions of benefits after the date of discontinuance.
 2. The succeeding insurer shall cover each individual who:
 - a. Was eligible for coverage under the prior plan on the date of discontinuance, and
 - b. Is eligible for coverage according to the succeeding insurer's plan of benefits with respect to a class of individuals eligible for coverage.
 3. For the purpose of successive health insurance coverage under subsection (F)(2), a succeeding insurer's plan of benefits shall:
 - a. Not have any non-confinement rules; and

- b. Provide, as to any actively-at-work rules, that absence from work due to a health status-related factor is treated as being actively-at-work.
- 4. Nothing in subsection (F)(2) prohibits an insurer from performing coordination of benefits.
- 5. A succeeding insurer shall cover each individual not covered under the succeeding insurer's plan of benefits under subsection (F)(2) according to subsections (a) and (b) if the individual was validly covered, including benefit extension, under the prior plan on the date of discontinuance and is a member of a class of individuals eligible for coverage under the succeeding insurer's plan. Any reference in subsection (a) or (b) to an individual who was or was not totally disabled is a reference to the individual's status immediately before the effective date of coverage for the succeeding insurer.
 - a. The minimum level of benefits to be provided by the succeeding insurer shall be the level of benefits of the prior insurer's plan reduced by any benefits payable by the prior plan.
 - b. The succeeding insurer shall provide coverage until at least the earliest of the following dates:
 - i. The date the individual becomes eligible under the succeeding insurer's plan as described in subsection (F)(2);
 - ii. The date the individual's coverage would terminate according to the succeeding insurer's plan provisions applicable to individual termination of coverage such as at termination of employment or ceasing to be eligible dependent; or
 - iii. For an individual who was totally disabled, and covered by a type of coverage for which subsection (E) requires an extension of accrued liability, the end of any period of extension of benefits or accrued liability that is required of the prior insurer under subsection (E), or if the prior insurer's policy is not subject to subsection (E), would have been required of the insurer had its policy been subject to subsection (E) at the time the prior plan was discontinued and replaced by the succeeding insurer's plan;
 - c. For health insurance coverage, if an individual who was totally disabled at the time the prior insurer's plan was discontinued and replaced by the succeeding insurer's plan, and if subsection (E) requires an extension of benefits or accrued liability, the minimum level of benefits to be provided by the succeeding insurer shall be the level of benefits of the prior insurer's plan, reduced by any benefits paid by the prior plan.
 - d. If the succeeding insurer's plan has a preexisting conditions limitation, the level of benefits applicable to preexisting conditions of persons becoming covered by the succeeding insurer's plan according to subsection (F) during the period the limitation applies under the new plan shall be the lesser of:
 - i. The benefits of the new plan determined without application of the preexisting conditions limitation, or
 - ii. The benefits of the prior plan.
 - e. The succeeding insurer, in applying any deductibles, coinsurance amounts applicable to out-of-pocket maximums, or waiting periods, shall give credit for the satisfaction or partial satisfaction of the same or similar provisions under a prior plan providing similar benefits. For deductibles or coinsurance amounts applicable to out-of-pocket maximums, the credit shall apply for the same or overlapping benefit periods and shall be given for expenses actually incurred and applied against the deductible or coinsurance provisions of the prior plan during the 90 days before the effective date of the succeeding insurer's plan but only to the extent these expenses are recognized under the terms of the succeeding insurer's plan and are subject to similar deductible or coinsurance provisions.

- f. If the succeeding insurer is required under this Section to make a determination about the benefits in the prior plan, the succeeding insurer may ask the prior plan to provide a statement of the benefits available or other pertinent information sufficient to permit the succeeding insurer to verify the benefit determination. For the purposes of this Section, all definitions, conditions, and covered-expense provisions of the prior plan shall govern the benefit determination. The benefit determination is made as if the succeeding insurer had not replaced coverage.

2. "Cash dividend" means the current illustrated dividend that can be applied toward payment of the gross premium.

 - a. Accumulate the annual cash dividends at 5% interest compounded annually to the end of the 10th and 20th policy years;
 - b. Divide each accumulation in subsection (a) by an interest factor that converts the accumulation into one equivalent level annual amount that, if paid at the beginning of each year, would accrue to the values in subsection (a) over the periods stipulated in

- subsection (a). If the period is 10 years, the factor is 13.207 and if the period is 20 years, the factor is 34.719.
- c. Divide the results in subsection (b) by the number of thousands of the Equivalent Level Death Benefit to arrive at the "Equivalent Level Annual Dividend."
4. "Equivalent Level Death Benefit" means the amount of benefit of a policy or term life insurance rider calculated as follows:
 - a. Accumulate the guaranteed amount payable upon death, regardless of the cause of death, at the beginning of each policy year for 10 and 20 years at 5% interest compounded annually to the end of the 10th and 20th policy years, respectively.
 - b. Divide each accumulation in subsection (a) by an interest factor that converts the accumulation into one equivalent level annual amount that, if paid at the beginning of each year, would accrue to the value in subsection (a) over the periods stipulated in subsection (a).  - c. Divide the result in subsection (b) (subsection (a) for guaranteed-cost policies) by an interest factor that converts into an equivalent level annual amount that, if paid at the beginning of each year, would accrue to the value in subsection (b) or subsection (a) for guaranteed cost policies, over the periods stipulated in subsection (a)). If the period is 10 years, the factor is 13.207 and if the period is 20 years, the factor is 34.719.
 - d. Determine the equivalent level premium by accumulating each annual premium payable for the basic policy or rider at 5% interest compounded annually to the end of the period stipulated in subsection (a) and dividing the result by the respective factors stated in subsection (c). This amount is the annual premium payable for a level premium plan.
 - e. Subtract the result of subsection (c) from subsection (d).
 - f. Divide the result of subsection (e) by the number of thousands of the Equivalent Level Death Benefit to arrive at the Live Insurance Surrender Cost Index.
 7. The Life Insurance Net Payment Cost Index is calculated in the same manner as the comparable Life Insurance Cost Index except that the cash surrender value and any terminal dividend are set at zero.

 - iv. Total guaranteed cash surrender values at the end of the year with values shown separately for the basic policy and each rider;
 - v. Cash dividends payable at the end of the year with values shown separately for the basic policy and each rider. Dividends need not be displayed beyond the twentieth policy year; and
 - vi. Guaranteed endowment amounts payable under the policy that are not included under guaranteed cash surrender values in subsection (iv).
 - f. The effective policy loan annual percentage interest rate, if the policy contains this provision, specifying whether the rate is applied in advance or in arrears. If the policy loan interest rate is variable, the Policy Summary shall include the maximum annual percentage rate.
 - g. Life Insurance Cost Indexes for 10 and 20 years but not beyond the premium-paying period. Separate indexes shall be displayed for the basic policy and for each optional term life insurance rider. The indexes need not be included for optional riders that are limited to benefits such as accidental death benefits, disability waiver of premium, preliminary term life insurance coverage of less than 12 months, and guaranteed insurability benefits, nor for basic policies or optional riders covering more than one life.

Any amounts that remain level for two or more years of the policy may be represented by a single number that clearly indicates the amounts that are applicable for each policy year. Amounts in subsection (8)(e) shall be listed in total, not on a per thousand nor per unit basis. If more than one insured is covered under one policy or rider, guaranteed death benefits shall be displayed separately for each insured or for each class of insured if death benefits do not differ within the class. Zero amounts shall be displayed as zero and shall not be displayed as a blank space.
- C. Disclosure requirements.
1. The insurer shall provide to all prospective purchasers, a Buyer's Guide and a Policy Summary before accepting the applicant's initial premium or premium deposit, unless the policy for which application is made contains an unconditional refund provision of at least 10 days or unless the Policy Summary contains an unconditional refund offer, in which case the Buyer's Guide and Policy Summary shall be delivered with the policy or before delivery of the policy.

If an insurance producer is not involved in the sale, the insurer shall inform the prospective purchaser of the insurance company's full name.
 3. An insurer or producer shall not use terms such as financial planner, investment advisor, financial consultant, or financial counseling to imply that the insurance producer is generally engaged in an advisory business in which compensation is unrelated to sales unless that is true.
 4. If an insurer or producer refers to policy dividends, the reference shall include a statement that dividends are not guaranteed.
 5. An insurer shall not use a system or presentation that does not recognize the time value of money through the use of appropriate interest adjustments for comparing the cost of two or more life insurance policies unless the system or presentation is used to demonstrate the cash flow pattern of a policy and the presentation is accompanied by a statement disclosing that the presentation does not recognize that, because of interest, a dollar in the future has less value than a dollar today.
 6. In a presentation of benefits, an insurer shall not display guaranteed and non-guaranteed benefits as a single sum unless they are shown separately and in close proximity.
 7. An insurer shall include with a statement regarding the use of the Life Insurance Cost Indexes an explanation that the indexes are useful only for the comparison of the relative costs of two or more similar policies.

- E. An insurer's failure to provide or deliver a Buyer's Guide or a Policy Summary as provided in subsection (C) constitutes an omission that misrepresents the benefits, advantages, conditions, or terms of an insurance policy.
- Appendix. Life Insurance Buyers Guide
- Life Insurance Buyer's Guide
- The face page of the Buyer's Guide shall read as follows:
- Life Insurance Buyer's Guide
- This guide can show you how to save money when you shop for life insurance. It helps you to:
- Decide how much life insurance you should buy,
 - Decide what kind of life insurance policy you need, and
 - Compare the cost of similar life insurance policies.
- Prepared by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners
- Reprinted by (Company Name)
- (Month and year of printing)
- The Buyer's Guide shall contain the following language at the bottom of page 2:
- The National Association of Insurance Commissioners is an association of state insurance regulatory officials. This association helps the various Insurance Departments to coordinate insurance laws for the benefit of all consumers. You are urged to use this Guide in making a life insurance purchase.
- Buying Life Insurance
- When you buy life insurance, you want a policy that fits your needs without costing too much. Your first step is to decide how much you need, how much you can afford to pay and the kind of policy you want. Then, find out what various companies charge for that kind of policy. You can find important differences in the cost of life insurance by using the life insurance cost indexes that are described in this guide. A good life insurance producer or company will be able and willing to help you with each of these shopping steps.
- If you are going to make a good choice when you buy life insurance, you need to understand what kinds are available. If one kind does not seem to fit your needs, ask about the other kinds that are described in this guide. If you feel that you need more information than is given here, you may want to check with a life insurance producer or company or books on life insurance in your public library.
- This guide does not endorse any company or policy.
- The remaining text of the buyer's guide shall begin on page 3 as follows:
- Choosing the Amount
- One way to decide how much life insurance you need is to figure how much cash and income your dependents would need if you were to die. You should think of life insurance as a source of cash needed for expenses of final illnesses, paying taxes, mortgages or other debts. It can also provide income for your family's living expenses, educational costs and other future expenses. Your new policy should come as close as you can afford to making up the difference between (1) what your dependents would have if you were to die now, and (2) what they would actually need.

Choosing the Right Kind

All life insurance policies agree to pay an amount of money if you die. But all policies are not the same. There are three basic kinds of life insurance.

1. Term insurance
2. Whole life insurance
3. Endowment insurance

Remember, no matter how fancy the policy title or sales presentation might appear, all life insurance policies contain one or more of the three basic kinds. If you are confused about a policy that sounds complicated, ask the producer or company if it combines more than one kind of life insurance. The following is a brief description of the three basic kinds:

Term Insurance

Term insurance is death protection of a "term" of one or more years. Death benefits will be paid only if you die within that term of years. Term insurance generally provides the largest immediate death protection for your premium dollar.

Some term insurance policies are "renewable" for one or more additional terms even if your health has changed. Each time you renew the policy for a new term, premiums will be higher. You should check the premiums at older ages and the length of time the policy can be continued.

Some term insurance policies are also "convertible." This means that before the end of the conversion period, you may trade the term policy for a whole life or endowment insurance policy even if you are not in good health. Premiums for the new policy will be higher than you have been paying for the term insurance.

Whole Life Insurance

Whole life insurance gives death protection for as long as you live. The most common type is called "straight life" or "ordinary life" insurance, for which you pay the same premiums for as long as you live. These premiums can be several times higher than you would pay initially for the same amount of term insurance. But they are smaller than the premiums you would eventually pay if you were to keep renewing a term insurance policy until your later years.

Some whole life policies let you pay premiums for a shorter period such as 20 years, or until age 65. Premiums for these policies are higher than for ordinary life insurance since the premium payments are squeezed into a shorter period.

Although you pay higher premiums, to begin with, for whole life insurance than for term insurance, whole life insurance policies develop "cash values" which you may have if you stop paying premiums. You can generally either take the cash, or use it to buy some continuing insurance protection. Technically speaking, these values are called "nonforfeiture benefits." This refers to benefits you do not lose (or "forfeit") when you stop paying premiums. The amount of these benefits depends on the kind of policy you have, its size, and how long you have owned it.

A policy with cash values may also be used as collateral for a loan. If you borrow from the life insurance company, the rate of interest is shown in your policy. Any money that you owe on a policy loan would be deducted from the benefits if you were to die, or from the cash value if you were to stop paying premiums.

Endowment Insurance

An endowment insurance policy pays a sum or income to you – the policyholder – if you live to a certain age. If you were to die before then, the death benefit would be paid to your beneficiary. Premiums and cash values for endowment insurance are higher than the same amount of whole life insurance. Thus endowment insurance gives you the least amount of death protection for your premium dollar.

Finding a Low Cost Policy

After you have decided which kind of life insurance fits your needs, look for a good buy. Your chances of finding a good buy are better if you use two types of index numbers that have been developed to aid in shopping for life insurance. One is called the "Surrender Cost Index" and the other is the "Net Payment Cost Index." It will be worth your time to try to understand how these indexes are used, but in any event, use them only for comparing the relative costs of similar policies. LOOK FOR POLICIES WITH LOW COST INDEX NUMBERS.

What is Cost?

"Cost" is the difference between what you pay and what you get back. If you pay a premium for life insurance and get nothing back, your cost for the death protection is the premium. If you pay a premium and get something back later on, such as a cash value, your cost is smaller than the premium.

The cost of some policies can also be reduced by dividends; these are called "participating" policies. Companies may tell you what their current dividends are, but the size of future dividends is unknown today and cannot be guaranteed. Dividends actually paid are set each year by the company.

Some policies do not pay dividends. These are called "guaranteed cost" or "non participating" policies. Every feature of a guaranteed cost policy is fixed so that you know in advance what your future cost will be.

The premiums and cash values of a participating policy are guaranteed, but the dividends are not. Premiums for participating policies are typically higher than for guaranteed cost policies, but the cost to you may be higher or lower, depending on the dividends actually paid.

What Are Cost Indexes?

In order to compare the cost of policies, you need to look at:

1. Premiums
2. Cash values
3. Dividends

Cost indexes use one or more of these factors to give you a convenient way to compare relative costs of similar policies. When you compare costs, an adjustment must be made to take into account that money is paid and received at different times. It is not enough to just add up the premiums you will pay and subtract the cash values and dividends you expect to get back. These indexes take care of the arithmetic for you. Instead of having to add, subtract, multiply and divide many numbers yourself, you just compare the index numbers which you can get from life insurance producers and companies:

1. Life Insurance Surrender Cost Index. This index is useful if you consider the level of the cash values to be of primary importance to you. It helps you compare costs if at some future point in time, such as 10 or 20 years, you were to surrender the policy and take its cash value.
Life Insurance Net Payment Cost Index. This Index is useful if your main concern is the benefits that are to be paid at your death and if the level of cash values is of secondary importance to you. It helps you compare costs at some future point in time, such as 10 or 20 years, if you continue paying premiums on your policy and do not take its cash value.

There is another number called the Equivalent Level Annual Dividend. It shows the part dividends play in determining the cost index of a participating policy. Adding a policy's Equivalent Level Annual Dividend to its cost index allows you to compare total costs of similar policies before deducting dividends. However, if you make any cost comparisons of a participating policy with a non participating policy, remember that the total cost of the participating policy will be reduced by dividends, but the cost of the non participating policy will not change.

How Do I Use Cost Indexes?

The most important thing to remember when using cost indexes is that a policy with a small index number is generally a better buy than a comparable policy with a larger index number. The following rules are also important:

- (1) Cost comparisons should only be made between similar plans of life insurance. Similar plans are those which provide essentially the same basic benefits and require premium payments for approximately the same period of time. The closer policies are to being identical, the more reliable the cost comparison will be.
- (2) Compare index numbers only for the kind of policy, for your age and for the amount you intend to buy. Since no one company offers the lowest cost for all types of insurance at all ages and for all amounts of insurance, it is important that you get the indexes for the actual policy, age and amount which you intend to buy. Just because a "Shopper's Guide" tells you that one company's policy is a good buy for a particular age and amount, you should not assume that all of that company's policies are equally good buys.
- (3) Small differences in index numbers could be offset by other policy features, or differences in the quality of service you may expect from the company or its producer. Therefore, when you find small differences in cost indexes, your choice should be based on something other than cost.
- (4) In any event, you will need other information on which to base your purchase decision. Be sure you can afford the premiums, and that you understand its cash values, dividends and death benefits. You should also make a judgment on how well the life insurance company or producer will provide service in the future, to you as a policyholder.
- (5) These life insurance cost indexes apply to new policies and should not be used to determine whether you should drop a policy you have already owned for awhile, in favor of a new one. If such a replacement is suggested, you should ask for information from the company that issued the old policy before you take action.

Important Things To Remember – A Summary

The first decision you must make when buying a life insurance policy is choosing a policy whose benefits and premiums must closely meet your needs and ability to pay. Next, find a policy which is also a relatively good buy. If you compare Surrender Cost Indexes and Net Payment Cost Indexes of similar competing policies, your chances of finding a relatively good buy will be better than if you do not shop. REMEMBER, LOOK FOR POLICIES WITH LOWER COST INDEX NUMBERS. A good life insurance producer can help you to choose the amount of life insurance and kind of policy you want and will give you cost indexes so that you make cost comparisons of similar policies.

Don't buy life insurance unless you intend to stick with it. A policy which is a good buy when held for 20 years can be very costly if you quit during the early years of the policy. If you surrender such a policy during the first few years, you may get little or nothing back and much of your premium may have been used for company expenses.

Read your new policy carefully, and ask the producer or company for an explanation of anything you do not understand. Whatever you decide now, it is important to review your life insurance program every few years to keep up with changes in your income and responsibilities.

R20-6-211. Discrimination on the Basis of Blindness or Partial Blindness

- A. Definitions. The following definitions apply in this Section:
1. "Policy" means a contract or agreement for or effecting insurance, or a certificate of insurance, regardless of the name used, and includes all clauses, riders, endorsements, and attached papers.
 2. "Person" has the same meaning prescribed in A.R.S. § 20-105.
- B. Scope. This Section applies to all policies delivered or issued for delivery in this state.
- C. Prohibition. An insurer shall not engage in the following prohibited acts or practices that constitute unfair discrimination between individuals of the same class:
1. Refusal to insure or refusal to continue to insure, or limiting the amount, extent, or kind of coverage available to an individual solely because of blindness or partial blindness; or
 2. Charging an individual a different rate for the same coverage solely because of blindness or partial blindness.
- D. In this subsection, "refusal to insure" includes denial by an insurer of disability insurance coverage on the grounds that the policy defines "disability" as being presumed if the insured loses eyesight. An insurer may exclude from coverage disabilities consisting solely of blindness or partial blindness if the insured was blind or partially blind when the policy was issued.
- E. For all other conditions, including the underlying cause of the blindness or partial blindness, a person who is blind or partially blind is subject to the same standards of sound actuarial principles or actual or reasonably anticipated experience as a sighted person.

R20-6-213. Life and Disability Insurance Policy Language Simplification

- A. Definitions. The following definitions apply in this Section:
1. "Company" or "insurer" means any life or disability insurance company, benefit insurer, benefit stock insurer, prepaid dental plan organizations, health care service organizations, and all similar type organizations.
 2. "Director" means the Director of Insurance of Arizona.
 3. "Policy" or "policy form" means any policy, contract, plan or agreement of life or disability insurance, including credit life insurance and credit disability insurance, delivered or issued for delivery in the state by any company subject to this rule; and any certificate issued under a group insurance policy delivered or issued for delivery in this state.
- B. Applicability.

Department of Insurance

1. This Section and R20-6-212 apply to all life and disability insurance policies delivered or issued for delivery in this state by any company but do not apply to:
 - a. Any policy that is a security subject to federal jurisdiction;
 - b. Any group policy covering a group of 1,000 or more lives at date of issue, other than a group credit life insurance policy or a group credit disability insurance policy however, this shall not exempt any certificate issued under a group policy delivered or issued for delivery in this state; or
 - c. Any group annuity contract that serves as a funding vehicle for pension, profit-sharing, or deferred compensation plans;
 2. Except as provided in R20-6-210, no other rule of this state setting language simplification standards shall apply to any policy forms.
- C. Minimum policy language simplification standards.
1. Except as stated in subsection (B), an insurer shall not deliver or issue for delivery a policy form that has not been approved by the Director unless:
 - a. The text achieves a minimum score of 40 on the Flesch reading ease test or an equivalent score on any other comparable test as provided in subsection (3);
 - b. It is printed, except for specification pages, schedules, and tables, in no less than 10 point type, one point leaded;
 - c. The style, arrangement and overall appearance of the policy do not give undue prominence to any portion of the text of the policy or to any endorsements or riders; and
 - d. The policy, if the policy has more than 3,000 words printed on three or fewer pages of text or if the policy has more than three pages regardless of the number of words, contains a table of contents or an index of the principal sections of the policy.
 2. An insurer shall measure a Flesch reading ease test score as follows:
 - a. For policy forms containing 10,000 words or less of text, an insurer shall analyze the entire form. For policy forms containing more than 10,000 words, an insurer may analyze the readability of two, 200-word samples per page instead of the entire form. The insurer shall separate the samples by at least 20 printed lines.
 - b. The insurer shall count the number of words and sentences in the text, then divide the total number of words by the total number of sentences, then multiply that figure by a factor of 1.015.
 - c. The insurer shall count and divide the total number of syllables by the total number of words, then multiply that figure by a factor of 84.6.
 - d. The sum of the figures computed under subsections (b) and (c) subtracted from 206.835 equals the Flesch reading ease score for the policy form.
 - e. For subsections (b), (c), and (d), the insurer shall use the following procedures:
 - i. A contraction, hyphenated word, or numbers and letters, when separated by spaces, shall be counted as one word;
 - ii. A unit of words ending with a period, semicolon, or colon, but excluding headings and captions, shall be counted as a sentence; and
 - iii. A syllable means a unit of spoken language consisting of one or more letters of a word as divided by an accepted dictionary. If the dictionary shows two or more equally acceptable pronunciations of a word, the pronunciation containing fewer syllables may be used.
- f. The term "text" as used in this subsection shall include all printed matter except the following:
 - i. The name and address of the insurer, the name, number or title of the policy, the table of contents or index, captions and subcaptions, specification pages, schedules or tables; and
 - ii. Policy language that is drafted to conform to the requirements of a federal law, regulation, or agency interpretation, policy language required by a collectively bargained agreement, medical terminology, words defined in the policy, and policy language required by law or regulation, if the insurer identifies the language or terminology excepted by this subsection and certifies, in writing, that the language or terminology is entitled to be excepted by this subsection.
 3. Any other reading test may be approved by the Director for use as an alternative to the Flesch reading test if it is comparable in result to the Flesch reading ease test.
 4. Filings subject to this subsection shall be accompanied by a certificate signed by an officer of the insurer stating that the filing meets the minimum reading ease score on the test used or stating that the score is lower than the minimum required but should be approved under subsection (G) of this Section. To confirm the accuracy of any certification, the Director may require the submission of further information to verify the certification in question.
 5. At the option of the insurer, riders, endorsements, applications and other forms made a part of the policy may be scored as separate forms or as part of the policy with which they may be used.
- D. The Director may authorize a lower score than the Flesch reading ease score required in subsection (C)(1)(a) if a lower score:
1. Provides a more accurate reflection of readability of a policy form;
 2. Is warranted by the nature of a particular policy form or type or class of policy forms; or
 3. Is caused by certain policy language drafted to conform to the requirements of any state statute, rule, or agency interpretation of law.

R20-6-214. Coordination of BenefitsA. Applicability.

1. This Section applies to all:
 - a. Group disability insurance policies;
 - b. Group subscriber contracts of hospital and medical service corporations and health care services organizations;
 - c. Group disability policies of benefit insurers; and

Department of Insurance

- d. Group-type contracts that contain a coordination of benefits provision, are not available to the general public, and can be obtained and maintained only because of the covered person's membership in or connection with a particular organization. Group-type contracts that meet this description are included regardless of whether denominated as "franchise," "blanket," or some other designation.
2. This Section does not apply to:
- Individual or family policies or individual or family subscriber contracts except as provided for in subsection (A)(1);
 - Group or group-type hospital indemnity benefits, written on a non-expense incurred basis, of $30 per day or less unless characterized as reimbursement-type benefits and designed or administered to give the insured the right to elect indemnity-type benefits, instead of the reimbursement type benefits at the time of claim; or
 - School accident type coverages, written on a blanket, group, or franchise basis.
- B. Definitions. In this Section, the following definitions apply:
- "Allowable expense" means any necessary, reasonable, and customary item of expense, at least a portion of which is covered under one or more of the plans covering the person for whom claim is made or service provided.
 - When a plan provides benefits in the form of services rather than cash payments, the reasonable cash value of each service rendered is deemed to be both an allowable expense and a benefit paid.
 - A plan that takes Medicare or similar government benefits into consideration when determining the application of its coordination of benefits provision does not expand the definition of an allowable expense.
 - "Claim determination period" means an appropriate period of time such as "calendar year" or "benefit period" as defined in the policy.
 - "Plan," within the coordination of benefits provisions of a group policy or subscriber contract, means the types of coverage that the insurer may consider in determining whether overinsurance exists with respect to a specific claim.
 - "School accident-type coverage" means coverage of grammar school and high school students for accidents only, including athletic injuries, either on a 24-hour basis or "to-and-from school," for which the parent pays the entire premium.
- C. Order-of-benefit determination.
- When a claim under a plan with a coordination of benefit provision involves another plan that also has a coordination of benefit provision, the insurer shall make the order-of-benefit determination as follows:
 - The plan that covers the person claiming benefits other than as a dependent shall determine benefits before those of the plan that covers the person as a dependent.
 - The plan of a parent whose birthday occurs earlier in a calendar year shall cover a dependent child before the benefits of a plan of a parent whose birthday occurs later in a calendar year. The word "birthday" as used in this subsection refers only to month and day in a calendar year, not the year in which the person was born.
 - If two or more plans cover a person as a dependent child of divorced or separated parents, benefits for the child are determined in the following order:
 - First, the plan of the parent with custody of the child;
 - Then, the plan of the spouse of the parent with custody of the child; and
 - Finally, the plan of the parent not having custody of the child.
 - Notwithstanding subsection (c), if the specific terms of a court decree state that one of the parents is responsible for the health care expenses of the child, and the entity obligated to pay or provide the benefits of the plan of that parent has actual knowledge of those terms, the benefits of that plan are determined first.
2. The benefits of a plan that covers a person as an employee (or as that employee's dependent) are determined before those of a plan that covers that person as a laid off or retired employee (or as that employee's dependent). If the other plan does not have this provision and if, as a result, the plans do not agree on the order of benefits, this subsection does apply.
3. If none of the provisions of subsection (C) determines the order of benefits, the benefits of the plan that covered a claimant longer are determined before those of the plan that covered that person for the shorter time.
4. If one of the plans is issued out of this state and determines the order of benefits based upon the gender of a parent and, as a result, the plans do not agree on the order of benefits, the plan with the gender rule shall determine the order of benefits.
- D. Excess and other nonconforming provisions. A plan with an order of benefit determination provision that complies with this Section, a complying plan, may coordinate its benefits with a plan that is "excess" or "always secondary" or that uses an order-of-benefit determination provision that is inconsistent with this Section, a noncomplying plan, on the following basis:
- If the complying plan is the primary plan, it shall pay or provide its benefits on a primary basis.
 - If the complying plan is the secondary plan, it shall pay or provide its benefits first, as the secondary plan. The payment shall be the limit of the complying plan's liability, except as provided in subsection (4).
 - If the noncomplying plan does not provide the information needed by the complying plan to determine its benefits within a reasonable time after it is requested to do so, the complying plan shall assume that the benefits of the noncomplying plan are identical to its own, and shall pay benefits accordingly. The complying plan shall adjust any payments it makes based on the assumption whether information becomes available as the actual benefits of the noncomplying plan.
 - If the noncomplying plan pays benefits so that the claimant receives less in benefits than the claimant would have received had the noncomplying plan paid or provided its benefits as the primary plan, the complying plan shall advance to or on behalf of the claimant an amount equal to the difference. The complying plan shall not have a right to reimbursement from the claimant.

 4. "Director" means the Director of the Arizona Department of Insurance.
 5. "Disintermediation" means the risk that interest rates will rise and policy loans and surrenders will increase or maturing contracts will not renew at anticipated rates of renewal.

6. "Lapse" means the risk that a policy will voluntarily terminate before the recoupment of a statutory surplus strain experienced at issuance of the policy.
7. "Reinvestment" means the risk that interest rates will fall and funds reinvested will therefore earn less than expected.

C. Accounting Requirements

1. Unless authorized by the director, an insurer shall not, for reinsurance ceded, reduce any liability, or establish any asset in any statutory financial statement filed with the Department if, by the terms of the agreement, or in effect, any of the following conditions exist:
 - a. Renewal expense allowances provided or to be provided to the ceding insurer by the reinsurer in any accounting period are not sufficient to cover the ceding insurer's allocable renewal expenses anticipated at the time the business is reinsured on the portion of the business reinsured, unless a liability is established for the present value of the shortfall using assumptions equal to the applicable statutory reserve basis on the business reinsured.
 - b. The ceding insurer is required to reimburse the reinsurer for negative experience under the agreement. Neither the offset of the ceding insurer's experience refunds against current and prior years' losses, nor payment by the ceding insurer of an amount equal to the reinsurer's current and prior years' losses upon voluntary termination of in-force reinsurance by the ceding insurer, shall be considered a reimbursement to the reinsurer for negative experience.
 - c. The ceding insurer may be deprived of surplus or assets at the reinsurer's option or automatically upon the occurrence of a specified event, including the insolvency of the ceding insurer. Termination of the agreement by the reinsurer for nonpayment of reinsurance premiums or other amounts due shall not be considered a deprivation of surplus or assets within the meaning of this subsection.
 - d. The ceding insurer is required, at scheduled times, to terminate the agreement or recapture automatically all or part of the reinsurance ceded.
 - e. The ceding insurer may be required to pay the reinsurer amounts other than from income reasonably expected from the reinsured policies.
 - f. Significant risks inherent in the business reinsured are not transferred to the reinsurer. Table A identifies the risks deemed significant for representative types of business.
 - g. The credit quality, reinvestment, or disintermediation risk is significant for the business reinsured and the ceding company does not transfer the underlying assets to the reinsurer, segregate the underlying assets in a trust or escrow account, or otherwise segregate the underlying assets. The assets that support the reserves for classes of business that do not have a significant credit quality, reinvestment, or disintermediation risk, or for long-term care or long-term disability insurance, traditional non-par permanent, traditional par permanent, adjustable premium permanent, indeterminate premium permanent, or universal life fixed premium with no dump-in premiums allowed, may be held by the ceding company without segregation. To determine the reserves for classes of business, the supporting assets of which may be held without being segregated, the reserve interest rate adjustment formula shall reflect the ceding company's investment earnings and incorporate all realized and unrealized gains and losses reported in the ceding insurer's statutory financial statement.

- h. Settlements are made less frequently than quarterly or payments due from the reinsurer are not made in cash within 90 days of the settlement date.
 - i. The ceding insurer is required to make representations or warranties unrelated to the business reinsured.
 - j. The ceding insurer is required to make representations or warranties related to future performance of the business reinsured.
2. An agreement entered into after the effective date of this rule to reinsure business issued before the effective date of the agreement shall be filed by the ceding insurer with the Director within 30 days after execution of the agreement. Each filing shall be accompanied by a description of the corresponding reduction in liabilities or other credit for reinsurance, and any other financial impact of the agreement, reported in the ceding insurer's statutory financial statements. When an increase in surplus net of federal income tax results from an agreement falling under this subsection, the ceding insurer shall separately identify the increase as a surplus item in the aggregate write-ins for gains and losses in surplus in the Capital and Surplus account of the ceding insurer's statutory financial statement. As earnings emerge from the business reinsured, the ceding insurer shall report in its statutory financial statement recognition of surplus increase as income on a net of tax basis as reinsurance ceded.

D. Written Agreements

1. A ceding insurer shall not reduce any liability or establish any asset in any statutory financial statement filed with the Department, unless the ceding insurer and the reinsurer have executed an agreement or a binding letter of intent by the "as of" date of the statutory financial statement.
2. A ceding insurer shall not be allowed a credit for the reinsurance ceded based on a letter of intent unless the ceding insurer and the reinsurer execute an agreement within 90 days from the execution date of the letter of intent.
3. The agreement shall provide that:
 - a. The agreement constitutes the entire contract between the parties with respect to the business reinsured, and there are no understandings between the parties other than as expressed in the agreement; and
 - b. Any change or modification to the agreement shall be void unless made by written amendment signed by all parties.

R20-6-604.01. Rights and Treatment of Debtors

A. Creditor Obligations.

1. Multiple plans of insurance. If a creditor makes more than one plan of credit insurance available to debtors, the creditor shall inform each debtor of each plan for which the debtor is eligible and of the premium and charges for each plan.
2. Substitution. If a creditor requires a debtor to have credit insurance as additional security for a debt, the creditor shall inform the debtor in writing of the debtor’s right to obtain alternative coverage as prescribed in A.R.S. § 20-1614 before the loan transaction is completed.
3. Remittance of premiums. If a creditor adds an insurance charge or premium to a debt, the creditor shall remit the insurance charge or premium to the insurer within 60 days after it is added to the debt.

B. Creditor and insurer obligations regarding insurance on refinanced debt.

1. If a debt is discharged because the debtor refinances the debt before the scheduled maturity date, the creditor shall notify the insurer that issued the credit insurance on the discharged debt.
2. An insurer shall not issue any credit insurance that covers the refinanced debt with an effective date preceding the termination date of the insurance on the original debt.
3. The insurer issuing the coverage on the discharged debt shall refund to or credit the debtor with all unearned insurance charges or premium according to R20-6-604.06.
4. If a debt is refinanced, the effective date of the policy provisions in any new insurance covering the refinanced debt shall be the first date on which the debtor became insured under the previous policy. An insurer may apply any new exclusion period or preexisting condition limitation only to the portion of the new loan that exceeds the previous loan.

C. Required policy provisions.

1. Termination provisions for group policies. A group credit insurance policy shall provide for continued coverage of debtors covered under the policy if the policy terminates, as follows:
 - a. For a policy with a single premium payment, or any other payment method that prepays coverage for more than one month, a provision requiring continued insurance coverage for the entire period for which the premium has been paid; and
 - b. For a policy with a monthly premium payment, a provision requiring the insurer to send the debtor a termination notice at least 30 days before the effective date of termination, unless an insurer is issuing replacement coverage in at least the same amount, without lapse of coverage.
 2. Maximum aggregate provisions. A provision in an individual policy or group certificate that sets a maximum limit on total claim payments shall apply only to that individual policy or group certificate.
- ##### D. Creditor and insurer obligations when debtor prepays debt.
1. Except as provided in subsection (D)(2), if a debtor prepays a debt in full, any credit insurance covering the debt shall terminate on the date of prepayment. The creditor and insurer shall refund to or credit the debtor with any unearned premium according to R20-6-604.06.
 2. If a debt is fully prepaid because of the debtor’s death or any other lump-sum credit insurance payment, a creditor or insurer is not required to refund premium for the coverage under which the lump sum was paid.
 3. If a claim under credit disability coverage is in progress at the time of prepayment, the insurer:
 - a. May calculate the refund as if the prepayment did not occur until the end of the period for payment of benefits, and
 - b. Is not required to refund premiums for any period for which credit disability benefits are payable.
- ##### E. Benefits payable on revolving account. If a debtor is paying for credit insurance coverage on a revolving account and dies, the insurer shall pay a benefit amount equal to the amount of indebtedness outstanding on the date of death. - C. While in effect, the rates described in R20-6-604.04 and R20-6-604.05, subject to any deviations approved under R20-6-604.08 are conclusively presumed to develop the loss ratios described in subsection (B). Department of Insurance

- D. An insurer may provide coverage other than the standard coverage described in R20-6-604.04 and R20-6-604.05. An insurer that wishes to provide nonstandard coverage shall:

- C. The Director shall mail a copy of the notice and proposed order to:
1. Each insurer that reported transaction of credit insurance on its annual statement immediately preceding the date of the notice, and
 2. Any other person who sends the Director a written request for notice of proceedings to adjust the prima facie rates.

R20-6-604.10. Prohibited Transactions

- A. The practices listed in this Section are deemed unfair trade practices under A.R.S. § 20-442. An insurer that commits any of the following practices is subject to penalties as prescribed in A.R.S. § 20-456:
 1. Offering or providing a creditor with any special advantage or any service not set out in either the group insurance contract or in the agency contract, other than payment of commissions;
 2. Agreeing to deposit with a bank or financial institution, the insurer's money or securities as a substitute for a deposit of money or securities that the financial institution would otherwise require from the creditor as a compensating balance or deposit offset for a loan or other advancement; or

3. Depositing money or securities without interest or at a lesser rate of interest than the creditor, bank, or financial institution is currently paying on other similar deposits.

- B. This Section does not prohibit an insurer from maintaining demand deposits or premium deposit accounts that are reasonably necessary for use in the ordinary course of the insurer's business.

R20-6-607. Reasonableness of Benefits in Relation to Premium Charged

- A. Applicability. This rule shall apply to individual disability insurance (as defined in A.R.S. § 20-253) policy forms and rates.
- B. When rate filing is required. Every individual policy form, rider or endorsement form affecting benefits which is submitted for approval shall be accompanied by a rate filing unless such rider or endorsement form does not require a change in the rate. Any subsequent addition to or change in rates applicable to such policy, rider or endorsement form shall also be filed.
- C. General contents of all rate filings. Each rate submission shall include an actuarial memorandum describing the basis on which rates were determined and shall indicate and describe the calculation of the ratio, hereinafter called "anticipated loss ratio," of the present value of the expected benefits to the present value of the expected premiums over the entire period for which rates are computed to provide coverage. Each rate submission must also include a certification by a qualified actuary that to the best of the actuary's knowledge and judgment, the rate filing is in compliance with applicable laws and regulations of this state and that the benefits are reasonable in relation to the premiums.

- D. Previously approved forms. Filings of rate revisions for a previously approved policy, rider or endorsement form shall also include the following:

1. A statement of the scope and reason for the revision, and an estimate of the expected average effect on premiums including the anticipated loss ratio for the form.
2. A statement as to whether the filing applies only to new business, only to in-force business, or both, and the reasons.
3. A history of the experience under existing rates, including at least the data indicated in subsection (E). The history may also include, if available and appropriate, the ratios of actual claims to the claims expected according to the assumptions underlying the existing rates. All additional data must be reconciled, as appropriate, to the required data. Additional data might include:
 - a. Substitution of actual claim run-offs for claim reserves and liabilities,
 - b. Determination of loss ratios with the increase in policy reserves (other than unearned premium reserves) added to benefits rather than subtracted from premiums,
 - c. Substitution of net level policy reserves for preliminary term policy reserves,
 - d. Adjustment of premiums to an annual mode basis, or
 - e. Other adjustments or schedules suited to the form and to the records of the company.
4. The date and magnitude of each previous rate change, if any.

- E. Experience records. Insurers shall maintain records of earned premiums and incurred benefits for each calendar year for each policy form, including data for rider and endorsement forms which are used with the policy form, on the same basis, including all reserves, as required for the Accident and Health Policy Experience Exhibit to the NAIC annual statement convention blank. Separate data may be maintained for each rider or endorsement form to the extent appropriate. Experience under forms which provide substantially similar coverage may be combined. The data shall be for all years of issue combined, for each calendar year of experience since the year the form was first issued, except the data for calendar years prior to the most recent five years may be combined.

- F. Evaluation experience data. In determining the credibility and appropriateness of experience data, due consideration must be given to all relevant factors, such as:

1. Statistical credibility of premiums and benefits, e.g., low exposure, low loss frequency.
2. Experienced and projected trends relative to the kind of coverage, e.g., inflation in medical expenses, economic cycles affecting disability income experience.
3. The concentration of experience at early policy durations where select morbidity and preliminary term reserves are applicable and where loss ratios are expected to be substantially lower than at later policy durations.
4. The mix of business by risk classification.

G. Anticipated loss ratio standard. With respect to a new form or a currently approved form, except currently approved non-cancelable policy forms, under which the average annual premium (as defined below) is expected to be at least $700, benefits shall be deemed reasonable in relation to premiums provided the anticipated loss ratio is at least as great as shown in the following table:

Type of Coverage	Renewal Clause
	OR	CR	GR	NC
Medical expense	60%	55%	55%	50%
Loss of income and other	60%	55%	50%	45%

For a policy form including riders and endorsements, under which the expected average annual premium per policy is $200 or more but less than $700, subtract 5 percentage points from the numbers in the table above, or if less than $200, subtract 10 percentage points.

The average annual premium per policy shall be computed by the insurer based on an anticipated distribution of business by all applicable criteria having a price difference, such as age, sex, amount, dependent status, rider frequency, etc., except assuming an annual mode for all policies (i.e., the fractional premium loading shall not affect the average annual premium or anticipated loss ratio calculation.)

The above anticipated loss ratio standards do not apply to a class of business which is regulated by specific statutes or regulations mandating loss ratios for such business, e.g., Medicare Supplement and Credit Life and Disability.

Definitions of Renewal Clause

OR – Optionally Renewable: renewal is at the option of the insurance company.

CR – Conditionally Renewable: renewal can be declined by the insurance company only for stated reasons other than deterioration of health.

GR – Guaranteed Renewable: renewal cannot be declined by the insurance company for any reason, but the insurance company can revise rates on a class basis.

NC – Non-Cancelable: renewal cannot be declined nor can rates be revised by the insurance company.

H. Rate revisions. With respect to filings of rate revisions for a previously approved form, benefits shall be deemed reasonable in relation to premiums provided both the following loss ratios meet the standards in subsection (G) above.

1. The anticipated loss ratio over the entire future period for which the revised rates are computed to provide coverage;
2. The anticipated loss ratio derived by dividing (a) by (b) where:
 - a. Is the sum of the accumulated benefits, from the original effective date of the form or the effective date of this regulation, whichever is later, to the effective date of the revision, and the present value of future benefits; and
 - b. Is the sum of the accumulated premiums from the original effective date of the form or the effective date of the regulation, whichever is later, to the effective date of the revision, and the present value of future premiums. Such present values shall be taken over the entire period for which the revised rates are computed to provide coverage, and such accumulated benefits and premiums to include an explicit estimate of the actual benefits and premiums from the last date as of which an accounting has been made to the effective date of the revision. Interest shall be used in the calculation of these accumulated benefits and premiums and present values only if it is a significant factor in the calculation of this loss ratio.

- I. Anticipated loss ratios lower than those indicated in subsections (H)(1) and (H)(2) will require justification based on the special circumstances that may be applicable.
 1. Examples of coverages requiring special consideration are as follows:
 - a. Accident only;
 - b. Short term nonrenewable, e.g., airline trip, student accident;
 - c. Specified peril, e.g., common carrier; and
 - d. Other special risks.
 2. Examples of other factors requiring special consideration are as follows:
 - a. Marketing methods, giving due consideration to acquisition and administration costs and to premium mode;
 - b. Extraordinary expenses;
 - c. High risk of claim fluctuation because of the low loss frequency of the catastrophic, or experimental nature of the coverage;
 - d. Product features such as long elimination periods, high deductibles and high maximum limits;
 - e. The industrial or debit method of distribution; and
 - f. Forms issued prior to the effective date of this rule. Companies are urged to review their experience periodically and to file rate revisions, as appropriate, in a timely manner to avoid the necessity of later filing of exceptionally large rate increases.
 3. Notwithstanding the foregoing paragraphs to the contrary, hospital indemnity and cancer and other dread diseases policies shall develop the loss ratios pursuant to subsection (G).
- J. Severability provision. If any provision of this rule or the application thereof to any person or circumstances is held invalid, the remainder of the rule and the application of such provision to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.
- K. Effective date. This rule shall become effective upon filing with the Secretary of State and shall apply to all individual disability policy form and rate filings submitted on and after said date.

R20-6-708. Licensing Time-frames

- A. Definitions. The definitions listed below apply in this Section.
1. "Administrative completeness review time frame" means the number of days from the Department's receipt of an application for a license until the Department determines that the application contains all components required by statute or rule, including all information required to be submitted by other government agencies A.R.S. § 41-1072 (1).
 2. "License" has the meaning prescribed in A.R.S. § 41-1001(10).
 3. "Overall time frame" means the number of days after the Department's receipt of an application for a license during which the Department determines whether to grant or deny a license. The overall time frame consists of both the administrative completeness review time frame and the substantive review time frame A.R.S. § 41-1072 (2).
 4. "Substantive review time frame" means the number of days after the completion of the administrative completeness review time frame during which the Department determines whether an application or applicant for a license meets all substantive criteria required by state or rule A.R.S. § 41-1072(3).
- B. The time-frames listed in Table A apply to licenses issued by the Department. The licensing time-frames consist of an administrative completeness review, a substantive review, and an overall review.

- C. Within the time-frame for the administrative completeness review set forth in Table A, the Department shall notify the applicant in writing of whether the application is complete or incomplete. If the application is incomplete, the Department shall issue a notice of deficiency to the applicant specifying what information or component is required to make the application administratively complete.
 1. If the Department determines that an application for a license is not administratively complete, the Department shall include a comprehensive list of the specific deficiencies in the written notice provided under subsection (C). If the Department issues a written notice of deficiency within the administrative completeness review time-frame, the administrative completeness review time-frame and the overall review time-frame are suspended from the date the notice is issued until the date that the Department receives the missing information from the applicant.
 2. If an applicant does not make some response to each specific deficiency in a notice of deficiency issued during an administrative completeness review, the Department may issue a notice to the applicant within 10 days after receipt of the applicant's response, stating that the response is inadequate. The notice of inadequate response shall identify each specified deficiency to which the applicant did not make some response.
 - a. If the Department issues a notice of inadequate response under this subsection, the suspension of the administrative completeness review time-frame and the overall time-frame is not terminated.
 - b. If the Department does not issue a notice of inadequate response under this subsection, the Department is not precluded from issuing additional notices of deficiency during an administrative completeness review.
 3. If an applicant does not make some response to each specified deficiency in a notice of deficiency issued under subsection (C)(2) within 60 days after the date of a notice of deficiency or within 60 days after a notice of inadequate response issued under subsection (C)(2), the application is deemed withdrawn, and the Department is not required to take further action with respect to the application.
- D. Within the time-frame for the substantive review set forth in Table A, the Department may issue one comprehensive written request for additional information to the applicant specifying each component or item of information required.
 1. If the Department issues a comprehensive written request for additional information within the substantive review time-frame, the substantive review time-frame and the overall time-frame are suspended from the date the written request is issued until the date that the Department receives the additional information from the applicant.
 2. If an applicant does not make some response to each component or item of information requested in a comprehensive written request for additional information, the Department may issue a notice to the applicant within 10 days after receipt of the applicant's response stating that the response is inadequate. The notice of inadequate response shall identify each component or item of information required, to which the applicant did make some response.
 - a. If the Department issues a notice of inadequate response under this subsection, the suspension of the substantive review time-frame and overall time-frame is not terminated.

Department of Insurance

3. If an applicant does not make some response to each component or item of information required in a comprehensive written request or a supplemental request for additional information, within 60 days after the date of a comprehensive written request or within 60 days after the date of the supplemental request, the application is deemed withdrawn, and the Department is not required to take further action with respect to the application.
- E. Within the overall time-frames set forth in Table A, unless extended by mutual agreement under A.R.S. § 41-1075, the Department shall notify the applicant in writing that the application is granted or denied. If the application is denied, the Department shall provide written justification for the denial and a written explanation of the applicant's right to a hearing or the applicant's right to appeal.
- F. In computing the time periods prescribed in these time-frame rules, the last day of a notice period is included in the computation, unless it is a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday.

ARTICLE 8. PROHIBITED PRACTICES, PENALTIES

R20-6-801. Unfair Claims Settlement Practices

- A. Applicability. This rule applies to all persons and to all insurance policies, insurance contracts and subscription contracts except policies of Worker's Compensation and title insurance. - B. Definitions

1. "Agent" means any individual, corporation, association, partnership or other legal entity authorized to represent an insurer with respect to a claim.
2. "Claimant" means either a first party claimant, a third party claimant, or both and includes such claimant's designated legal representative and includes a member of the claimant's immediate family designated by the claimant.
3. "Director" means the Director of Insurance of the State of Arizona.

Department of Insurance

4. "First party claimant" means an individual, corporation, association, partnership or other legal entity asserting a right to payment under an insurance policy or insurance contract arising out of the occurrence of the contingency of loss covered by such policy or contract.
 5. "Insurance policy or insurance contract" has the meaning of A.R.S. § 20-103.
 6. "Insurer" has the meaning of A.R.S. § 20-106(C).
 7. "Investigation" means all activities of an insurer directly or indirectly related to the determination of liabilities under coverages afforded by an insurance policy or insurance contract.
 8. "Notification of claim" means any notification, whether in writing or other means, acceptable under the terms of any insurance policy or insurance contract, to an insurer or its agent, by a claimant, which reasonably apprises the insurer of the facts pertinent to a claim.
 9. "Person" has the meaning of A.R.S. § 20-105.
 10. "Third party claimant" means any individual, corporation, association, partnership or other legal entity asserting a claim against any individual, corporation, association, partnership or other legal entity insured under an insurance policy or insurance contract of an insurer.
 11. "Worker's compensation" includes, but is not limited to, Longshoremen's and Harbor Worker's Compensation.
- C. File and record documentation. The insurer's claim files shall be subject to examination by the Director or by his duly appointed designees. Such files shall contain all notes and work papers pertaining to the claim in such detail that pertinent events and the dates of such events can be reconstructed.
- D. Misrepresentation of policy provisions
1. No insurer shall fail to fully disclose to first party claimants all pertinent benefits, coverages or other provisions of an insurance policy or insurance contract under which a claim is presented.
 2. No agent shall conceal from first party claimants benefits, coverages or other provisions of any insurance policy or insurance contract when such benefits, coverages or other provisions are pertinent to a claim.
 3. No insurer shall deny a claim on the basis that the claimant has failed to exhibit the damaged property to the insurer, unless the insurer has requested the claimant to exhibit the property and the claimant has refused without a sound basis therefor.
 4. No insurer shall, except where there is a time limit specified in the policy, make statements, written or otherwise, requiring a claimant to give written notice of loss or proof of loss within a specified time limit and which seek to relieve the company of its obligations if such a time limit is not complied with unless the failure to comply with such time limit prejudices the insurer's rights.
 5. No insurer shall request a first party claimant to sign a release that extends beyond the subject matter that gave rise to the claim payment.
 6. No insurer shall issue checks or drafts in partial settlement of a loss or claim under a specific coverage which contain language that releases the insurer or its insured from its total liability.
- E. Failure to acknowledge pertinent communications
1. Every insurer, upon receiving notification of a claim shall, within 10 working days, acknowledge the receipt of such notice unless payment is made within such period of time. If an acknowledgment is made by means other than writing, an appropriate notation of such acknowledgment shall be made in the claim file of the insurer and dated. Notification given to an agent of an insurer shall be notification to the insurer.
 2. Every insurer, upon receipt of any inquiry from the Department of Insurance respecting a claim shall, within fifteen working days of receipt of such inquiry, furnish the Department with an adequate response to the inquiry.
 3. An appropriate reply shall be made within 10 working days on all other pertinent communications from a claimant which reasonably suggest that a response is expected.
 4. Every insurer, upon receiving notification of claim, shall promptly provide necessary claim forms, instructions, and reasonable assistance so that first party claimants can comply with the policy conditions and the insurer's reasonable requirements. Compliance with this paragraph within 10 working days of notification of a claim shall constitute compliance with paragraph (1) of this subsection.
- F. Standards for prompt investigation of claims. Every insurer shall complete investigation of a claim within 30 days after notification of claim, unless such investigation cannot reasonably be completed within such time.
- G. Standards for prompt, fair and equitable settlements applicable to all insurers
1. Notice of acceptance or denial of claim.
 - a. Within fifteen working days after receipt by the insurer of properly executed proofs of loss, the first party claimant shall be advised of the acceptance or denial of the claim by the insurer. No insurer shall deny a claim on the grounds of a specific policy provision, condition, or exclusion unless reference to such provision, condition or exclusion is included in the denial. The denial must be given to the claimant in writing and the claim file of the insurer shall contain a copy of the denial.
 - b. If the insurer needs more time to determine whether a first party claim should be accepted or denied, it shall also notify the first party claimant within fifteen working days after receipt of the proofs of loss, giving the reasons more time is needed. If the investigation remains incomplete, the insurer shall, 45 days from the date of the initial notification and every 45 days thereafter, send to such claimant a letter setting forth the reasons additional time is needed for investigation.
 - c. Where there is a reasonable basis supported by specific information available for review by the Director for suspecting that the first party claimant has fraudulently caused or contributed to the loss by arson, the insurer is relieved from the requirements of subparagraphs (a) and (b) above. Provided, however, that the claimant shall be advised of the acceptance or denial of the claim by the insurer within a reasonable time for full investigation after receipt by the insurer of a properly executed proof of loss.
 2. If a claim is denied for reasons other than those described in subparagraph (a) above, and is made by any other means than writing, an appropriate notation shall be made in the claim file of the insurer.
 3. Insurers shall not fail to settle first party claims on the basis that responsibility for payment should be assumed by others, except as may otherwise be provided by policy provisions.
 4. Insurers shall not continue negotiations for settlement of a claim directly with a claimant who is neither an attorney nor represented by an attorney until the claimant's rights may be affected by a statute of limitations or a policy or contract time limit, without giving the claimant written notice that the time limit may be expiring and may affect the claimant's right. Such notice shall be given to first party claimants 30 days and to third party claimants 60 days before the date on which such time limit may expire.

5. No insurer shall make statements which indicate that the rights of a third party claimant may be impaired if a form or release is not completed within a given period of time unless the statement is given for the purpose of notifying the third party claimant of the provision of a statute of limitations.

H. Standards for prompt, fair and equitable settlements applicable to automobile insurance

1. When the insurance policy provides for the adjustment and settlement of first party automobile total losses on the basis of actual cash value or replacement with another of like kind and quality, one of the following methods must apply:

- a. The insurer may elect to offer a replacement automobile which is a specific comparable automobile available to the insured, with all applicable taxes, license fees and other fees incident to transfer of evidence of ownership of the automobile paid, at no cost other than any deductible provided in the policy. The offer and any rejection thereof must be documented in the claim file.

- b. The insurer may elect a cash settlement based upon the actual cost, less any deductible provided in the policy, to purchase a comparable automobile including all applicable taxes, license fees and other fees incident to transfer of evidence of ownership of a comparable automobile. Such cost may be determined by:

- i. The cost of a comparable automobile in the local market area when a comparable automobile is available in the local market area.

- ii. One of two or more quotations obtained by the insurer from two or more qualified dealers located within the local market area when a comparable automobile is not available in the local market area.

- c. When a first party automobile total loss is settled on a basis which deviates from the methods described in subparagraphs (a) and (b) above, the deviation must be supported by documentation giving particulars of the automobile condition. Any deductions from such cost, including deduction for salvage, must be measurable, discernible, itemized and specified as to dollar amount and shall be appropriate in amount. The basis for such settlement shall be fully explained to the first party claimant.

2. Where liability and damages are reasonably clear, insurers shall not recommend that third party claimants make claim under their own policies solely to avoid paying claims under such insurer's policy or insurance contract.
3. Insurers shall not require a claimant to travel unreasonably either to inspect a replacement automobile, to obtain a repair estimate or to have the automobile repaired at a specific repair shop.
4. Insurers shall, upon the claimant's request, include the first party claimant's deductible, if any, in subrogation demands. Subrogation recoveries shall be shared on a proportionate basis with the first party claimant, unless the deductible amount has been otherwise recovered. No deduction for expenses can be made from the deductible recovery unless an outside attorney is retained to collect such recovery. The deduction may then be for only a pro rata share of the allocated loss adjustment expense.

5. If an insurer prepares an estimate of the cost of automobile repairs, such estimate shall be in an amount for which it may be reasonably expected the damage can be satisfactorily repaired. The insurer shall give a copy of the estimate to the claimant and may furnish to the claimant the names of one or more conveniently located repair shops.
 6. When the amount claimed is reduced because of betterment or depreciation all information for such reduction shall be contained in the claim file. Such deductions shall be itemized and specified as to dollar amount and shall be appropriate for the amount of deductions.
 7. When the insurer elects to repair and designates a specific repair shop for automobile repairs, the insurer shall cause the damaged automobile to be restored to its condition prior to the loss at no additional cost to the claimant other than as stated in the policy and within a reasonable period of time.
 8. The insurer shall not use as a basis for cash settlement with a first party claimant an amount which is less than the amount which the insurer would pay if the repairs were made, other than in total loss situations, unless such amount is agreed to by the insured.
- I. Severability. If any provision of this rule or the application thereof to any person or circumstances is held invalid, the remainder of the rule and the application of such provision to other persons and circumstances shall not be affected.
- J. Effective date. This rule shall become effective 90 days from the date of filing with the Secretary of State.

R20-6-1004. Required Policy ProvisionsA. Renewability

1. An individual long-term care insurance policy shall contain a renewability provision which shall be either "guaranteed renewable" or "noncancellable." The renewability provision shall be appropriately captioned, shall appear on the first page of the policy, and shall state that the coverage is guaranteed renewable or noncancellable. This requirement does not apply to a long-term care insurance policy that is part of or combined with a life insurance policy that does not contain a renewability provision and that reserves the right not to renew solely to the policyholder.
2. An insurer shall not use the terms "guaranteed renewable" and "noncancellable" in any individual long-term care insurance policy without further explanatory language according to the disclosure requirements of this Article.
3. A qualified long-term care insurance policy shall have the guaranteed renewability provisions specified in Section 7702B(b)(1)(C) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, in the policy.
4. A long-term care insurance policy or certificate shall include a statement that premium rates are subject to change, unless the policy does not afford the insurer the right to raise premiums.

B. Limitations and Exclusions

1. If a long-term care insurance policy or certificate contains any limitations with respect to preexisting conditions, the limitations shall appear as a separate paragraph of the policy or certificate and shall be labeled as "Preexisting Condition Limitations."
2. A long-term care insurance policy or certificate containing any limitations or conditions for eligibility not prohibited by A.R.S. §§ 20-1691.03 and 20-1691.05 shall describe the limitations or conditions, including any required number of days of confinement, in a separate paragraph of the policy or certificate and shall label the paragraph "Limitations or Conditions on Eligibility for Benefits."
3. A policy shall not be delivered or issued for delivery in this state as long-term care insurance if the policy limits or excludes coverage by type of illness, treatment, medical condition or accident, except as follows:
 - a. Preexisting conditions or disease;
 - b. Mental or nervous disorders; however, this shall not permit exclusion or limitation of the benefits on the basis of Alzheimer's Disease;
 - c. Alcoholism and drug addiction;
 - d. Illness, treatment or medical condition arising out of:
 - i. War, declared or undeclared, or act of war;
 - ii. Participation in a felony, riot or insurrection;
 - iii. Service in the armed forces or auxiliary units;
 - iv. Suicide, attempted suicide, or intentionally self-inflicted injury; or
 - v. Aviation, if non-fare-paying passenger;

- g. Any state or federal workers' compensation, employer's liability or occupational disease law, or any motor vehicle no-fault law;
- h. Services provided by a member of the covered person's immediate family and services for which no charge is normally made in the absence of insurance;
- i. Expenses for services or items available or paid under another long-term care insurance or health insurance policy; or
- j. In the case of a qualified long-term care insurance policy, expenses for services or items to the extent that the expenses are reimbursable under Title XVIII of the Social Security Act or would be reimbursable but for the application of a deductible or coinsurance amount;
4. Subsection (B) does not prohibit exclusions and limitations by type of provider or territorial limitations. No long-term care issuer may deny a claim because services are provided in a state other than the state of policy issued under the following conditions:
- a. When the state other than the state of policy issue does not have the provider licensing, certification or registration required in the policy, but where the provider satisfies the policy requirements outlined for providers in lieu of licensure, certification or registration; or
- b. When the state other than the state of policy issue licenses, certifies or registers the provider under another name.
5. "State of policy issue" means the state in which the insurer issued the individual policy or certificate.
- C. Extension of benefits. A long-term care insurance policy shall provide that termination of long-term care insurance is without prejudice to any benefits payable for institutionalization if the institutionalization began while the long-term care insurance was in force and continues without interruption after termination. An insurer may limit this extension of benefits period to the duration of the benefit period, if any, or to payment of the maximum benefits and the insurer may still apply any policy waiting period and all other applicable provisions of the policy.
- D. Reinstatement. A long-term care insurance policy shall include a provision for reinstatement of coverage if a lapse occurs if the insurer receives proof that the insured was cognitively impaired or had a loss of functional capacity before expiration of the grace period in the policy. The option to reinstate shall be available to the insured for at least five months after the date of termination and shall allow for the collection of past due premiums, as appropriate. The standard of proof of cognitive impairment or loss of functional capacity shall not be more stringent than the benefit eligibility criteria for these conditions set forth in the original long-term care policy.
- E. Continuation or conversion.
1. A group long-term care insurance policy shall provide covered individuals with a basis for continuation or conversion of coverage as specified in this subsection.
 2. The policy shall include a provision that maintains coverage under the existing group policy when the coverage would otherwise terminate, subject only to the continued timely payment of premiums when due. A group policy that restricts provision of benefits and services to, or has incentives to use certain providers or facilities, may provide continuation benefits that are substantially equivalent to the benefits of the existing group policy. The Director shall make a determination as to the substantial equivalency of benefits and, in doing so, shall take into consideration the differences between managed care and non-managed care plans, including provider system arrangements, service availability, benefit levels and administrative complexity.
3. The policy shall include a provision that an individual, whose coverage under the group policy would otherwise terminate or has been terminated for any reason, including discontinuation of the group policy in its entirety or with respect to an insured class, who has been continuously insured under the group policy (and any group policy which it replaced) for at least six months immediately prior to termination, is entitled to the issuance of a converted policy by the insurer under whose group policy the individual is covered, without evidence of insurability.
 4. A converted policy shall be an individual policy of long-term care insurance providing benefits identical to or benefits that the Director determines to be substantially equivalent to or in excess of those provided under the group policy from which conversion is made. Where the group policy from which conversion is made restricts provision of benefits and services to, or contains incentives to use certain providers or facilities, the Director, in making a determination as to the substantial equivalency of benefits, shall take into consideration the differences between managed care and non-managed care plans, including, but not limited to, provider system arrangements, service availability, benefit levels and administrative complexity, and other plan elements.
 5. An insurer may require an individual seeking a conversion policy to make a written application for the converted policy and pay the first premium due, if any, as directed by the insurer not later than 31 days after termination of coverage under the group policy. The insurer shall issue the converted policy effective on the day following the termination of coverage under the group policy. The converted policy shall be renewable annually.
 6. Unless the group policy from which conversion is made replaced previous group coverage, the insurer shall calculate the premium for the converted policy on the basis of the insured's age at inception of coverage under the group policy from which conversion is made. If the group policy from which conversion is made replaced previous group coverage, the premium for the converted policy shall be calculated on the basis of the insured's age at inception of coverage under the group policy replaced.
 7. An insurer is required to provide continuation of coverage or issuance of a converted policy as provided in this subsection, unless:
 - a. Termination of group coverage resulted from an individual's failure to make any required payment of premium or contribution when due; or
 - b. The terminating coverage is replaced not later than 31 days after termination, by group coverage that:
 - i. Is effective on the day following the termination of coverage;
 - ii. Provides benefits identical to or benefits the Director determines to be substantially equivalent to or in excess of those provided by the terminating coverage; and
 - iii. Has a premium calculated in a manner consistent with the requirements of subsection (E)(6).
 8. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Section, a converted policy that an insurer issues to an individual who at the time of conversion is covered by another long-term care insurance policy providing benefits on the basis of incurred expenses, may contain a provision that reduces benefits payable if the benefits provided under the additional coverage, together with the full benefits provided by the converted policy, would result in payment of more than 100% of incurred expenses. An insurer may include this provision in the converted policy only if the converted policy also provides for a premium decrease or refund that reflects the reduction in payable benefits.

9. The converted policy may provide that the benefits payable under the converted policy, together with the benefits payable under the group policy from which conversion is made, shall not exceed those that would have been payable had the individual's coverage under the group policy remained in force and effect.
 10. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Section, an insured individual whose eligibility for group long-term care coverage is based upon the individual's relationship to another person, is entitled to continuation of coverage under the group policy if the qualifying relationship terminates by death or dissolution of marriage.
- F. Discontinuance and replacement. If a group long-term care policy is replaced by another group long-term care policy issued to the same policyholder, the succeeding insurer shall offer coverage to all persons covered under the previous group policy on its date of termination. Coverage provided or offered to individuals by the insurer and premiums charged to persons under the new group policy:
1. Shall not result in any exclusion for preexisting conditions that would have been covered under the group policy being replaced; and
 2. Shall not vary or otherwise depend on the individual's health or disability status, claim experience, or use of long-term care services.
- G. Premium Increases.
1. An insurer shall not increase the premium charged to an insured because of:
 - a. The increasing age of the insured at ages beyond 65, or
 - b. The duration of coverage under the policy.
 2. Purchase of additional coverage is not considered a premium rate increase, however, for the calculation required under R20-6-1019, an insurer shall add to and consider the portion of the premium attributable to the additional coverage as part of the initial annual premium.
 3. A reduction in benefits is not considered a premium change, however, for the calculation required under R20-6-1019, an insurer shall base the initial annual premium on the reduced benefits.
- H. Electronic enrollment for group policies.
1. For coverage offered to a group defined in A.R.S. § 20-1691(5)(a), any requirement that an insurer or insurance producer obtain an insured's signature is satisfied if:
 - a. The group policyholder or insurer obtains the insured's consent by telephonic or electronic enrollment, and provides the enrollee with verification of enrollment information within five business days of enrollment; and
 - b. The telephonic or electronic enrollment process has necessary and reasonable safeguards to assure the accuracy, retention, and prompt retrieval of records, and the confidentiality of individually identifiable and privileged information.
 2. If the Director requests, the insurer shall make available records showing the insurer's ability to confirm enrollment and coverage amounts.
- I. Minimum standards for home health and community care benefits.
1. If an insurer issues a long-term care insurance policy or certificate that provides benefits for home-health or community care, the policy or certificate shall not limit or exclude benefits by any of the following:
 - a. Requiring that the insured would need skilled care in a skilled nursing facility if home health services are not provided;
 - b. Requiring that the insured first or simultaneously receive nursing or therapeutic services, or both, in a home, community or institutional setting before home health services are covered;
 - c. Requiring that eligible services be provided by a registered nurse or licensed practical nurse;
 - d. Requiring that a nurse or therapist provide services covered by the policy that can be provided by a home health aide or other licensed or certified home care worker acting within the scope of licensure or certification;
 - e. Requiring that the insured or claimant have an acute condition before home health services are covered;
 - f. Limiting benefits to services provided by Medicare-certified agencies or providers;
 - g. Excluding coverage for personal care services provided by a home health aide;
 - h. Requiring that home health care services be provided at a level of certification or licensure greater than that required by the eligible service; or
 - i. Excluding coverage for adult day care services.
 2. If a long-term care insurance policy provides benefits for home health or community care services, it shall provide home health or community care coverage that equals a dollar amount equivalent to at least one-half of one year's missing home benefit coverage available at the time covered home health or community care services are being received. This requirement does not apply to policies or certificates issued to residents of continuing care retirement communities.
 3. An insurer may apply home health care coverage to non-home health care benefits in the policy or certificate when determining maximum coverage under the terms of the policy or certificate.
- J. Appeals. Policy shall include a clear description of the process for appealing and resolving benefit determinations.

Historical Note

Adopted effective August 10, 1992 (Supp. 92-3). R20-6-1004 recodified from R4-14-1004 (Supp. 95-1). Amended by final rulemaking at 10 A.A.R. 4661, effective January 3, 2005 (Supp. 04-4). Amended by final exempt rulemaking at 23 A.A.R. 1119, effective November 10, 2017 (Supp. 17-2).

R20-6-1005. Unintentional Lapse

- A. An insured may designate in writing at least one person to receive notice of lapse or termination of a long-term care insurance policy for nonpayment of premium, in addition to the insured. Designation shall not constitute acceptance of any liability by the third-party notice recipient for services provided to the insured.
- B. An insurer shall not issue an individual long-term care insurance policy or certificate until the applicant has provided either a written designation of at least one person, in addition to the applicant, who shall receive notice of lapse or termination of the policy or certificate for nonpayment of premium, with the person's full name and home address, or the applicant's written waiver, dated and signed, indicating that the applicant chooses not to designate a notice recipient.

- C. The insurer shall use a form for written designation or waiver that provides space clearly delineated for the designation. The insurer shall include the following language on the form for waiver of the right to name a designated recipient: "Protection against unintended lapse. I understand that I have the right to designate at least one person other than myself to receive notice of lapse or termination of this long-term care insurance policy for nonpayment of premium. I understand that this notice will not be given until 30 days after a premium is due and unpaid. I elect NOT to designate a person to receive this notice."
- D. At least once every two years, an insurer shall notify the insured of the right to change the person designated to receive notice in subsection (A). An insured may add, delete, or change a designated recipient or change a designated recipient at any time by notifying the insurer in writing, and providing the name and home address for the new designated recipient or the designated recipient to be deleted.
- E. If the insured pays premiums for the long-term care insurance policy or certificate through a payroll or pension deduction plan, the insurer is not required to comply with the requirements in subsections (A) through (D) until 60 days after the insured is no longer on the payment plan.
- F. An individual long-term care insurance policy shall not lapse or be terminated for nonpayment of premium unless the insurer gives the insured and any recipient designated under subsections (A) through (D) written notice at least 30 days before the effective date of termination or lapse, by first class mail, postage prepaid, at the address provided by the insured for purposes of receiving notice of lapse or termination. An insurer shall not give notice until 30 days after the date on which a premium is due and unpaid. Notice is deemed given five days after the date of mailing.
- G. Reinstatement. In addition to the requirement in subsections (A) through (D), a long-term care insurance policy or certificate shall include a provision that provides for reinstatement of coverage in the event of a lapse if the insurer is provided proof that the policyholder or certificateholder was cognitively impaired or had a loss of functional capacity before the grace period contained in the policy expired. This option shall be available to the insured if requested within five months after termination and shall allow for the collection of past due premium, where appropriate. The standard of proof of cognitive impairment or loss of functional capacity shall not be more stringent than the benefit eligibility criteria on cognitive impairment or the loss of functional capacity contained in the policy or certificate. Reinstatement after termination for other than unintentional lapse shall be governed by A.R.S. § 20-1348.

Historical Note

Adopted effective August 10, 1992 (Supp. 92-3). R20-6-1005 recodified from R4-14-1005 (Supp. 95-1). Section R20-6-1005 renumbered to R20-6-1006; new Section R20-6-1005 made by final rulemaking at 10 A.A.R. 4661, effective January 3, 2005 (Supp. 04-4). Amended by final exempt rulemaking at 23 A.A.R. 1119, effective November 10, 2017 (Supp. 17-2).

R20-6-1006. Inflation Protection

- A. An insurer shall not offer a long-term care insurance policy unless the insurer offers to the policyholder, at the time of purchase, in addition to any other inflation protection, the option to purchase a policy with an inflation protection provision that provides for benefit levels to increase with benefit maximums or reasonable durations which are meaningful to account for reasonably anticipated increases in the costs of long-term care services covered by the policy. The terms of the required provision shall be no less favorable than one of the following:

1. A provision that provides for annual increases in benefit levels compounding annually at a rate of not less than 5%;
 2. A provision that guarantees an insured the right to periodically increase benefit levels without providing evidence of insurability or health status, if the insured did not decline the option for the previous period. The increased benefit shall be no less than the difference between the existing policy benefit and that benefit compounded annually at a rate of at least 5% for the period beginning from the purchase of the existing benefit and extending until the year in which the offer is made; or
 3. A provision for coverage of a specified percentage of actual or reasonable charges that is not subject to a maximum specified indemnity amount or limit.
- B. If the policy is issued to a group, the insurer shall extend the offer required by subsection (A) to the group policyholder; except, if the policy is issued under A.R.S. § 20-1691.04(C) to a group, other than to a continuing care retirement community, the insurer shall make the offer to each proposed certificateholder.
- C. An insurer is not required to make the offer in subsection (A) for life insurance policies or riders with accelerated long-term care benefits.
- D. An insurer shall include the information listed in this subsection in or with the outline of coverage.
 1. A graphic comparison of the benefit levels of a policy that increases benefits over the policy period with a policy that does not increase benefits. The graphic comparison shall show benefit levels over at least a 20-year period.
 2. Any expected premium increases or additional premiums to pay for automatic or optional benefit increases. If premium increases or additional premiums will be based on the attained age of the applicant at the time of the increase, the insurer shall provide a revised schedule of attained-age premiums. An insurer may use a reasonable hypothetical or a graphic demonstration for this disclosure.
- E. Inflation-protection benefit increases shall continue without regard to an insured's age, claim status, claim history, or length of time the person has been insured under the policy.
- F. An insurer's offer of inflation protection that provides for automatic benefit increases shall include an offer of a premium that the insurer expects to remain constant. The insurer shall disclose in the offer in a conspicuous manner that the premium may change in the future unless the premium is guaranteed to remain constant.
- G. An insurer shall include in a long-term care insurance policy inflation protection as provided in subsection (A)(1) unless the insurer obtains a rejection of inflation protection signed by the insured as required in subsection (H). The rejection may be either on the application form or on a separate form.
- H. A rejection of inflation protection is deemed part of an application and shall state: "I have reviewed the outline of coverage and the graphs that compare the benefits and premiums of this policy with and without inflation protection. Specifically, I reviewed Plans [insert description of plans], and I reject inflation protection."

Historical Note

R20-6-1006 renumbered to R20-6-1007; new Section R20-5-1006 renumbered from R20-6-1005 and amended by final rulemaking at 10 A.A.R. 4661, effective January 3, 2005 (Supp. 04-4). Amended by final exempt rulemaking at 23 A.A.R. 1119, effective November 10, 2017 (Supp. 17-2).

R20-6-1007. Required Disclosure Provisions

- A. Riders and endorsements. Except for riders or endorsements by which an insurer effectuates a request made in writing by the insured under an individual long-term care insurance policy, if an insurer adds a rider or endorsement to an individual long-term care insurance policy after date of issue or at reinstatement or renewal that reduces or eliminates benefits or coverage in the policy, the insurer shall require signed acceptance by the individual insured. After the date of policy issue, any rider or endorsement that increases benefits or coverage with a concomitant increase in premium during the policy term shall require the signed written agreement of the insured unless the increased benefits or coverage are required by law. If the insurer charges a separate additional premium for benefits provided in connection with riders or endorsements, the premium charge shall be set forth in the policy, rider, or endorsement.
- B. Payment of Benefits. A long-term care insurance policy that provides for the payment of benefits based on standards described as “usual and customary,” “reasonable and customary” or words of similar import shall define the terms and explain them in its accompanying outline of coverage.
- C. Disclosure of tax consequences. For life insurance policies that provide an accelerated benefit for long-term care, an insurer shall provide a disclosure statement at the time of application for the policy or rider and at the time the accelerated benefit payment request is submitted, that receipt of these accelerated benefits may be taxable, and that assistance should be sought from a personal tax adviser. The disclosure statement shall be prominently displayed on the first page of the policy or rider and any other related documents. This subsection shall not apply to qualified long-term care insurance contracts.
- D. Benefit triggers. A long-term care insurance policy shall use activities of daily living and cognitive impairment to measure an insured’s need for long-term care. The long-term care insurance policy shall describe these terms and provisions in a separate paragraph in the policy labeled “Eligibility for the Payment of Benefits” that includes and explains:
1. Any additional benefit triggers,
 2. Benefit triggers that result in payment of different benefit levels, and
 3. Any requirement that an attending physician or other specified person certify a certain level of functional dependency for the insured to be eligible for benefits.
- E. A long-term care insurance contract shall contain a disclosure statement in the policy and in the outline of coverage indicating whether it is intended to be a qualified long-term care insurance contract as specified in the outline of coverage in Appendix J, paragraph 3. The contract shall also include a Specification Page which shall include the benefits, amounts, durations, the premium rate including all optional benefits selected by the insured, and any other benefit data applicable to the insured.

R20-6-1008. Required Disclosure of Rating Practices to Consumers

- A. This Section applies as follows:
1. Except as provided in subsection (A)(2), this Section applies to any long-term care policy or certificate issued in this state on or after May 10, 2005.
 2. For certificates issued under an in-force, long-term care insurance policy issued to a group as defined in A.R.S. § 20-1691(5)(a), the provisions of this Section apply on the first policy anniversary that occurs on or after November 10, 2005.
- B. Unless a policy is one for which an insurer cannot increase the applicable premium rate or rate schedule, the insurer shall provide the information listed in this subsection to the applicant at the time of application or enrollment. If the method of application does not allow for delivery at that time, the insurer shall provide the information to the applicant no later than at the time of delivery of the policy or certificate.
1. A statement that the policy may be subject to rate increases in the future.
 2. An explanation of potential future premium rate revisions, and the policyholder’s or certificateholder’s option if a premium rate revision occurs.
 3. The premium rate or rate schedules applicable to the applicant that will be in effect until the insurer makes a request for an increase.
 4. A general explanation for applying premium rate or rate schedule adjustments that includes:
 - a. A description of when premium rate or rate-schedule adjustments will be effective (e.g., next anniversary date, next billing date); and
 - b. The insurer’s right to a revised premium rate or rate schedule as provided in subsection (B)(3) if the premium rate or rate schedule is changed.
 5. Information regarding each premium rate increase on this policy form or similar policy form over the past 10 years for this state or any other state that, at a minimum, identifies:
 - a. The policy forms for which premium rates have been increased;
 - b. The calendar years when the form was available for purchase; and
 - c. The amount or percent of each increase, which may be expressed as a percentage of the premium rate before the increase, or as minimum and maximum percentages if the rate increase is variable by rating characteristics.
 6. The insurer may, in a fair manner, provide explanatory information related to the rate increases in addition to the information required under subsection (B)(5).
- C. An insurer may exclude from the disclosure required under subsection (B)(5), premium rate increases applicable to:
1. Blocks of business acquired from other nonaffiliated insurers, and
 2. Policies acquired from other nonaffiliated insurers if the increases occurred before the acquisition.
- D. If an acquiring insurer files for a rate increase on a long-term care insurance policy form or a block of policy forms acquired from a nonaffiliated insurer on or before the later of the January 10, 2005, or the end of a 24-month period following the acquisition of the policies or block of policies, the acquiring insurer may exclude that rate increase from the disclosure required under subsection (B)(5). However, the nonaffiliated insurer that sells the policy form or a block of policy forms shall include that rate increase in the disclosure required under subsection (B)(5). If the acquiring insurer files for a subsequent rate increase, even within the 24-month period, on the same policy form acquired from a nonaffiliated insurer or block of policy forms acquired from nonaffiliated insurers, the acquiring insurer shall make all disclosures required by subsection (B)(5), including disclosure of the earlier rate increase.

- E. Unless the method of application does not allow an insured to sign an acknowledgement that the insurer made the disclosures required under subsection (B) at the time of application, the applicant shall sign an acknowledgement of disclosure at that time. Otherwise, the applicant shall sign a disclosure acknowledgement no later than at the time of delivery of the policy or certificate.
- F. An insurer shall use the forms in Appendix A and Appendix B to comply with the requirements of subsections (B) through (E). The text and format of an insurer's forms shall be substantially similar to the text and format of Appendices A and B.
- G. An insurer shall provide notice of an upcoming premium rate schedule increase to all policyholders or certificateholders, if applicable, at least 45 days before the effective date of the increase. The notice shall include the information required by subsection (B).

Former Section R20-6-1008 renumbered to R20-6-1011; new Section R20-6-1008 made by final rulemaking at 10 A.A.R. 4661, effective January 3, 2005 (Supp. 04-4). R20-6-1009. Initial Filing Requirements

- A. This Section applies to any long-term care policy issued in this state on or after May 10, 2005.
- B. At the time of making a filing under A.R.S. § 20-1691.08, an insurer shall provide to the Director a copy of the disclosure documents required under R20-6-1008 and an actuarial certification that includes the following:
 1. The initial premium rate schedule is sufficient to cover anticipated costs under moderately adverse experience and that the premium rate schedule is reasonably expected to be sustainable over the life of the form with no future premium increases anticipated;
 2. The policy design and coverage provided have been reviewed and taken into consideration;
 3. The underwriting and claims adjudication processes have been reviewed and taken into consideration;
 4. The premiums contain at least the minimum margin for moderately adverse experience as defined in subsection (4)(a) or the specification of and justification for a lower margin as required by subsection (4)(b).
 - a. A composite margin shall not be less than 10% of lifetime claims.
 - b. A composite margin that is less than 10% may be justified in uncommon circumstances. The proposed amount, full justification of the proposed amount and methods to monitor developing experience that would be the basis for withdrawal of approval for such lower margins must be submitted.
 - c. A composite margin lower than otherwise considered appropriate for the stand-alone long-term care policy may be justified for long-term care benefits provided through a life policy or an annuity contract. Such lower composite margin, if utilized, shall be justified by appropriate actuarial demonstration addressing margins and volatility when considering the entirety of the product.

- d. A greater margin may be appropriate in circumstances where the company has less credible experience to support its assumptions used to determine the premium rates.
- 5. A statement that the premium rate schedule:
 - a. Is not less than the premium rate schedule for existing similar policy forms also available from the insurer except for reasonable differences attributable to benefits, or
 - b. A comparison of the premium schedules for similar policy forms that are currently available from the insurer with an explanation of the differences; and
- 6. A statement that reserve requirements have been reviewed and considered. Support for this statement shall include:
 - a. Sufficient detail or sample calculations provided so as to have a complete depiction of the reserve amounts to be held; and
 - b. A statement that the difference between the gross premium and the net valuation premium for renewal years is sufficient to cover expected renewal expenses; or if such a statement cannot be made, a complete description of the situations where this does not occur. An aggregate distribution of anticipated issues may be used as long as the underlying gross premiums maintain a reasonably consistent relationship.
- C. An actuarial memorandum shall be included that is signed by a member of the Academy of Actuaries and that addresses and supports each specific item required as part of the actuarial certification and provides at least the following:
 1. An explanation of the review performed by the actuary prior to making the statements in subsections (B)(2) and (B)(3);
 2. A complete description of pricing assumptions;
 3. Sources and levels of margins incorporated into the gross premiums that are the basis for the statement in subsection (B)(1) of the actuarial certification and an explanation of the analysis and testing performed in determining the sufficiency of the margins. The actuary shall clearly describe deviations in margins between ages, sexes, plans or states. Deviations in margins required to be described are other than those produced utilizing generally accepted actuarial methods for smoothing and interpolating gross premium scales; and
 4. A demonstration that the gross premiums include the minimum composite margin specified in subsection (B)(4).
- D. In any review of the actuarial certification and actuarial memorandum, the Director may request review by an actuary with experience in long-term care pricing who is independent of the insurer. In the event the Director asks for additional information as a result of any review, the period in A.R.S. § 20-1691.08 does not include the period during which the insurer is preparing the requested information.

R20-6-1010. Requirements for Application Forms and Replacement Coverage; Prohibition Against Preexisting Conditions and Probationary Periods in Replacement Policies or Certificates; Reporting Requirements

- A. An insurer's application form for a long-term care insurance policy shall include the questions listed in this Section to elicit information as to whether, as of the date of the application, the applicant has another long-term care insurance policy or certificate in force or whether a long-term care policy or certificate is intended to replace any other health or long-term care policy or certificate presently in force. An insurer may include the questions in a supplementary application or other form to be signed by the applicant and insurance producer, except where the coverage is sold without an insurance producer. For a replacement policy issued to a group as defined in A.R.S. § 20-1691(5)(a), the insurer may modify the questions only to the extent necessary to elicit information about health or long-term care insurance policies other than the group policy being replaced if the certificateholder has been notified of the replacement.
1. Do you have another long-term care insurance policy or certificate in force (including health care service contract, health maintenance organization contract)?
 2. Did you have another long-term care insurance policy or certificate in force during the last 12 months?
 - a. If so, with which company?
 - b. If that policy lapsed, when did it lapse?
 3. Are you covered by Medicaid?
 4. Do you intend to replace any of your medical or health insurance coverage with this policy or certificate?
- B. The application or enrollment form for such policies or certificates shall clearly indicate the payment plan the applicant selects.
- C. An insurance producer shall list any other health insurance policies the insurance producer has sold to the applicant, including:
1. Policies that are still in force, and
 2. Policies sold in the past five years that are no longer in force.
- D. Solicitations Other than Direct Response. On determining that a sale will involve replacement, an insurer, other than an insurer using direct response solicitation methods, or its insurance producer; shall furnish the applicant, before issuing or delivering the individual long-term care insurance policy, a notice that substantially conforms to the form prescribed in Appendix C or D regarding replacement of health or long-term care coverage. The insurer shall:
1. Give one copy of the notice to the applicant, and
 2. Keep an additional copy signed by the applicant.
- E. Direct Response Solicitations. Insurers using direct response solicitation methods as defined in A.R.S. § 20-1661 shall deliver a notice that substantially conforms to the form prescribed in Appendix C or D regarding replacement of health or long-term care coverage to the applicant upon issuance of the policy.
- F. If replacement is intended, the replacing insurer shall send the existing insurer written notice of the proposed replacement within five working days from the date the replacing insurer receives the application or issues the policy, whichever is sooner. The notice shall identify the existing policy by name of the insurer and the insured, and policy number or insured's address including zip code.
- G. A life insurance policy that accelerate benefits for long-term care shall comply with this Section if the policy being replaced is a long-term care insurance policy. If the policy being replaced is a life insurance policy, the insurer shall comply with the replacement requirements of Title 20, Chapter 6, Article 1.1. If a life insurance policy that accelerates benefits for long-term care is replaced by another such policy, the replacing insurer shall comply with the requirements of this Section and with A.R.S. Title 20, Chapter 6, Article 1.1.
- H. Prohibition against preexisting conditions and probationary periods in replacement policies or certificates. If a long-term care insurance policy or certificate replaces another long-term care policy or certificate, the replacing insurer shall waive any time periods applicable to preexisting conditions and probationary periods in the new long-term care policy for similar benefits if similar exclusions are satisfied under the original policy.
- I. Reporting requirements.
1. An insurer shall maintain the following records for each insurance producer:
 - a. The amount of the insurance producer's replacement sales as a percent of the insurance producer's total annual sales, and
 - b. The amount of lapses of long-term care insurance policies sold by the insurance producer as a percent of the insurance producer's total annual sales.
 2. No later than June 30 of each year, on the forms specified in Appendix E and Appendix F, an insurer shall report the following information for the preceding calendar year to the Department:
 - a. The 10% of its insurance producers licensed in Arizona with the greatest percentages of lapses and replacements as measured by subsection (I)(1);
 - b. The number of lapsed policies as a percent of the total annual sales and as a percent of the insurer's total number of policies in force as of the end of the preceding calendar year;
 - c. The number of replacement policies sold as a percent of the insurer's total annual sales and as a percent of its total number of policies in force as of the end of the preceding calendar year; and
 - d. For qualified long-term care insurance contracts, the number of claims denied for each class of business, expressed as a percentage of claims denied.
- J. In subsection (I):
1. "Claim" means a request for payment of benefits under an in-force policy, regardless of whether the benefit claimed is covered under the policy or any terms or conditions of the policy have been met.
 2. "Denied" means the insurer refuses to pay a claim for any reason other than for claims not paid for failure to meet the waiting period or because of an applicable preexisting condition.
 3. "Policy" means only long-term care insurance.
 4. "Report" means on a statewide basis.
- K. Reported replacement and lapse rates do not alone constitute a violation of insurance laws or necessarily imply wrongdoing. The reports are for the purpose of reviewing more closely agent activities regarding the sale of long-term care insurance. Reports required under this Section shall be filed with the Director.
- L. Annual rate certification requirements. This subsection applies to any long-term care policy issued in Arizona on or after November 10, 2017. The following annual submission requirements apply subsequent to initial rate filings for individual long-term care insurance policies made under this Section:

1. An actuarial certification prepared, dated and signed by a member of the American Academy of Actuaries which contains a statement of the sufficiency of the current premium rate schedule, including:
 - a. For the rate schedules currently marketed, that the premium rate schedule continues to be sufficient to cover anticipated costs under moderately adverse experience and that the premium rate schedule is reasonably expected to be sustainable over the life of the form with no future premium increases anticipated or a statement that margins for moderately adverse experience may no longer be sufficient. For a statement that margins for moderately adverse experience may no longer be sufficient, the insurer shall provide to the Director, within 60 days of the date the actuarial certification is submitted to the Director, a plan of action, including a time frame, for the re-establishment of adequate margins for moderately adverse experience so that the ultimate premium rate schedule would be reasonably expected to be sustainable over the future life of the form with no future premium increases anticipated. Failure to submit a plan of action to the Director within 60 days or to comply with the time frame stated in the plan of action constitutes grounds for the Director to withdraw or modify approval of the form for future sales pursuant to A.R.S. § 20-1691.08.
 - b. For the rate schedules that are no longer marketed, that the premium rate schedule continues to be sufficient to cover anticipated costs under best estimate assumptions or that the premium rate schedule may no longer be sufficient. If the premium rate schedule is no longer sufficient, the insurer shall provide to the Director, within 60 days of the date the actuarial certification is submitted to the Director, a plan of action, including time frame, for the re-establishment of adequate margins for moderately adverse experience;
2. A description of the review performed that led to the statement; and
3. An actuarial memorandum dated and signed by a member of the American Academy of Actuaries who prepares the information shall be prepared to support the actuarial certification and provide at least the following information:
 - a. A detailed explanation of the data sources and review performed by the actuary prior to making the statement in subsection (L)(1),
 - b. A complete description of experience assumptions and their relationship to the initial pricing assumptions,
 - c. A description of the credibility of the experience data, and
 - d. An explanation of the analysis and testing performed in determining the current presence of margins.
4. The actuarial certification required pursuant to subsection (L)(1) must be based on calendar year data and submitted annually starting in the second year following the year in which the initial rate schedules are first used. The actuarial memorandum required pursuant to subsection (L)(3) must be submitted at least once every three years with the certification.

R20-6-1011. Prohibition Against Post-claims Underwriting

- A. An application for a long-term care insurance policy or certificate that is not guaranteed issue shall meet the requirements of this Section.
 1. The application shall contain clear and unambiguous questions designed to ascertain the applicant's health condition.
 - a. If the application has a question asking whether the applicant has had medication prescribed by a physician, the application shall also ask the applicant to list the prescribed medication.
 - b. If the insurer knew or reasonably should have known that the medications listed in the application are related to a medical condition for which coverage would otherwise be denied, the insurer shall not rescind the policy or certificate for that condition.
 2. The application shall include the following language which shall be set out conspicuously and in close conjunction with the applicant's signature block: "Caution: If your answers on this application are incorrect or untrue, [company] has the right to deny benefits or rescind your policy."
 3. The policy or certificate shall contain, at the time of delivery, the following language, or language substantially similar to the following, set out conspicuously: "Caution: The issuance of this long-term care insurance [policy] [certificate] is based on your responses to the questions on your application. A copy of your [application] [enrollment form] [is enclosed] [was retained by you when you applied]. If your answers are incorrect or untrue, the company has the right to deny benefits or rescind your policy. The best time to clear up any questions is now, before a claim arises! If, for any reason, any of your answers are incorrect, contact the company at this address: [insert address]."
- B. Before issuing a long-term care insurance policy or certificate that is not guaranteed issue to an applicant age 80 or older, the insurer shall obtain one of the following:
 1. A report of a physical examination,
 2. An assessment of functional capacity,
 3. An attending physician's statement, or
 4. Copies of medical records.

- E. On or before March 31 of each year, an insurer shall report the following information to the Director for the preceding calendar year, using the form prescribed in Appendix G:
 1. Insurer name, address, phone number;
 2. As to each rescission except those voluntarily effectuated by the insured:

 - b. Policy and certificate number,
 - c. Name of the insured,

- d. Date of policy issuance,
 - e. Date claim submitted,
 - f. Date of rescission, and
 - g. Detailed reason for rescission; and
3. Signature, name and title of the preparer, and date prepared.

R20-6-1012. Reserve Standards

- A. If long-term care benefits are provided through the acceleration of benefits under group or individual life policies or riders, an insurer shall determine policy reserves for long-term care benefits under A.R.S. § 20-510. An insurer shall also establish claim reserves for a policy or rider in claim status.
- B. An insurer shall base reserves for policies and riders under subsection (A) on the multiple decrement model using all relevant decrements except for voluntary termination rates. An insurer may use single decrement approximations if the calculation produces essentially similar reserves, if the reserve is clearly more conservative, or if the reserve is immaterial. The insurer, when calculating reserves, may take into account the reduction in life insurance benefits due to the payment of long-term care benefits. The insurer shall not set the reserves for the long-term care benefit and the life insurance benefit to be less than the reserves for the life insurance benefit assuming no long-term care benefit.
- C. In the development and calculation of reserves for policies and riders subject to this Section, an insurer shall give due regard to the applicable policy provisions, marketing methods, administrative procedures and all other considerations which impact projected claim costs including the following:
 - 1. Definition of insured events,
 - 2. Covered long-term care facilities,
 - 3. Existence of home convalescence care coverage,
 - 4. Definition of facilities,
 - 5. Existence or absence of barriers to eligibility,
 - 6. Premium waiver provision,
 - 7. Renewability,

 - 11. Claims adjustment procedures,
 - 12. Waiting period,

 - 15. Margins in claim costs,
 - 16. Optional nature of benefit,
 - 17. Delay in eligibility for benefit,
 - 18. Inflation protection provisions,
 - 19. Guaranteed insurability option, and
 - 20. Other similar or comparable factors affecting risk.
- D. A member of the American Academy of Actuaries shall certify an insurer's use of any applicable valuation morbidity table as appropriate as a statutory valuation table.
- E. When long-term care benefits are provided other than as described in subsection (A), an insurer shall determine reserves under A.R.S. § 20-508.

Historical Note

Adopted effective August 10, 1992 (Supp. 92-3). R20-6-

1012 recodified from R4-14-1012 (Supp. 95-1). R20-6-1012 renumbered to R20-6-1016; new Section R20-6-1012 renumbered from R20-6-1009 and amended by final rulemaking at 10 A.A.R. 4661, effective January 3, 2005 (Supp. 04-4). Section repealed; new Section renumbered from R20-6-1013 and amended by final exempt rulemaking at 23 A.A.R. 1119, effective November 10, 2017 (Supp. 17-2).

R20-6-1013. Loss Ratio

- A. This Section applies to policies and certificates issued any time prior to May 10, 2005.
- B. Benefits under an individual long-term care insurance policy are deemed reasonable in relation to premiums if the expected loss ratio is at least 60% calculated in a manner that provides for adequate reserving of the long-term care insurance risk. In evaluating the expected loss ratio, the director shall consider all relevant factors, including:
 - 1. Statistical credibility of incurred claims experience and earned premiums;
 - 2. The period for which rates are computed to provide coverage;
 - 3. Experienced and projected trends;
 - 4. Concentration of experience within early policy duration;
 - 5. Expected claim fluctuation;
 - 6. Experience refunds, adjustments, or dividends;
 - 7. Renewability features;
 - 8. All appropriate expense factors;
 - 9. Interest;
 - 10. Experimental nature of the coverage;
 - 11. Policy reserves;
 - 12. Mix of business by risk classification; and
 - 13. Product features such as long elimination periods, high deductibles, and high maximum limits.
- C. A premium rate schedule or proposed revision to a premium rate schedule that is expected to produce, over the lifetime of the long-term care insurance policy, benefits that are less than 60% of the proposed premium rate schedule is deemed to be unreasonable.
- D. Subsections (B) and (C) do not apply to life insurance policies that accelerate benefits for long-term care. A life insurance policy that funds long-term care benefits entirely by accelerating the death benefit is deemed to provide reasonable benefits in relation to premiums paid if the policy complies with all of the following:
 - 1. The interest credited internally to determine cash value accumulations, including long-term care, if any, is guaranteed not to be less than the minimum guaranteed interest rate for cash value accumulations without long-term care set forth in the policy;
 - 2. The portion of the policy that provides life insurance benefits complies with the nonforfeiture requirements of A.R.S. § 20-1231;
 - 3. The policy complies with the disclosure requirements of A.R.S. § 20-1691.06(A) through (E);
 - 4. At the time of making a filing under A.R.S. § 20-1691.08, the insurer files an actuarial memorandum that includes the following information:
 - a. A description of the basis on which the long-term care rates were determined;
 - b. A description of the basis for the reserves;
 - c. A summary of the type of policy, benefits, renewability, general marketing method, and limits on ages of issuance;
 - d. A description and a table of each actuarial assumption used; for expenses, an insurer shall include per- cent of premium dollars per policy and dollars per unit of benefits, if any;

- e. A description and a table of the anticipated policy reserves and additional reserves to be held in each future year for active lives;
 - f. The estimated average annual premium per policy and the average issue age;
 - g. A statement as to whether underwriting is performed, including:
 - i. Time of underwriting;
 - ii. A description of the type of underwriting used, such as medical underwriting or functional assessment underwriting; and
 - iii. For a group policy, whether an enrollee's dependents are subject to underwriting; and
 - h. A description of the effect of the long-term care policy provisions on the required premiums, nonforfeiture values, and reserves on the underlying life insurance policy, both for active lives and those in long-term care claim status.

R20-6-1014. Premium Rate Schedule Increase

- A. This Section applies to any long-term care policy or certificate issued in this state on or after May 10, 2005 and prior to November 10, 2017.
- B. An insurer shall notify the Director of a proposed premium rate schedule increase, including an exceptional increase, at least 60 days before issuing notice to its policyholders. The notice to the Director shall include:
 1. Information required by R20-6-1008;
 2. Certification by a qualified actuary that:
 - a. If the requested premium rate schedule increase is implemented and the underlying assumptions, which reflect moderately adverse conditions, are realized, no further premium rate schedule increases are anticipated;
 - b. The premium rate filing complies with the provisions of this Section; and
 - c. The insurer may request a premium rate schedule increase less than what is required under this Section and the Director may approve the premium rate schedule increase, without submission of the certification required by subsection (B)(2)(a), if the actuarial memorandum discloses the premium rate schedule increase necessary to make the certification required by subsection (B)(2)(a), the premium rate schedule increase filing satisfies all other requirements of this Section, and is, in the opinion of the Director, in the best interest of the policyholders.
 3. An actuarial memorandum justifying the rate schedule change request that includes:
 - a. Lifetime projections of earned premiums and incurred claims based on the filed premium rate schedule increase; and the method and assumptions used in determining the projected values, including the following:
 - i. Any assumptions that deviate from those used for pricing other forms currently available for sale;
 - ii. Annual values for the five years preceding and the three years following the valuation date, provided separately;
 - iii. Development of the lifetime loss ratio, unless the rate increase is an exceptional increase; and
 - iv. A demonstration of compliance with subsection (C).
 - b. For exceptional increases, the actuarial memorandum shall also include:
 - i. The projected experience that is limited to the increases in claims expenses attributable to the approved reasons for the exceptional increase; and
 - ii. If the Director determines under Section R20-6-1002(B)(3) that offsets may exist, the insurer shall use appropriate net projected experience;
 - c. Disclosure of how reserves have been incorporated in this rate increase when the rate increase will trigger contingent benefit upon lapse;
 - d. Disclosure of the analysis performed to determine why a rate adjustment is necessary, which pricing assumptions were not realized and why, and any other actions of the insurer on which the actuary has relied;
 - e. A statement that the actuary has considered policy design, underwriting, and claims adjudication practices;
 - f. Composite rates reflecting projections of new certificates in the event it is necessary to maintain consistent premium rates for new certificates and certificates receiving a rate increase; and
 - g. A demonstration that actual and projected costs exceed costs anticipated at the time of the initial pricing under moderately adverse experience and that the composite margin specified in R20-6-1009(B)(4) is projected to be exhausted;
4. A statement that renewal premium rate schedules are not greater than new business premium rate schedules except for differences attributable to benefits, unless the insurer provides the Director with documentation justifying the greater rate; and
5. Upon the Director's request, other similar and related information the Director may require to evaluate the premium rate schedule increase.
- C. All premium rate schedule increases shall be determined in accordance with the following requirements:
 1. The insurer shall return 70% of the present value of projected additional premiums from an exceptional increase to policyholders in benefits;
 2. The sum of the accumulated value of incurred claims, without the inclusion of active life reserves, and the present value of future projected incurred claims, without the inclusion of active life reserves, shall not be less than the sum of the following:
 - a. The accumulated value of the initial earned premium times 58%;
 - b. 85% of the accumulated value of prior premium rate schedule increases on an earned basis;
 - c. The present value of future projected initial earned premiums times 58%; and

Department of Insurance

- d. 85% of the present value of future projected premiums not in subsection (C)(2)(c) on an earned basis;
3. If a policy form has both exceptional and other increases, the values in subsections (C)(2)(b) and (C)(2)(d) shall also include 70% for exceptional rate increase amounts; and
 4. All present and accumulated values used to determine rate increases shall use the maximum valuation interest rate for contract reserves as specified in the NAIC Accounting Practices and Procedures Manual to which insurers are subject under A.R.S. § 20-223. The actuary shall disclose the use of any appropriate averages in the actuarial memorandum required under subsection (B)(3).
- D. For each rate increase that is implemented, the insurer shall file for approval by the Director updated projections, as defined in subsection (B)(3)(a), annually for the next three years and shall include a comparison of actual results to projected values. The Director may extend the period to greater than three years if actual results are not consistent with projected values from prior projections. For group insurance policies that meet the conditions in subsection (M), the insurer shall provide the projections required by this subsection to the policyholder in lieu of filing with the Director.
- E. If any premium rate in the revised premium rate schedule is greater than 200% of the comparable rate in the initial premium schedule, the insurer shall file lifetime projections, as defined in subsection (B)(3)(a), for the Director's approval every five years following the end of the required period in subsection (D). For group insurance policies that meet the conditions in subsection (M), the insurer shall provide the projections required by this subsection to the policyholder instead of filing with the Director.
- F. If the Director finds that the actual experience following a rate increase does not adequately match the projected experience and that the current projections under moderately adverse conditions demonstrate that incurred claims will not exceed proportions of premiums specified in subsection (C), the Director may require the insurer to implement premium rate schedule adjustments or other measures to reduce the difference between the projected and actual experience. In determining whether the actual experience matches the projected experience, the Director shall consider subsection (B)(3)(f), if applicable.
- G. If the majority of the policies or certificates to which the increase applies are eligible for the contingent benefit upon lapse, the insurer shall file:
1. A plan, subject to Director approval, for improved administration or claims processing designed to eliminate the potential for further deterioration of the policy form experience requiring further premium rate schedule increases, or both, or to demonstrate that appropriate administration and claims processing have been implemented or are in effect; otherwise the Director may impose the conditions in subsections (H) through (J); and
 2. The original anticipated lifetime loss ratio, and the premium rate schedule increase that would have been calculated according to subsection (C) had the greater of the original anticipated lifetime loss ratio or 58% been used in the calculations described in subsections (C)(2)(a) and (C)(2)(c).
- H. For a rate increase filing that meets the criteria listed in this subsection, the Director shall review, for all policies included in the filing, the projected lapse rates and past lapse rates during the 12 months following each increase to determine if lapsation in excess of projected lapsation has occurred or is anticipated:
1. The rate increase is not the first rate increase requested for the specific policy form or forms,
 2. The rate increase is not an exceptional increase, and
 3. The majority of the policies or certificates to which the increase applies are eligible for the contingent benefit upon lapse.
- I. If the Director finds excess lapsation under subsection (H) has occurred, is anticipated in the filing or is evidenced in the actual results as presenting in the updated projections provided by the insurer following the requested rate increase, the Director may find that a rate spiral exists and may require the insurer to offer, without underwriting, to all in-force insureds subject to the rate increase, the option to replace existing coverage with one or more reasonably comparable products being offered by the insurer or its affiliates. The information communicating the offer is subject to the Director's approval. The offer shall:
1. Be based on actuarially sound principles, but not on attained age;
 2. Provide that maximum benefits under any new policy accepted by an insured shall be reduced by comparable benefits already paid under the existing policy; and
 3. Allow the insured the option of retaining the existing coverage.
- J. The insurer shall maintain the experience of the insureds whose coverage was replaced under subsection (I) separate from the experience of insureds originally issued the policy forms. If the insurer requests a rate increase on the policy form, the rate increase shall be limited to the lesser of:
1. The maximum rate increase determined based on the combined experience; and
 2. The maximum rate increase determined based only on the experience of the insureds originally issued the form, plus 10%.
- K. If the Director finds that an insurer has exhibited a history or pattern of filing inadequate initial premium rates for long-term care insurance, after considering the total number of policies filed over a period of time and the percentage of policies with inadequate rates, the Director may, in addition to remedies available under subsections (H) through (J), prohibit the insurer from the following:
1. Filing and marketing comparable coverage for a period of up to five years, and
 2. Offering all other similar coverages and limiting marketing of new applications to the products subject to recent premium rate schedule increases.
- L. Subsections (A) through (K) shall not apply to a policy for which long-term care benefits provided by the policy are incidental, as defined under R20-6-1002(C), if the policy complies with all of the following provisions:
1. The interest credited internally to determine cash value accumulations, including long-term care, if any, are guaranteed not to be less than the minimum guaranteed interest rate for cash value accumulations without long-term care set forth in the policy;
 2. The portion of the policy that provides insurance benefits other than long-term care coverage meets the applicable nonforfeiture requirements under state law, including A.R.S. §§ 20-1231, 20-1232 and 20-2636;
 3. The policy meets the disclosure requirements of A.R.S. § 20-1691.06;
 4. The portion of the policy that provides insurance benefits other than long-term care coverage meets the disclosure requirements as applicable in the following:
 - a. A.R.S. Title 20, Chapter 6, Article 1.2; and
 - b. A.R.S. Title 20, Chapter 16, Article 2;

5. At the time of making a filing under A.R.S. § 20-1691.08, the insurer files an actuarial memorandum that includes:
 - a. Description of the bases on which the actuary determined the long-term care rates and the reserves;
 - b. A summary of the type of policy, benefits, renewability provisions, general marketing method, and limits on ages of issuance;
 - c. A description and a table of each actuarial assumption used, with the percent of premium dollars per policy and dollars per unit of benefits, if any, for expenses;
 - d. A description and a table of the anticipated policy reserves and additional reserves to be held in each future year for active lives;
 - e. The estimated average annual premium per policy and the average issue age;
 - f. A statement as to whether the insurer performs underwriting at the time of application with an explanation of the following:
 - i. Whether underwriting is used, and if used, a description of the type of underwriting, such as medical underwriting or functional assessment underwriting; and
 - ii. For a group policy, whether the enrollee or any dependent will be underwritten and when underwriting occurs; and
 - g. A description of the effect of the long-term care policy provision on the required premiums, nonforfeiture values, and reserves on the underlying insurance policy, both for active lives and those in long-term care claim status.
- M. Subsections (F) and (H) through (J) shall not apply to group insurance as defined in A.R.S. § 20-1691(6) where:
1. The policies insure 250 or more persons and the policyholder has 5,000 or more eligible employees of a single employer; or
 2. The policyholder, and not the certificateholder, pays a material portion of the premium, which shall not be less than 20% of the total premium for the group in the calendar year prior to the year a rate increase is filed.

R20-6-1015. Premium Rate Schedule Increases for Policies Subject to Loss Ratio Limits Related to Original Filings

- A. This Section applies to any long-term care policy or certificate issued in this state on or after November 10, 2017.
 - B. An insurer shall notify the Director of a proposed premium rate schedule increase, including an exceptional increase, at least 60 days before issuing notice to its policyholders. The notice to the Director shall include:
 1. Information required by R20-6-1008;
 2. Certification by a qualified actuary that:
 - a. If the requested premium rate schedule increase is implemented and the underlying assumptions, which reflect moderately adverse conditions, are realized, no further premium rate schedule increases are anticipated;
 - b. The premium rate filing complies with the provisions of this Section; and
 - c. The insurer may request a premium rate schedule increase less than what is required under this Section and the Director may approve the premium rate schedule increase, without submission of the certification required by subsection (B)(2)(a), if the actuarial memorandum discloses the premium rate schedule increase necessary to make the certification required by subsection (B)(2)(a), the premium rate schedule increase filing satisfies all other requirements of this Section, and is, in the opinion of the Director, in the best interest of the policyholders.
3. An actuarial memorandum justifying the rate schedule change request that includes:
- a. Lifetime projections of earned premiums and incurred claims based on the filed premium rate schedule increase; and the method and assumptions used in determining the projected values, including the following:
 - i. Any assumptions that deviate from those used for pricing other forms currently available for sale;
 - ii. Annual values for the five years preceding and the three years following the valuation date, provided separately;
 - iii. Development of the lifetime loss ratio, unless the rate increase is an exceptional increase; and
 - iv. A demonstration of compliance with subsection (C).
 - b. For exceptional increases, the actuarial memorandum shall also include:
 - i. The projected experience that is limited to the increases in claims expenses attributable to the approved reasons for the exceptional increase; and
 - ii. If the Director determines under Section R20-6-1002(B)(3) that offsets may exist, the insurer shall use appropriate net projected experience;
 - c. Disclosure of how reserves have been incorporated in this rate increase when the rate increase will trigger contingent benefit upon lapse;
 - d. Disclosure of the analysis performed to determine why a rate adjustment is necessary, which pricing assumptions were not realized and why, and any other actions of the insurer on which the actuary has relied;
 - e. A statement that the actuary has considered policy design, underwriting, and claims adjudication practices;
 - f. Composite rates reflecting projections of new certificates in the event it is necessary to maintain consistent premium rates for new certificates and certificates receiving a rate increase; and
 - g. A demonstration that actual and projected costs exceed costs anticipated at the time of the initial pricing under moderately adverse experience and that the composite margin specified in R20-6-1009(B)(4) is projected to be exhausted.
4. A statement that renewal premium rate schedules are not greater than new business premium rate schedules except for differences attributable to benefits, unless the insurer provides the Director with documentation justifying the greater rate; and

Department of Insurance

5. Upon the Director's request, other similar and related information the Director may require to evaluate the premium rate schedule increase.
- C. All premium rate schedule increases shall be determined in accordance with the following requirements:
1. Exceptional increases shall provide that 70% of the present value of projected additional premiums from the exceptional increase will be returned to policyholders in benefits;
 2. The insurer shall calculate premium rate increases such that the sum of the lesser of either the accumulated value of the actual incurred claims (without the inclusion of active life reserves) or the accumulated value of historic expected claims (without the inclusion of active life reserves) plus the present value of the future expected incurred claims (projected without the inclusion of active life reserves) will not be less than the sum of the following:
 - a. The accumulated value of the initial earned premium times the greater of 58% or the lifetime loss ratio consistent with the original filing including margins for moderately adverse experience;
 - b. 85% of the accumulated value of prior premium rate schedule increases on an earned basis;
 - c. The present value of future projected initial earned premiums times the greater of 58% or the lifetime loss ratio consistent with the original filing including margins for moderately adverse experience; and
 - d. 85% of the present value of future projected premiums not in subsection (C)(2)(c) on an earned basis;
 3. Historic expected claims shall be calculated based on the original filing assumptions assumed until new assumptions are filed as part of a rate increase. New assumptions shall be used for all periods beyond each requested effective date of a rate increase. Historic expected claims are calculated for each calendar year based on the in-force at the beginning of the calendar year. Historic expected claims shall include margins for moderately adverse experience; either amounts included in the claims that were used to determine the lifetime loss ratio consistent with the original filing or as modified in any rate increase filing;
 4. In the event that a policy form has both exceptional and other increases, the values in subsections (C)(2)(b) and (C)(2)(d) will also include 70% for exceptional rate increase amounts; and
 5. All present and accumulated values used to determine rate increases, including the lifetime loss ratio consistent with the original filing reflecting margins for moderately adverse experience, shall use the maximum valuation interest rate for contract reserves as specified in A.R.S. § 20-508. The actuary shall disclose as part of the actuarial memorandum the use of any appropriate averages.
- D. For each rate increase that is implemented, the insurer shall file for approval by the Director updated projections, as defined in subsection (B)(3)(a), annually for the next three years and shall include a comparison of actual results to projected values. The Director may extend the reporting period beyond three years if actual results are not consistent with projected values from prior projections. For group insurance policies that meet the conditions in subsection (M), the projections required by this subsection shall be provided to the policyholder in lieu of filing with the Director.
- E. If any premium rate in the revised premium rate schedule is greater than 200% of the comparable rate in the initial premium schedule, the insurer shall file lifetime projections, as defined in subsection (B)(3)(a), for the Director's approval every five years following the end of the required period in subsection (D). For group insurance policies that meet the conditions in subsection (M), the insurer shall provide the projections required by this subsection to the policyholder instead of filing with the Director.
- F. If the Director finds that the actual experience following a rate increase does not adequately match the projected experience and that the current projections under moderately adverse conditions demonstrate that incurred claims will not exceed proportions of premiums specified in subsection (C), the Director may require the insurer to implement premium rate schedule adjustments or other measures to reduce the difference between the projected and actual experience. In determining whether the actual experience matches the projected experience, the Director shall consider subsection (B)(3)(f), if applicable.
- G. If the majority of policies or certificates to which the increase is applicable are eligible for the contingent benefit upon lapse, the insurer shall file a plan, subject to approval by the Director, for improved administration or claims processing designed to eliminate the potential for further deterioration of the policy form experience requiring further premium rate schedule increases, or both, or to demonstrate that appropriate administration and claims processing have been implemented or are in effect. Otherwise, the Director may impose the conditions in subsections (H) through (J).
- H. For a rate increase filing that meets the criteria listed in this subsection, the Director shall review, for all policies included in the filing, the projected lapse rates and past lapse rates during the 12 months following each increase to determine if lapsation in excess of projected lapsation has occurred or is anticipated:
 1. The rate increase is not the first rate increase requested for the specific policy form or forms;
 2. The rate increase is not an exceptional increase; and
 3. The majority of the policies or certificates to which the increase applies are eligible for the contingent benefit upon lapse.
- I. If the Director finds excess lapsation under subsection (H) has occurred, is anticipated in the filing or is evidenced in the actual results as presenting in the updated projections provided by the insurer following the requested rate increase, the Director may find that a rate spiral exists and may require the insurer to offer, without underwriting, to all in-force insureds subject to the rate increase, the option to replace existing coverage with one or more reasonably comparable products being offered by the insurer or its affiliates. The information communicating the offer is subject to the Director's approval. The offer shall:
 1. Be based on actuarially sound principles, but not on attained age; and
 2. Provide that maximum benefits under any new policy accepted by an insured shall be reduced by comparable benefits already paid under the existing policy; and
 3. Allow the insured the option of retaining the existing coverage.
- J. The insurer shall maintain the experience of the insureds whose coverage was replaced under subsection (I) separate from the experience of insureds originally issued the policy forms. If the insurer requests a rate increase on the policy form, the rate increase shall be limited to the lesser of:
 1. The maximum rate increase determined based on the combined experience; and

Department of Insurance

2. The maximum rate increase determined based only on the experience of the insureds originally issued the form, plus 10%.
- K. If the Director finds that an insurer has exhibited a history or pattern of filing inadequate initial premium rates for long-term care insurance, after considering the total number of policies filed over a period of time and the percentage of policies with inadequate rates, the Director may, in addition to remedies available under subsections (H) through (J), prohibit the insurer from the following:
1. Filing and marketing comparable coverage for a period of up to five years; and
 2. Offering all other similar coverages and limiting marketing of new applications to the products subject to recent premium rate schedule increases.
- L. Subsections (A) through (K) shall not apply to a policy for which long-term care benefits provided by the policy are incidental, as defined under R20-6-1002(C), if the policy complies with all of the following provisions:
1. The interest credited internally to determine cash value accumulations, including long-term care, if any, are guaranteed not to be less than the minimum guaranteed interest rate for cash value accumulations without long-term care set forth in the policy;
 2. The portion of the policy that provides insurance benefits other than long-term care coverage meets the applicable nonforfeiture requirements under state law, including A.R.S. §§ 20-1231, 20-1232 and 20-2636;
 3. The policy meets the disclosure requirements of A.R.S. § 20-1691.06;
 4. The portion of the policy that provides insurance benefits other than long-term care coverage meets the disclosure requirements as applicable in the following:
 - a. A.R.S. Title 20, Chapter 6, Article 1.2; and
 - b. A.R.S. Title 20, Chapter 16, Article 2.
 5. At the time of making a filing under A.R.S. § 20-1691.08, the insurer files an actuarial memorandum that includes:
 - a. Description of the bases on which the actuary determined the long-term care rates and the reserves;
 - b. A summary of the type of policy, benefits, renewability provisions, general marketing method, and limits on ages of issuance;
 - c. A description and a table of each actuarial assumption used, with the percent of premium dollars per policy and dollars per unit of benefits, if any, for expenses;
 - d. A description and a table of the anticipated policy reserves and additional reserves to be held in each future year for active lives;
 - e. The estimated average annual premium per policy and the average issue age;
 - f. A statement as to whether the insurer performs underwriting at the time of application with an explanation of the following:
 - i. Whether underwriting is used, and if used, a description of the type of underwriting, such as medical underwriting or functional assessment underwriting; and
 - ii. For a group policy, whether the enrollee or any dependent will be underwritten and when underwriting occurs; and
 - g. A description of the effect of the long-term care policy provision on the required premiums, nonforfeiture values, and reserves on the underlying insurance policy, both for active lives and those in long-term care claim status.
- M. Subsections (F) and (H) through (J) shall not apply to group insurance as defined in A.R.S. § 20-1691(6) where:
1. The policies insure 250 or more persons and the policyholder has 5,000 or more eligible employees of a single employer; or
 2. The policyholder, and not the certificateholder, pays a material portion of the premium, which shall not be less than 20% of the total premium for the group in the calendar year prior to the year a rate increase is filed.

Before an insurer or similar organization may offer group long-term care insurance to a resident of this state under A.R.S. § 20-1691.02(D), the insurer or organization shall file with the Director evidence that a state with statutory or regulatory long-term care insurance requirements substantially similar to those of this state has approved the group policy or certificate for use in that state.

 2. Display prominently by type, stamp or other appropriate means, on the first page of the outline of coverage and policy, the following language: "Notice to buyer: This policy may not cover all of the costs associated with long-term care incurred by the buyer during the period of coverage. R20-6-1018. Suitability

- A. This Section does not apply to life insurance policies that accelerate benefits for long-term care.
- B. Every insurer or other person marketing long-term care insurance, including an insurance producer or managing general agent, (the “issuer”) shall:
 1. Develop and use suitability standards to determine whether the purchase or replacement of long-term care insurance is appropriate for the needs of the applicant,
 2. Train its insurance producers in the use of its suitability standards, and
 3. Maintain a copy of its suitability standards and make them available for inspection upon the Director’s request.
- C. To determine whether an applicant meets an issuer’s suitability standards, the insurance producer and issuer shall develop procedures that take the following into consideration:
 1. The applicant’s ability to pay for the proposed coverage and other pertinent financial information related to the purchase of the coverage;
 2. The applicant’s goals or needs with respect to long-term care and the advantages and disadvantages of insurance to meet these goals or needs; and
 3. The values, benefits, and costs of the applicant’s existing insurance, if any, when compared to the values, benefits, and costs of the recommended purchase or replacement.
- D. The issuer shall make reasonable efforts to obtain the information set out in subsection (C), including giving the applicant the “Long-Term Care Insurance Personal Worksheet” prescribed in Appendix A, to complete before or at the time of application. The issuer shall use a personal worksheet that contains, at a minimum, the information contained in Appendix A, in substantially the same text and format, in not less than 12 point type. The issuer may ask the applicant to provide additional information to comply with its suitability standards. An issuer shall file a copy of its personal worksheet with the Director.

- E. An issuer shall not consider an applicant for coverage until the issuer has received the applicant’s completed personal worksheet, except the personal worksheet need not be returned for sales of employer group long-term care insurance to employees and their spouses.
- F. No one shall sell or disseminate information obtained through the personal worksheet outside the issuer that obtains the worksheet.
- G. The issuer shall use its suitability standards to determine whether issuance of long-term care insurance coverage to a particular applicant is appropriate.
- H. An insurance producer shall use the suitability standards developed by the issuer in marketing long-term care insurance.
- I. When giving an applicant a personal worksheet, the issuer shall also provide the applicant with a disclosure form entitled “Things You Should Know Before You Buy Long-Term Care Insurance.” The form shall be in substantially the same format and text contained in Appendix H, in not less than 12 point type.
- J. If the issuer determines that the applicant does not meet its financial suitability standards, or if the applicant has declined to provide the information, the issuer may reject the application. In the alternative, the issuer shall send the applicant a letter that is substantially similar to Appendix I. However, if the applicant has declined to provide financial information, the issuer may use some other method to verify the applicant’s intent to purchase the long-term care policy. The issuer shall have either the applicant’s returned Appendix I letter or a record of the alternative method of verification as part of the applicant’s file.
- K. The issuer shall report annually to the Director the total number of applications received from residents of this state, the number of those who declined to provide information on the personal worksheet, the number of applicants who did not meet the suitability standards, and the number of those who chose to confirm after receiving a suitability letter as prescribed in subsection (J).

- B. To comply with the requirement to offer a nonforfeiture benefit pursuant to the provisions of A.R.S. § 20-1691.11, an insurer shall meet the following requirements:
 1. A policy or certificate offered with nonforfeiture benefits shall have the same coverage elements, eligibility, benefit triggers and benefit length as a policy or certificate issued without nonforfeiture benefits. The nonforfeiture benefit included in the offer shall be the benefit described in subsection (E); and
 2. The offer shall be in writing if the nonforfeiture benefit is not otherwise described in the Outline of Coverage or other materials given to the prospective policyholder.

Department of Insurance

C. If the offer required to be made under A.R.S. § 20-1691.11 is rejected, the insurer shall provide the contingent benefit upon lapse described in this Section. Even if the non-forfeiture benefit offer is accepted for a policy with a fixed or limited premium paying period, the contingent benefit on lapse in subsection (D)(4) shall still apply.

D. Contingent Benefit Upon Lapse.

1. If a prospective policyholder rejects the offer of a nonforfeiture benefit, the insurer shall provide the contingent benefit upon lapse described in this Section for individual and group policies without the nonforfeiture benefit, issued after January 10, 2005.
2. If a group policyholder elects to make the nonforfeiture benefit an option to a certificateholder, the certificate shall provide either the nonforfeiture benefit or the contingent benefit upon lapse.
3. The contingent benefit on lapse is triggered when:
 - a. An insurer increases the premium rates to a level that results in a cumulative increase of the annual premium equal to or exceeding the percentage of the insured's initial annual premium set forth in the chart below, based on the insured's issue age; and
 - b. The policy or certificate lapses within 120 days of the due date of the increased premium.
 - c. Unless otherwise required, an insurer shall notify policyholders at least 30 days before the due date of the premium reflecting the rate increase.

5. On or before the effective date of a substantial premium increase as defined in subsection (D)(3), an insurer shall:
 - a. Offer the insured the option of reducing policy benefits under the current coverage consistent with the requirements of R20-6-1025 so that required premium payments are not increased;
 - b. Offer to convert the coverage to a paid-up status with a shortened benefit period according to the terms of subsection (E), which the insured may elect at any time during the 120-day period referenced in subsection (D)(3); and
 - c. Notify the policyholder or certificateholder that a default or lapse at any time during the 120-day period referenced in subsection (D)(3) is deemed to be the election of the offer to convert under subsection (5)(b) unless the automatic option in subsection (D)(6)(c) applies.
6. On or before the effective date of a substantial premium increase on policies with a fixed or limited premium paying period as defined in subsection (D)(4), an insurer shall:
 - a. Offer the insured the option of reducing policy benefits under the current coverage consistent with the requirements of R20-6-1025 so that required premium payments are not increased;

- b. Offer to convert the coverage to paid-up status where the amount payable for each benefit is 90% of the amount payable in effect immediately prior to lapse times the ratio of the number of completed months of paid premiums divided by the number of months in the premium paying period. The insured may elect this option at any time during the 120-day period referenced in subsection (D)(4); and
- c. Notify the policyholder or certificateholder that a default or lapse at any time during the 120-day period referenced in subsection (D)(4) is deemed to be the election of the offer to convert under subsection (D)(6)(b) if the ratio is 40% or more.
7. For any long-term care policy issued on or after November 10, 2017, that an insurer issued at least 20 years prior to the effective date of a substantial premium increase, the insurer shall use a rate increase value of 0% in place of all values in the above tables.
- E. Benefits continued as nonforfeiture benefits, including contingent benefits upon lapse in accordance with subsection (D)(3) but not subsection (D)(4), mean any of the following:
1. Attained age rating is defined as a schedule of premiums starting from the issue date that increases age at least 1% per year before age 50, and at least 3% per year beyond age 50.
 2. For purposes of this subsection, the nonforfeiture benefit shall be of a shortened benefit period providing paid-up long-term care insurance coverage after lapse. The same benefits (amounts and frequency in effect at the time of lapse but not increased thereafter) will be payable for a qualifying claim, but the lifetime maximum dollars or days of benefits shall be determined as specified in subsection (E)(3).
 3. The standard nonforfeiture credit equals 100% of the sum of all premiums paid, including the premiums paid before any change in benefits. The insurer may offer additional shortened benefit period options, as long as the benefits for each duration equal or exceed the standard nonforfeiture credit for that duration. The minimum nonforfeiture credit shall not be less than 30 times the daily nursing home benefit at the time of lapse. In either event, the calculation of the nonforfeiture credit is subject to the limitation of subsection (F).
 4. When the nonforfeiture benefit begins.
 - a. The nonforfeiture benefit shall begin not later than the end of the third year following the policy or certificate issue date. The contingent benefit upon lapse shall be effective during the first three years, and thereafter.
 - b. Notwithstanding subsection (E)(4)(a), for a policy or certificate with attained age rating, the nonforfeiture benefit shall begin on the earlier of:
 - i. The end of the tenth year following the policy or certificate issue date, or
 - ii. The end of the second year following the date the policy or certificate is no longer subject to attained age rating.
 5. Nonforfeiture credits may be used for all care and services qualifying for benefits under the terms of the policy or certificate, up to the limits specified in the policy or certificate.
- F. All benefits paid by the insurer while the policy or certificate is in premium-paying status and in the paid-up status shall not exceed the maximum benefits that would be payable if the policy or certificate had remained in premium-paying status.
- G. There shall be no difference in the minimum nonforfeiture benefits for group and individual policies.
- H. The requirements in this Section are effective on or after November 10, 2005 and shall apply as follows:
1. Except as provided in subsection (H)(2) and (H)(3), this Section applies to any long-term care policy issued in this state on or after January 10, 2005.
 2. The provisions of this Section do not apply to certificates issued on or after January 10, 2005, under a group long-term care insurance policy as defined in A.R.S. § 20-1691(5)(a), that was in force on January 10, 2005.
 3. The provisions of this Section that apply to fixed or limited premium paying period policies shall only apply to policies issued on or after November 10, 2017.
- I. Premiums charged for a policy or certificate containing nonforfeiture benefits or a contingent benefit on lapse shall be subject to the loss ratio requirements of R20-6-1013, R20-6-1014 or R20-6-1015, whichever is applicable, treating the policy as a whole.
- J. To determine whether contingent nonforfeiture upon lapse provisions are triggered under subsection (D)(3) or (D)(4), a replacing insurer that purchased or otherwise assumed a block or blocks of long-term care insurance policies from another insurer shall calculate the percentage increase based on the initial annual premium the insured paid when first buying the policy from the original insurer.
- K. An insurer shall offer a nonforfeiture benefit for a qualified long-term care insurance contract that is a level premium contract and the benefit shall meet the following requirements:
1. The nonforfeiture provision shall be separately captioned using the term "nonforfeiture benefit" or a substantially similar caption;
 2. The nonforfeiture provision shall provide a benefit available in the event of a default in the payment of any premiums and shall state that the insurer may adjust the amount of the benefit initially granted only as needed to reflect changes in claims, persistency, and interest as reflected in changes in rates for premium paying contracts approved by the Director under to A.R.S. § 20-1691.08 for the same contract form; and
 3. The nonforfeiture provision shall provide at least one of the following:
 - a. Reduced paid-up premiums,
 - b. Extended term insurance,
 - c. Shortened benefit period, or
 - d. Other similar offerings that the Director has approved.

- C. Licensed health care practitioners shall perform the certified determinations regarding activities of daily living and cognitive impairment required under subsection (B).

R20-6-1024. Availability of New Health Care Services or Providers

- A. An insurer shall notify policyholders of the availability of a new long-term policy series that provides coverage for new long-term care services or health care providers material in nature and not previously available through the insurer to the general public. The notice shall be provided within 12 months of the date the new policy series is made available for sale in this state.
- B. Notwithstanding subsection (A), notification is not required for any policy issued prior to the effective date of this Section or to any policyholder or certificateholder who is currently eligible for benefits, within an elimination period or on a claim, or who previously had been in claim status, or who would not be eligible to apply for coverage due to issue age limitations under the new policy. The insurer may require that policyholders meet all eligibility requirements, including underwriting and payment of the required premium to add such new services or providers.
- C. The insurer shall make the new coverage available in one of the following ways:
1. By adding a rider to the existing policy and charging a separate premium for the new rider based on the insured's attained age:

2. By exchanging the existing policy or certificate for one with an issue age based on the present age of the insured and recognizing past insured status by granting premium credits toward the premiums for the new policy or certificate. The premium credits shall be based on premiums paid or reserves held for the prior policy or certificate;
 3. By exchanging the existing policy or certificate for a new policy or certificate in which consideration for past insured status shall be recognized by setting the premium for the new policy or certificate at the issue age of the policy or certificate being exchanged. The cost for the new policy or certificate may recognize the difference in reserves between the new policy or certificate and the original policy or certificate; or
 4. By an alternative program developed by the insurer that meets the intent of this Section if the program is filed with and approved by the Director.
- D. An insurer is not required to notify policyholders of a new proprietary policy series created and filed for use in a limited distribution channel. For purposes of this subsection, "limited distribution channel" means through a discrete entity, such as a financial institution or brokerage, for which specialized products are available that are not available for sale to the general public. Policyholders who purchased such a new proprietary policy shall be notified when a new long-term care policy series that provides coverage for new long-term care services or providers material in nature is made available to that limited distribution channel.
- E. Policies issued pursuant to this Section shall be considered exchanges and not replacements. These exchanges shall not be subject to R20-6-1010(A), (C) through (G) and R20-6-1018 and are not subject to the reporting requirements of R20-6-1010(I)(1), (I)(2)(a) through (I)(2)(c).
- F. Where an employer, labor organization, professional, trade or occupational association offers the policy, the required notification in subsection (A) shall be made to the offering entity. However, if the policy is issued to a group defined in A.R.S. § 20-1691(5), the notification shall be to each certificateholder.
- G. Nothing in this Section shall prohibit an insurer from offering any policy, rider, certificate or coverage change to any policyholder or certificateholder. However, upon request, any policyholder may apply for currently available coverage that includes the new services or providers. The insurer may require that policyholders meet all eligibility requirements, including underwriting and payment of the required premium, to add such new services or providers.

- I. This Section shall become effective on or after November 10, 2017.

- B. The insurer may also offer other reduction options that are consistent with the policy or certificate design or the carrier's administrative processes.
- C. In the event the reduction in coverage involves the reduction or elimination of the inflation protection provision, the insurer shall allow the policyholder to continue the benefit amount in effect at the time of the reduction.
- D. The provision in subsection (A) shall include a description of the process for requesting and implementing a reduction in coverage.
- E. The premium for the reduced coverage shall:
1. Be based on the same age and underwriting class used to determine the premium for the coverage currently in force, and
 2. Be consistent with the approved rate table.
- F. The issuer may limit any reduction in coverage to plans or options available for that policy form and to those for which benefits will be available after consideration of claims paid or payable.
- G. If a policy or certificate is about to lapse, the insurer shall provide a written reminder to the policyholder or certificateholder of his or her right to reduce coverage and premiums in the notice required by R20-6-1005(F).
- H. This Section does not apply to life insurance policies or riders containing accelerated long-term benefits.
- I. The requirements of subsections (A) through (H) shall apply to any long-term care policy issued in this state on or after November 10, 2017.

1. An offer to reduce policy benefits provided by the current coverage consistent with the requirements of this Section;
 2. A disclosure stating that all options available to the policyholder may not be of equal value; and
 3. In the case of a partnership policy, a disclosure that some benefit reduction options may result in a loss in partnership status that may reduce policyholder protections.
- K. The requirements of subsection (J) shall apply to any rate increase implemented in this state on or after November 10, 2017.

Personal Worksheet

People buy long-term care insurance for many reasons. Some don't want to use their own assets to pay for long-term care. Some buy insurance to make sure they can choose the type of care they get. Others don't want their family to have to pay for care or don't want to go on Medicaid. But long-term care insurance may be expensive, and may not be right for everyone.

By state law, the insurance company must fill out part of the information on this worksheet and ask you to fill out the rest to help you and the company decide if you should buy this policy.

Appendix B. Long-term Care Insurance Potential Rate Increase Disclosure Form

Instructions:

This form provides information to the applicant regarding premium rate schedules, rate schedule adjustments, potential rate revisions, and policyholder options in the event of a rate increase.

Insurers shall provide all of the following information to the applicant:

Long-term Care Insurance Potential Rate Increase Disclosure Form

1. [Premium Rate] [Premium Rate Schedules]: [Premium rate] [Premium rate schedules] that [is][are] applicable to you and that will be in effect until a request is made and [approved] for an increase [is][are] [on the application][($_____)]
2. The [premium] [premium rate schedule] for this policy [will be shown on the schedule page of] [will be attached to] your policy.

3. Rate Schedule Adjustments:

The company will provide a description of when premium rate or rate schedule adjustments will be effective (e.g., next anniversary date, next billing date, etc.) (fill in the blank): _____.

4. Potential Rate Revisions:

This policy is Guaranteed Renewable. This means that the rates for this product may be increased in the future. Your rates can NOT be increased due to your increasing age or declining health, but your rates may go up based on the experience of all policyholders with a policy similar to yours.

If you receive a premium rate or premium rate schedule increase in the future, you will be notified of the new premium amount and you will be able to exercise at least one of the following options:

- Pay the increased premium and continue your policy in force as is.
- Reduce your policy benefits to a level such that your premiums will not increase. (Subject to state law minimum standards.)
- Exercise your nonforfeiture option if purchased. (This option is available for purchase for an additional premium.)
- Exercise your contingent nonforfeiture rights.* (This option may be available if you do not purchase a separate nonforfeiture option.)

Contingent Nonforfeiture

If the premium rate for your policy goes up in the future and you didn't buy a nonforfeiture option, you may be eligible for contingent nonforfeiture. Here's how to tell if you are eligible:

You will keep some long-term care insurance coverage, if:

- Your premium after the increase exceeds your original premium by the percentage shown (or more) in the following table; and
- You lapse (not pay more premiums) within 120 days of the increase.

The amount of coverage (i.e., new lifetime maximum benefit amount) you will keep will equal the total amount of premiums you have paid since your policy was first issued. If you have already received benefits under the policy, so that the remaining maximum benefit amount is less than the total amount of premiums you've paid, the amount of coverage will be that remaining amount.

Except for this reduced lifetime maximum benefit amount, all other policy benefits will remain at the levels attained at the time of the lapse and will not increase thereafter.

Should you choose this Contingent Nonforfeiture option, your policy, with this reduced maximum benefit amount, will be considered "paid-up" with no further premiums due.

Example:

- You bought the policy at age 65 and paid the $1,000 annual premium for 10 years, so you have paid a total of $10,000 in premium.
- In the eleventh year, you receive a rate increase of 50%, or $500 for a new annual premium of $1,500, and you decide to lapse the policy (not pay any more premiums).
- Your "paid-up" policy benefits are $10,000 (provided you have a least $10,000 of benefits remaining under your policy.)

Appendix C. Notice to Applicant Regarding Replacement of Individual Health or Long-term Care InsuranceNOTICE TO APPLICANT REGARDING REPLACEMENT OF INDIVIDUAL HEALTH OR LONG-TERM CARE INSURANCE*[Insurance company's name and address]*SAVE THIS NOTICE! IT MAY BE IMPORTANT TO YOU IN THE FUTURE.

According to [your application] [information you have furnished], you intend to lapse or otherwise terminate existing health or long-term care insurance and replace it with an individual long-term care insurance policy to be issued by [company name] Insurance Company. Your new policy provides thirty (30) days within which you may decide, without cost, whether you desire to keep the policy. For your own information and protection, you should be aware of and seriously consider certain factors which may affect the insurance protection available to you under the new policy.

You should review this new coverage carefully, comparing it with all health or long-term care insurance coverage you now have, and terminate your present policy only if, after due consideration, you find that purchase of this long-term care coverage is a wise decision.

STATEMENT TO APPLICANT BY [INSURANCE PRODUCER OR OTHER REPRESENTATIVE]:

Use additional sheets, as necessary.)

I have reviewed your current medical or health insurance coverage. I believe the replacement of insurance involved in this transaction materially improves your position. My conclusion has taken into account the following considerations which I call to your attention:

1. Health conditions that you may presently have (preexisting conditions), may not be immediately or fully covered under your new policy. This could result in denial or delay in payment of benefits under the new policy, whereas a similar claim might have been payable under your present policy.
2. State law provides that your replacement policy or certificate may not contain new preexisting conditions or probationary periods. The insurer will waive any time periods applicable to preexisting conditions or probationary periods in the new policy (or coverage) for similar benefits to the extent such time was spent (depleted) under the original policy.
3. If you are replacing existing long-term care insurance coverage, you may wish to secure the advice of your present insurer or its agent regarding the proposed replacement of your present policy. This is not only your right, but it is also in your best interest to make sure you understand all of the relevant factors involved in replacing your present coverage.
4. If, after due consideration, you still wish to terminate your present policy and replace it with new coverage, be certain to truthfully and completely answer all questions on the application concerning your medical health history. Failure to include all material medical information on an application may provide a basis for the company to deny any future claims and to refund your premium as though your policy had never been in force. After the application has been completed and before you sign it, reread it carefully to be certain that all information has been properly recorded.

Appendix D. Notice to Applicant Regarding Replacement of Health or Long-term Care InsuranceNOTICE TO APPLICANT REGARDING REPLACEMENT OF HEALTH OR LONG-TERM CARE INSURANCE*[Insurance company's name and address]*SAVE THIS NOTICE! IT MAY BE IMPORTANT TO YOU IN THE FUTURE

According to [your application] [information you have furnished], you intend to lapse or otherwise terminate existing health or long-term care insurance and replace it with the long-term care insurance policy being delivered and issued by [company name] Insurance Company. Your new policy gives you thirty (30) days to decide, without cost, whether you want to keep the policy. For your own information and protection, you should be aware of and seriously consider certain factors which may affect the insurance protection available to you under the new policy.

You should review this new coverage carefully, comparing it with all health or long-term care insurance coverage you now have, and terminate your present policy only if, after due consideration, you find that purchase of this long-term care coverage is a wise decision.

1. Health conditions which you may presently have (preexisting conditions), may not be immediately or fully covered under the new policy. This could result in denial or delay in payment of benefits under the new policy, even though a similar claim might have been payable under your present policy.

The insurer will waive any time periods applicable to preexisting conditions or probationary periods in the new policy (or coverage) for similar benefits to the extent such time was spent (depleted) under the original policy.
3. If you are replacing existing long-term care insurance coverage, you may wish to secure the advice of your present insurer or its insurance producer regarding the proposed replacement of your present policy. This is not only your right, but it is also in your best interest to make sure you understand all the relevant factors involved in replacing your present coverage.
4. [To be included only if the application is attached to the policy.] If, after due consideration, you still wish to terminate your present policy and replace it with new coverage, read the copy of the application attached to your new policy and be sure that all questions are answered fully and correctly. Omissions or misstatements in the application could cause an otherwise valid claim to be denied. Carefully check the application and write to [company name and address] within thirty (30) days if any information is not correct and complete, or if any past medical history has been left out of the application.

Appendix H. Things You Should Know Before You Buy Long-term Care Insurance

Things You Should Know Before You Buy
Long-term Care InsuranceLong-Term Care Insurance

- A long-term care insurance policy may pay most of the costs for your care in a nursing home. Many policies also pay for care at home or other community settings. Since policies can vary in coverage, you should read this policy and make sure you understand what it covers before you buy it.

- [WARNING! You should not buy this insurance policy unless you can afford to pay the premiums every year. You are making a multi-year financial commitment.] [Remember that the company can increase premiums in the future.]

(Drafting Instruction: For single premium policies, delete this bullet; for noncancellable policies, delete the second sentence only.)

- The personal worksheet includes questions designed to help you and the company determine whether this policy is suitable for your needs.

Medicare

- Medicare does not pay for most long-term care.

Medicaid

- Medicaid will generally pay for long-term care if you have very little income and few assets. You probably should not buy this policy if you are now eligible for Medicaid.

- Many people become eligible for Medicaid after they have used up their own financial resources by paying for long-term care services.

- When Medicaid pays your spouse's nursing home bills, you are allowed to keep your house and furniture, a living allowance, and some of your joint assets.

- Your choice of long-term care services may be limited if you are receiving Medicaid. To learn more about Medicaid, contact your local or state Medicaid agency.

Shopper's Guide

- Make sure the insurance company or agent gives you a copy of a book called the National Association of Insurance Commissioners' "Shopper's Guide to Long-Term Care Insurance." Read it carefully. If you have decided to apply for long-term care insurance, you have the right to return the policy within 30 days and get back any premium you have paid if you are dissatisfied for any reason or choose not to purchase the policy.

Counseling

- Free counseling and additional information about long-term care insurance are available through your state's insurance counseling program. Contact your state insurance department or department on aging for more information about the senior health insurance counseling program in your state.

Facilities

- Some long-term care insurance contracts provide for benefit payments in certain facilities only if they are licensed or certified, such as in assisted living centers. However, not all states regulate these facilities in the same way. Also, many people move into a different state from where they purchased their long-term care insurance policy. Read the policy carefully to determine what types of facilities qualify for benefit payments, and to determine that payment for a covered service will be made if you move to a state that has a different licensing scheme for facilities than the one in which you purchased the policy.

Appendix I. Long-term Care Insurance Suitability LetterLong-term Care Insurance Suitability Letter

Dear [Applicant]:

Your recent application for long-term care insurance included a “personal worksheet,” which asked questions about your finances and your reasons for buying long-term care insurance. For your protection, state law requires us to consider this information when we review your application, to avoid selling a policy to those who may not need coverage.

[Your answers indicate that long-term care insurance may not meet your financial needs. We suggest that you review the information provided along with your application, including the booklet “Shopper’s Guide to Long-Term Care Insurance” and the page titled “Things You Should Know Before Buying Long-Term Care Insurance.” Your state insurance department also has information about long-term care insurance and may be able to refer you to a counselor free of charge who can help you decide whether to buy this policy.]

[You chose not to provide any financial information for us to review.]

(Drafting Instruction: Choose the paragraph that applies.)

We have suspended our final review of your application. If, after careful consideration, you still believe this policy is what you want, check the appropriate box below and return this letter to us within the next 60 days. We will then continue reviewing your application and issue a policy if you meet our medical standards.

If we do not hear from you within the next 60 days, we will close your file and not issue you a policy. You should understand that you will not have any coverage until we hear back from you, approve your application and issue you a policy.

Please check one box and return in the enclosed envelope.

- Yes, [although my worksheet indicates that long-term care insurance may not be a suitable purchase.] I wish to purchase this coverage. Please resume review of my application.

Drafting Instruction: Delete the phrase in brackets if the applicant did not answer the questions about income.

- No. I have decided not to buy a policy at this time.

All such tests used shall be approved and licensed by the Food and Drug Administration and conducted in accordance with the manufacturers' directions for use, including but not limited to the manufacturers' specified interpretation of positivity.
- B. If an applicant is requested to take an HIV-related test in connection with an application for a life or disability insurance policy or a health care plan, the insurer shall reveal the use of such test to the applicant and shall obtain the written consent of the applicant prior to the administration of such test. Department of Insurance

5. Meaning of positive test results. The form shall advise the applicant of the type of test (including but not limited to antibody, antigen, or viral culture) to be used, and that a positive test result indicates that the applicant has been infected with HIV but does not necessarily have AIDS. The form shall explain that a positive test result will adversely affect the application for insurance.
 6. Consent. The consent form shall contain an attestation to be signed by the applicant or, if the applicant lacks legal capacity to consent, a person authorized pursuant to law to consent on behalf of the applicant, that he or she has read and understands the written consent form and voluntarily consents to the performance of a test for HIV and to the disclosure of the test results as described in the consent form. The applicant or the applicant's legal representative shall have the right to request and receive a copy of the written consent form. A photocopy of the form shall be as valid as the original.

 2. At any time after the assuming insurer has permanently discontinued underwriting new business secured by the trust for at least three full years, the commissioner with principal regulatory oversight of the trust may authorize a reduction in the required trustee surplus, but only after a finding, based on an assessment of the risk, that the new required surplus level is adequate for the protection of

- U.S. ceding insurers, policyholders and claimants in light of reasonably foreseeable adverse loss development. The risk assessment may involve an actuarial review, including an independent analysis of reserves and cash flows, and shall consider all material risk factors, including when applicable the lines of business involved, the stability of the incurred loss estimates and the effect of the surplus requirements on the assuming insurer's liquidity or solvency. The minimum required trustee surplus may not be reduced to an amount less than 30% of the assuming insurer's liabilities, attributable to reinsurance ceded by U.S. ceding insurers covered by the trust.
3. The trust fund for a group including incorporated and individual unincorporated underwriters:

 - iii. In addition to these trusts, the group shall maintain a trustee surplus of which $100 million shall be held jointly for the benefit of the U.S. domiciled ceding insurers of any member of the group for all the years of account.
 - b. The incorporated members of the group shall not be engaged in any business other than underwriting as a member of the group and shall be subject to the same level of regulation and solvency control by the group's domiciliary regulator as are the unincorporated members. The group shall, within ninety days after its financial statements are due to be filed with the group's domiciliary regulator, provide to the Director:

 - d. - C. Credit for reinsurance shall not be granted unless the form of the trust and any amendments to the trust have been approved by either the commissioner of the state where the trust is domiciled or the commissioner of another state who, pursuant to the terms of the trust instrument, has accepted responsibility for regulatory oversight of the trust. The form of the trust and any trust amendments also shall be filed with the commissioner of every state in which the ceding insurer beneficiaries of the trust are domiciled.
1. The trust instrument shall provide that:
 - a. Contested claims shall be valid and enforceable out of funds in trust to the extent remaining unsatisfied thirty days after entry of the final order of any court of competent jurisdiction in the United States;
 - b. Legal title to the assets of the trust shall be vested in the trustee for the benefit of the grantor's U.S. ceding insurers, their assigns and successors in interest;

 - a. If the trust fund is inadequate because it contains an amount less than the amount required by this Section or if the grantor of the trust has been declared insolvent or placed into receivership, rehabilitation, liquidation or similar proceedings under the laws of its state or country of domicile, the trustee shall comply with an order of the commissioner with regulatory oversight over the trust or with an order of a court of competent jurisdiction directing the trustee to transfer to the commissioner with regulatory oversight over the trust or other designated receiver all of the assets of the trust fund.
 - b. The assets shall be distributed by and claims shall be filed with and valued by the commissioner with regulatory oversight over the trust in accordance with - the laws of the state in which the trust is domiciled applicable to the liquidation of domestic insurance companies.

Department of Insurance

- c. If the commissioner with regulatory oversight over the trust determines that the assets of the trust fund or any part thereof are not necessary to satisfy the claims of the U.S. beneficiaries of the trust, the commissioner with regulatory oversight over the trust shall return the assets, or any part thereof, to the trustee for distribution in accordance with the trust agreement.
 - d. The grantor shall waive any right otherwise available to it under U.S. law that is inconsistent with this provision.
- D. For purposes of this Section, the term “liabilities” shall mean the assuming insurer’s gross liabilities attributable to reinsurance ceded by U.S. domiciled insurers excluding liabilities that are otherwise secured by acceptable means, and, shall include:

In order to facilitate the prompt payment of claims, a certified reinsurer shall not be required to post security for catastrophe recoverables for a period of one year from the date of the first instance of a liability reserve entry by the ceding company as a result of a loss from a catastrophic occurrence as recognized by the Director. The one year deferral period is contingent upon the certified reinsurer continuing to pay claims in a timely manner. Reinsurance recoverables for only the following lines of business as reported on the NAIC annual financial statement related specifically to the catastrophic occurrence will be included in the deferral:
- Line 1: Fire
 - Line 2: Allied Lines
 - Line 3: Farmowners multiple peril

- Line 4: Homeowners multiple peril
 - Line 5: Commercial multiple peril
 - Line 9: Inland Marine
 - Line 12: Earthquake
 - Line 21: Auto physical damage
5. Credit for reinsurance under this Section shall apply only to reinsurance contracts entered into or renewed on or after the effective date of the certification of the assuming insurer. Any reinsurance contract entered into prior to the effective date of the certification of the assuming insurer that is subsequently amended after the effective date of the certification of the assuming insurer, or a new reinsurance contract, covering any risk for which collateral was provided previously, shall only be subject to this Section with respect to losses incurred and reserves reported from and after the effective date of the amendment or new contract.
6. Nothing in this Section shall prohibit the parties to a reinsurance agreement from agreeing to provisions establishing security requirements that exceed the minimum security requirements established for certified reinsurers under this Section.

B. Certification Procedure

- The Director shall post notice on the insurance department's website promptly upon receipt of any application for certification, including instructions on how members of the public may respond to the application. The Director may not take final action on the application until at least thirty days after posting the notice required by this subsection (B)(1).
- The Director shall issue written notice to an assuming insurer that has made application and been approved as a certified reinsurer. Included in such notice shall be the rating assigned the certified reinsurer in accordance with subsection A of this Section. The Director shall publish a list of all certified reinsurers and their ratings.
- In order to be eligible for certification, the assuming insurer shall meet the following requirements:
 - The assuming insurer must be domiciled and licensed to transact insurance or reinsurance in a Qualified Jurisdiction, as determined by the Director pursuant to subsection C of this Section.
 - The assuming insurer must maintain capital and surplus, or its equivalent, of no less than $250 million calculated in accordance with subsection (B)(4)(h) of this Section. This requirement may also be satisfied by an association including incorporated and individual unincorporated underwriters having minimum capital and surplus equivalents (net of liabilities) of at least $250 million and a central fund containing a balance of at least $250 million.
 - The assuming insurer must maintain financial strength ratings from two or more rating agencies deemed acceptable by the Director. These ratings shall be based on interactive communication between the rating agency and the assuming insurer and shall not be based solely on publicly available information. These financial strength ratings will be one factor used by the Director in determining the rating that is assigned to the assuming insurer. Acceptable rating agencies include the following:
 - Standard & Poor's;
 - Moody's Investors Service;
 - Fitch Ratings;
 - A.M. Best Company; or

Department of Insurance

- v. Any other Nationally Recognized Statistical Rating Organization.
- d. The certified reinsurer must comply with any other requirements reasonably imposed by the Director.
- 4. Each certified reinsurer shall be rated on a legal entity basis, with due consideration being given to the group rating where appropriate, except that an association including incorporated and individual unincorporated underwriters that has been approved to do business as a single certified reinsurer may be evaluated on the basis of its group rating. Factors that may be considered as part of the evaluation process include, but are not limited to, the following:
 - a. The certified reinsurer’s financial strength rating from an acceptable rating agency. The maximum rating that a certified reinsurer may be assigned will correspond to its financial strength rating as outlined in the table below. The Director shall use the lowest financial strength rating received from an approved rating agency in establishing the maximum rating of a certified reinsurer. A failure to obtain or maintain at least two financial strength ratings from acceptable rating agencies will result in loss of eligibility for certification:

- d. For certified reinsurers not domiciled in the U.S., a review annually of Form CR-F (instructions attached as Exhibit C) (for property/casualty reinsurers) or Form CR-S (instructions attached as Exhibit D) (for life and health reinsurers);
- e. The reputation of the certified reinsurer for prompt payment of claims under reinsurance agreements, based on an analysis of ceding insurers’ Schedule F reporting of overdue reinsurance recoverables,

- g. The report of the independent auditor on the financial statements of the insurance enterprise, on the basis described in subsection (B)(4)(h) below;
- h. For certified reinsurers not domiciled in the U.S., audited financial statements (audited U.S. GAAP basis if available, audited IFRS basis statements are allowed but must include an audited footnote reconciling equity and net income to a U.S. GAAP basis, or, with the permission of the Director, audited IFRS statements with reconciliation to U.S. GAAP certified by an officer of the company), regulatory filings, and actuarial opinion (as filed with the non-U.S. jurisdiction supervisor). Upon the initial application for certification, the Director will consider audited financial statements for the last three years filed with its non-U.S. jurisdiction supervisor;
- i. The liquidation priority of obligations to a ceding insurer in the certified reinsurer’s domiciliary jurisdiction in the context of an insolvency proceeding;
- j. A certified reinsurer’s participation in any solvent scheme of arrangement, or similar procedure, which involves U.S. ceding insurers. The Director shall receive prior notice from a certified reinsurer that proposes participation by the certified reinsurer in a solvent scheme of arrangement; and
- k. Any other information deemed relevant by the Director.
- 5. Based on the analysis conducted under subsection (B)(4)(e) of this Section of a certified reinsurer’s reputation for prompt payment of claims, the Director may make appropriate adjustments in the security the certified reinsurer is required to post to protect its liabilities to U.S. ceding insurers, provided that the Director shall, at a minimum, increase the security the certified reinsurer is required to post by one rating level under subsection (B)(4)(a) of this Section if the Director finds that:
 - a. more than 15% of the certified reinsurer’s ceding insurance clients have overdue reinsurance recoverables on paid losses of ninety days or more which are not in dispute and which exceed $100 thousand for each cedent; or
 - b. the aggregate amount of reinsurance recoverables on paid losses which are not in dispute that are overdue by ninety days or more exceeds $50 million.
- 6. The assuming insurer must submit a properly executed Form CR-1 (attached as Exhibit B) as evidence of its submission to the jurisdiction of Arizona, appointment of the Director as an agent for service of process in Arizona, and agreement to provide security for 100% of the assuming insurer’s liabilities attributable to reinsurance ceded by U.S. ceding insurers if it resists enforcement of a final U.S. judgment. The Director shall not certify any assuming insurer that is domiciled in a jurisdiction that the Director has determined does not adequately and promptly enforce final U.S. judgments or arbitration awards.
- 7. The certified reinsurer must agree to meet applicable information filing requirements as determined by the Director, both with respect to an initial application for certification and on an ongoing basis. All information submitted by certified reinsurers which are not otherwise public information subject to disclosure shall be exempted from disclosure under A.R.S. § 20-158 and shall be withheld from public disclosure. The applicable information filing requirements are, as follows:

- a. Notification within ten days of any regulatory actions taken against the certified reinsurer, any change in the provisions of its domiciliary license or any change in rating by an approved rating agency, including a statement describing such changes and the reasons therefore;
 - b. Annually, Form CR-F or CR-S, as applicable;
 - c. Annually, the report of the independent auditor on the financial statements of the insurance enterprise, on the basis described in subsection (B)(7)(d) below;
 - d. Annually, audited financial statements (audited U.S. GAAP basis if available, audited IFRS basis statements are allowed but must include an audited footnote reconciling equity and net income to a U.S. GAAP basis, or, with the permission of the Director, audited IFRS statements with reconciliation to U.S. GAAP certified by an officer of the company), regulatory filings, and actuarial opinion (as filed with the certified reinsurer's supervisor). Upon the initial certification, audited financial statements for the last three years filed with the certified reinsurer's supervisor;
 - e. At least annually, an updated list of all disputed and overdue reinsurance claims regarding reinsurance assumed from U.S. domestic ceding insurers;
 - f. A certification from the certified reinsurer's domestic regulator that the certified reinsurer is in good standing and maintains capital in excess of the jurisdiction's highest regulatory action level; and
 - g. Any other information that the Director may reasonably require.
8. Change in Rating or Revocation of Certification.
- a. In the case of a downgrade by a rating agency or other disqualifying circumstance, the Director shall upon written notice assign a new rating to the certified reinsurer in accordance with the requirements of subsection (B)(4)(a) of this Section.
 - b. The Director shall have the authority to suspend, revoke, or otherwise modify a certified reinsurer's certification at any time if the certified reinsurer fails to meet its obligations or security requirements under this Section, or if other financial or operating results of the certified reinsurer, or documented significant delays in payment by the certified reinsurer, lead the Director to reconsider the certified reinsurer's ability or willingness to meet its contractual obligations.
 - c. If the rating of a certified reinsurer is upgraded by the Director, the certified reinsurer may meet the security requirements applicable to its new rating on a prospective basis, but the Director shall require the certified reinsurer to post security under the previously applicable security requirements as to all contracts in force on or before the effective date of the upgraded rating. If the rating of a certified reinsurer is downgraded by the Director, the Director shall require the certified reinsurer to meet the security requirements applicable to its new rating for all business it has assumed as a certified reinsurer.
 - d. Upon revocation of the certification of a certified reinsurer by the Director, the assuming insurer shall be required to post security in accordance with Section R20-6-1607 in order for the ceding insurer to continue to take credit for reinsurance ceded to the assuming insurer. If funds continue to be held in trust in accordance with Section R20-6-1604, the Director may allow additional credit equal to the ceding insurer's pro rata share of such funds, discounted to reflect the risk of uncollectibility and anticipated expenses of trust administration. Notwithstanding the change of a certified reinsurer's rating or revocation of its certification, a domestic insurer that has ceded reinsurance to that certified reinsurer may not be denied credit for reinsurance for a period of three months for all reinsurance ceded to that certified reinsurer, unless the reinsurance is found by the Director to be at high risk of uncollectibility.
- C. Qualified Jurisdictions.
1. If, upon conducting an evaluation under this Section with respect to the reinsurance supervisory system of any non-U.S. assuming insurer, the Director determines that the jurisdiction qualifies to be recognized as a qualified jurisdiction, the Director shall publish notice and evidence of such recognition in an appropriate manner. The Director may establish a procedure to withdraw recognition of those jurisdictions that are no longer qualified.
 2. In order to determine whether the domiciliary jurisdiction of a non-U.S. assuming insurer is eligible to be recognized as a qualified jurisdiction, the Director shall evaluate the reinsurance supervisory system of the non-U.S. jurisdiction, both initially and on an ongoing basis, and consider the rights, benefits and the extent of reciprocal recognition afforded by the non-U.S. jurisdiction to reinsurers licensed and domiciled in the U.S. The Director shall determine the appropriate approach for evaluating the qualifications of such jurisdictions, and create and publish a list of jurisdictions whose reinsurers may be approved by the Director as eligible for certification. A qualified jurisdiction must agree to share information and cooperate with the Director with respect to all certified reinsurers domiciled within that jurisdiction. Additional factors to be considered in determining whether to recognize a qualified jurisdiction, in the discretion of the Director, include but are not limited to the following:
 - a. The framework under which the assuming insurer is regulated.
 - b. The structure and authority of the domiciliary regulator with regard to solvency regulation requirements and financial surveillance.
 - c. The substance of financial and operating standards for assuming insurers in the domiciliary jurisdiction.
 - d. The form and substance of financial reports required to be filed or made publicly available by reinsurers in the domiciliary jurisdiction and the accounting principles used.
 - e. The domiciliary regulator's willingness to cooperate with U.S. regulators in general and the Director in particular.
 - f. The history of performance by assuming insurers in the domiciliary jurisdiction.
 - g. Any documented evidence of substantial problems with the enforcement of final U.S. judgments in the domiciliary jurisdiction. A jurisdiction will not be considered to be a qualified jurisdiction if the Director has determined that it does not adequately and promptly enforce final U.S. judgments or arbitration awards.

- h. Any relevant international standards or guidance with respect to mutual recognition of reinsurance supervision adopted by the International Association of Insurance Supervisors or successor organization.
 - i. Any other matters deemed relevant by the Director.
3. A list of qualified jurisdictions shall be published through the NAIC Committee Process. The Director shall consider this list in determining qualified jurisdictions. If the Director approves a jurisdiction as qualified that does not appear on the list of qualified jurisdictions, the Director shall provide thoroughly documented justification with respect to the criteria provided under subsections (C)(2)(a) through (i) of this Section.
 4. U.S. jurisdictions that meet the requirements for accreditation under the NAIC financial standards and accreditation program shall be recognized as qualified jurisdictions.
- D. Recognition of Certification Issued by an NAIC Accredited Jurisdiction.
1. If an applicant for certification has been certified as a reinsurer in an NAIC accredited jurisdiction, the Director has the discretion to defer to that jurisdiction's certification, and to defer to the rating assigned by that jurisdiction, if the assuming insurer submits a properly executed Form CR-1 (Exhibit B) and such additional information as the Director requires. The assuming insurer shall be considered to be a certified reinsurer in Arizona.
 2. Any change in the certified reinsurer's status or rating in the other jurisdiction shall apply automatically in Arizona as of the date it takes effect in the other jurisdiction. The certified reinsurer shall notify the Director of any change in its status or rating within ten days after receiving notice of the change.
 3. The Director may withdraw recognition of the other jurisdiction's rating at any time and assign a new rating in accordance with subsection (B)(8) of this Section.
 4. The Director may withdraw recognition of the other jurisdiction's certification at any time, with written notice to the certified reinsurer. Unless the Director suspends or revokes the certified reinsurer's certification in accordance with subsection (B)(8) of this Section, the certified reinsurer's certification shall remain in good standing in this State for a period of three months, which shall be extended if additional time is necessary to consider the assuming insurer's application for certification in Arizona.
- E. Mandatory Funding Clause. In addition to the clauses required under Section R20-6-1611, reinsurance contracts entered into or renewed under this Section shall include a proper funding clause, which requires the certified reinsurer to provide and maintain security in an amount sufficient to avoid the imposition of any financial statement penalty on the ceding insurer under this Section for reinsurance ceded to the certified reinsurer.
- F. The Director shall comply with all reporting and notification requirements that may be established by the NAIC with respect to certified reinsurers and qualified jurisdictions.

R20-6-1606. Credit for Reinsurance Required by Law

Pursuant to A.R.S. § 20-261.05(I), the Director shall allow credit for reinsurance ceded by a domestic insurer to an assuming insurer not meeting the requirements of A.R.S. §§ 20-261.05(B) through (H) but only as to the insurance of risks located in jurisdictions where the reinsurance is required by the applicable law or regulation of that jurisdiction. As used in this Section, "jurisdiction" means state, district or territory of the United States and any lawful national government.

R20-6-1607. Asset or Reduction from Liability for Reinsurance Ceded to an Unauthorized Assuming Insurer not Meeting the Requirements of Sections R20-6-1601 through R20-6-1606

- A. Pursuant to A.R.S. § 20-261.06, the Director shall allow a reduction from liability for reinsurance ceded by a domestic insurer to an assuming insurer not meeting the requirements of A.R.S. § 20-261.05 in an amount not exceeding the liabilities carried by the ceding insurer. The reduction shall be in the amount of funds held by or on behalf of the ceding insurer, including funds held in trust for the exclusive benefit of the ceding insurer, under a reinsurance contract with such assuming insurer as security for the payment of obligations under the reinsurance contract. The security shall be held in the United States subject to withdrawal solely by, and under the exclusive control of, the ceding insurer or, in the case of a trust, held in a qualified United States financial institution as defined in A.R.S. § 20-261.03. This security may be in the form of any of the following:
1. Cash;
 2. Securities listed by the Securities Valuation Office of the NAIC, including those deemed exempt from filing as defined by the Purposes and Procedures Manual of the Securities Valuation Office, and qualifying as admitted assets;
 3. Clean, irrevocable, unconditional and "evergreen" letters of credit issued or confirmed by a qualified United States institution, as defined in A.R.S. § 20-261.03, effective no later than December 31 of the year for which filing is being made, and in the possession of, or in trust for, the ceding insurer on or before the filing date of its annual statement. Letters of credit meeting applicable standards of issuer acceptability as of the dates of their issuance (or confirmation) shall, notwithstanding the issuing (or confirming) institution's subsequent failure to meet applicable standards of issuer acceptability, continue to be acceptable as security until their expiration, extension, renewal, modification or amendment, whichever first occurs; or
 4. Any other form of security acceptable to the Director.
- B. An admitted asset or a reduction from liability for reinsurance ceded to an unauthorized assuming insurer pursuant to this Section shall be allowed only when the requirements of Section R20-6-1611 and the applicable portions of Sections R20-6-1608, R20-6-1609 or R20-6-1610 have been satisfied.

R20-6-1608. Trust Agreements Qualified under Section R20-6-1607

A. As used in this Section:

1. "Beneficiary" includes any successor by operation of law of the named beneficiary, including without limitation any liquidator, rehabilitator, receiver or conservator.
2. "Grantor" means the entity that has established a trust for the sole benefit of the beneficiary. When established in conjunction with a reinsurance agreement, the grantor is the unlicensed, unaccredited assuming insurer.
3. "Obligations," as used in subsection (B)(11) of this Section, means:
 - a. Reinsured losses and allocated loss expenses paid by the ceding company but not recovered from the assuming insurer;
 - b. Reserves for reinsured losses reported and outstanding;
 - c. Reserves for reinsured losses incurred but not reported; and
 - d. Reserves for allocated reinsured loss expenses and unearned premiums.

B. Required conditions.

1. The trust agreement shall be entered into between the beneficiary, the grantor and a trustee, which shall be a qualified United States financial institution as defined in A.R.S. § 20-261.03.
2. The trust agreement shall create a trust account into which assets shall be deposited.
3. All assets in the trust account shall be held by the trustee at the trustee's office in the United States.
4. The trust agreement shall provide that:
 - a. The beneficiary shall have the right to withdraw assets from the trust account at any time, without notice to the grantor, subject only to written notice from the beneficiary to the trustee;
 - b. No other statement or document is required to be presented in order to withdraw assets, except that the beneficiary may be required to acknowledge receipt of withdrawn assets;
 - c. It is not subject to any conditions or qualifications outside of the trust agreement; and
 - d. It shall not contain references to any other agreements or documents except as provided for in subsections (B)(11) and (12) of this Section.
5. The trust agreement shall be established for the sole benefit of the beneficiary.
6. The trust agreement shall require the trustee to:
 - a. Receive assets and hold all assets in a safe place;
 - b. Determine that all assets are in such form that the beneficiary, or the trustee upon direction by the beneficiary, may whenever necessary negotiate any such assets, without consent or signature from the grantor or any other person or entity;
 - c. Furnish to the grantor and the beneficiary a statement of all assets in the trust account upon its inception and at intervals no less frequent than the end of each calendar quarter;
 - d. Notify the grantor and the beneficiary within ten days, of any deposits to or withdrawals from the trust account;
 - e. Upon written demand of the beneficiary, immediately take any and all steps necessary to transfer absolutely and unequivocally all right, title and interest in the assets held in the trust account to the

7. The trust agreement shall provide that at least thirty days, but not more than forty-five days, prior to termination of the trust account, written notification of termination shall be delivered by the trustee to the beneficiary.
8. The trust agreement shall be made subject to and governed by the laws of the state in which the trust is domiciled.
9. The trust agreement shall prohibit invasion of the trust corpus for the purpose of paying commission to, or reimbursing the expenses of, the trustee. In order for a letter of credit to qualify as an asset of the trust, the trustee shall have the right and the obligation pursuant to the deed of trust or some other binding agreement (as duly approved by the Director), to immediately draw down the full amount of the letter of credit and hold the proceeds in trust for the beneficiaries of the trust if the letter of credit will otherwise expire without being renewed or replaced.
10. The trust agreement shall provide that the trustee shall be liable for its negligence, willful misconduct or lack of good faith. The failure of the trustee to draw against the letter of credit in circumstances where such draw would be required shall be deemed to be negligence and/or willful misconduct.
11. Notwithstanding other provisions of this Section, when a trust agreement is established in conjunction with a reinsurance agreement covering risks other than life, annuities and accident and health, where it is customary practice to provide a trust agreement for a specific purpose, the trust agreement may provide that the ceding insurer shall undertake to use and apply amounts drawn upon the trust account, without diminution because of the insolvency of the ceding insurer or the assuming insurer, only for the following purposes:
 - a. To pay or reimburse the ceding insurer for the assuming insurer's share under the specific reinsurance agreement regarding any losses and allocated loss expenses paid by the ceding insurer, but not recovered from the assuming insurer, or for unearned premiums due to the ceding insurer if not otherwise paid by the assuming insurer;
 - b. To make payment to the assuming insurer of any amounts held in the trust account that exceed 102% of the actual amount required to fund the assuming insurer's obligations under the specific reinsurance agreement; or
 - c. Where the ceding insurer has received notification of termination of the trust account and where the assuming insurer's entire obligations under the specific reinsurance agreement remain unliquidated and undischarged ten days prior to the termination date, to withdraw amounts equal to the obligations and deposit those amounts in a separate account, in the name of the ceding insurer in any qualified United States financial institution as defined in A.R.S. § 20-261.03 apart from its general assets, in trust for such uses and purposes specified in subsections (11)(a) and (b) above as may remain executory after such withdrawal and for any period after the termination date.

12. Notwithstanding other provisions of this Section, when a trust agreement is established to meet the requirements of Section R20-6-1607 in conjunction with a reinsurance agreement covering life, annuities or accident and health risks, where it is customary to provide a trust agreement for a specific purpose, the trust agreement may provide that the ceding insurer shall undertake to use and apply amounts drawn upon the trust account, without diminution because of the insolvency of the ceding insurer or the assuming insurer, only for the following purposes:

- a. To pay or reimburse the ceding insurer for:
 - i. The assuming insurer's share under the specific reinsurance agreement of premiums returned, but not yet recovered from the assuming insurer, to the owners of policies reinsured under the reinsurance agreement on account of cancellations of the policies; and
 - ii. The assuming insurer's share under the specific reinsurance agreement of surrenders and benefits or losses paid by the ceding insurer, but not yet recovered from the assuming insurer, under the terms and provision of the policies reinsured under the reinsurance agreement.
- b. To pay to the assuming insurer amounts held in the trust account in excess of the amount necessary to secure the credit or reduction from liability for reinsurance taken by the ceding insurer, or
- c. Where the ceding insurer has received notification of termination of the trust and where the assuming insurer's entire obligations under the specific reinsurance agreement remain unliquidated and undischarged ten days prior to the termination date, to withdraw amounts equal to the assuming insurer's share of liabilities, to the extent that the liabilities have not yet been funded by the assuming insurer, and deposit those amounts in a separate account, in the name of the ceding insurer in any qualified U.S. financial institution apart from its general assets, in trust for the uses and purposes specified in subsections (12)(a) and (b) above as may remain executory after withdrawal and for any period after the termination date.

13. Either the reinsurance agreement or the trust agreement must stipulate that assets deposited in the trust account shall be valued according to their current fair market value and shall consist only of cash in United States dollars, certificates of deposit issued by a United States bank and payable in United States dollars, and investments permitted by the Insurance Code or any combination of the above, provided investments in or issued by an entity controlling, controlled by or under common control with either the grantor or the beneficiary of the trust shall not exceed 5% of total investments. The agreement may further specify the types of investments to be deposited. If the reinsurance agreement covers life, annuities or accident and health risks, then the provisions required by this subsection must be included in the reinsurance agreement.

C. Permitted conditions

1. The trust agreement may provide that the trustee may resign upon delivery of a written notice of resignation, effective not less than ninety days after the beneficiary and grantor receive the notice and that the trustee may be removed by the grantor by delivery to the trustee and the beneficiary of a written notice of removal, effective not less than ninety days after the trustee and the beneficiary receive the notice, provided that no such resignation or removal shall be effective until a successor trustee has been duly appointed and approved by the beneficiary and the grantor and all assets in the trust have been duly transferred to the new trustee.

2. The grantor may have the full and unqualified right to vote any shares of stock in the trust account and to receive from time to time payments of any dividends or interest upon any shares of stock or obligations included in the trust account. Any interest or dividends shall be either forwarded promptly upon receipt to the grantor or deposited in a separate account established in the grantor's name.
 3. The trustee may be given authority to invest, and accept substitutions of, any funds in the account, provided that no investment or substitution shall be made without prior approval of the beneficiary, unless the trust agreement specifies categories of investments acceptable to the beneficiary and authorizes the trustee to invest funds and to accept substitutions that the trustee determines are at least equal in current fair market value to the assets withdrawn and that are consistent with the restrictions in subsection (D)(1)(b) of this Section.
 4. The trust agreement may provide that the beneficiary may at any time designate a party to which all or part of the trust assets are to be transferred. Transfer may be conditioned upon the trustee receiving, prior to or simultaneously, other specified assets.
 5. The trust agreement may provide that, upon termination of the trust account, all assets not previously withdrawn by the beneficiary shall, with written approval by the beneficiary, be delivered over to the grantor.
- D. Additional conditions applicable to reinsurance agreements:
1. A reinsurance agreement may contain provisions that:
 - a. Require the assuming insurer to enter into a trust agreement and to establish a trust account for the benefit of the ceding insurer, and specifying what the agreement is to cover;
 - b. Require the assuming insurer, prior to depositing assets with the trustee, to execute assignments or endorsements in blank, or to transfer legal title to the trustee of all shares, obligations or any other assets requiring assignments, in order that the ceding insurer, or the trustee upon the direction of the ceding insurer, may whenever necessary negotiate these assets without consent or signature from the assuming insurer or any other entity;
 - c. Require that all settlements of account between the ceding insurer and the assuming insurer be made in cash or its equivalent; and
 - d. Stipulate that the assuming insurer and the ceding insurer agree that the assets in the trust account, established pursuant to the provisions of the reinsurance agreement, may be withdrawn by the ceding insurer at any time, notwithstanding any other provisions in the reinsurance agreement, and shall be utilized and applied by the ceding insurer or its successors in interest by operation of law, including without limitation any liquidator, rehabilitator, receiver or conservator of such company, without diminution because of insolvency on the part of the ceding insurer or the assuming insurer, only for the following purposes:

Department of Insurance

- i. To pay or reimburse the ceding insurer for the assuming insurer's share under the specific reinsurance agreement of premiums returned, but not yet recovered from the assuming insurer, to the owners of policies reinsured under the reinsurance agreement because of cancellations of such policies; and
 - ii. To pay or reimburse the ceding insurer for the assuming insurer's share of surrenders and benefits or losses paid by the ceding insurer pursuant to the provisions of the policies reinsured under the reinsurance agreement; and
 - iii. To pay or reimburse the ceding insurer for any other amounts necessary to secure the credit or reduction from liability for reinsurance taken by the ceding reinsurer; or
 - iv. To make payment to the assuming insurer of amounts held in the trust account in excess of the amount necessary to secure the credit or reduction from liability for reinsurance taken by the ceding insurer.
2. The reinsurance agreement also may contain provisions that:

Further, the reduction for the existence of an acceptable trust account may be up to the current fair market value of acceptable assets available to be withdrawn from the trust account at that time, but such reduction shall be no greater than the specific obligations under the reinsurance agreement that the trust account was established to secure.
 - F. Existing agreements. Notwithstanding the effective date of this Article, any trust agreement or underlying reinsurance agreement in existence and approved by the Director prior to the effective date of this Article will continue to be acceptable until December 31, 2016, at which time the agreements will have to fully comply with this Section for the trust agreement to be acceptable.
 - G. The failure of any trust agreement to specifically identify the beneficiary as defined in subsection (A)(1) of this Section shall not be construed to affect any actions or rights that the Director may take or possess pursuant to the provisions of the laws of Arizona.

The letter of credit also shall indicate that it is not subject to any condition or qualifications outside of the letter of credit. In addition, the letter of credit itself shall not contain reference to any other agreements, documents or entities, except as provided in subsection (H)(1) of this Section. As used in this Section, "beneficiary" includes any successor by operation of law of the named beneficiary, including without limitation any liquidator, rehabilitator, receiver or conservator. If a court of law appoints a successor in interest to the named beneficiary, then the named beneficiary includes and is limited to the court appointed domiciliary receiver (including conservator, rehabilitator or liquidator).
- B. The heading of the letter of credit may include a boxed section containing the name of the applicant and other appropriate notations to provide a reference for the letter of credit. The boxed section shall be clearly marked to indicate that such information is for internal identification purposes only.
- C. A letter of credit shall contain a statement to the effect that the obligation of the qualified United States financial institution under the letter of credit is in no way contingent upon reimbursement with respect thereto.
- D. The term of the letter of credit shall be for at least one year and shall contain an "evergreen clause" that prevents the expiration of the letter of credit without due notice from the issuer. The "evergreen clause" shall provide for no less than thirty days' notice prior to expiration date or nonrenewal.
- E. The letter of credit shall state whether it is subject to and governed by the laws of Arizona or the Uniform Customs and Practice for Documentary Credits of the International Chamber of Commerce Publication 600 (UCP 600) or International Standby Practices of the International Chamber of Commerce Publication 590 (ISP98). This incorporation by reference contains no future additions or amendments. All drafts of letters of credit drawn according to UCP 600 or ISP98 shall be presentable at an office in the United States of a qualified United States financial institution.
- F. If the letter of credit is made subject to the Uniform Customs and Practice for Documentary Credits of the International Chamber of Commerce Publication 600 (UCP 600) or International Standby Practices of the International Chamber of Commerce Publication 590 (ISP98), then the letter of credit shall specifically address and provide for an extension of time to draw against the letter of credit in the event that one or more of the occurrences specified in Article 36 of UCP 600 occur.

Department of Insurance

- G. If the letter of credit is issued by a financial institution authorized to issue letters of credit, other than a qualified United States financial institution as described in subsection A of this Section, then the following additional requirements shall be met:
1. The issuing financial institution shall formally designate the confirming qualified United States financial institution as its agent for the receipt and payment of the drafts; and
 2. The “evergreen clause” shall provide for thirty days notice prior to expiration date or nonrenewal.
- H. Reinsurance agreement provisions.
1. The reinsurance agreement in conjunction with which the letter of credit is obtained may contain provisions that:
 - a. Require the assuming insurer to provide letters of credit to the ceding insurer and specify what they are to cover;
 - b. Stipulate that the assuming insurer and ceding insurer agree that the letter of credit provided by the assuming insurer pursuant to the provisions of the reinsurance agreement may be drawn upon at any time, notwithstanding any other provisions in the agreement, and shall be utilized by the ceding insurer or its successors in interest only for one or more of the following reasons:
 - i. To pay or reimburse the ceding insurer for the assuming insurer’s share under the specific reinsurance agreement of premiums returned, but not yet recovered from the assuming insurers, to the owners of policies reinsured under the reinsurance agreement on account of cancellations of such policies;
 - ii. To pay or reimburse the ceding insurer for the assuming insurer’s share, under the specific reinsurance agreement, of surrenders and benefits or losses paid by the ceding insurer, but not yet recovered from the assuming insurers, under the terms and provisions of the policies reinsured under the reinsurance agreement; and
 - iii. To pay or reimburse the ceding insurer for any other amounts necessary to secure the credit or reduction from liability for reinsurance taken by the ceding insurer;
 - iv. Where the letter of credit will expire without renewal or be reduced or replaced by a letter of credit for a reduced amount and where the assuming insurer’s entire obligations under the reinsurance agreement remain unliquidated and undischarged ten days prior to the termination date, to withdraw amounts equal to the assuming insurer’s share of the liabilities, to the extent that the liabilities have not yet been funded by the assuming insurer and exceed the amount of any reduced or replacement letter of credit, and deposit those amounts in a separate account in the name of the ceding insurer in a qualified U.S. financial institution apart from its general assets, in trust for such uses and purposes specified in subsections (H)(1)(b)(i), (ii) and (iii) of this Section as may remain after withdrawal and for any period after the termination date.
 - c. All of the provisions of subsections (H)(1)(a) and (b) of this Section shall be applied without diminution because of insolvency on the part of the ceding insurer or assuming insurer.
 2. Nothing contained in subsection (H)(1) of this Section shall preclude the ceding insurer and assuming insurer from providing for:

- The average increase for all enrollees weighted by premium volume meets or exceeds the applicable threshold; and
 - If a rate increase that does not otherwise meet or exceed the Arizona-specific threshold meets or exceeds the Arizona-specific threshold when combined with a previous increase or increases during the 12-month period preceding the date on which the rate increase would become effective, then the rate increase must be considered to meet or exceed the Arizona-specific threshold and is subject to threshold rate review that shall include a review of the aggregate rate increases during the applicable 12-month period.

 - One or more of the assumptions on which the health insurer based the rate increase is not supported by sound actuarial reasoning, data and analysis;
 - The choice of assumptions or combination of assumptions on which the insurer based the rate increase is unreasonable;
 - The health issuer provides data or documentation that is incomplete, inadequate or otherwise does not provide a basis upon which the Department can determine the reasonableness of a rate increase; or
 - The increase results in premium differences between insureds within similar risk categories that are unfairly discriminatory under A.R.S. Title 20, Chapter 2, Article 6.

 - Allocation of the overall rate increase to claims and non-claims costs;
 - Per enrollee per month allocation of current and projected premium; and

 - An explanation of the most significant factors causing the rate increase, including a brief description of the relevant claims and non-claims expense increases reported in subsection (A)(1); and
 - A brief description of the overall experience of the policy, including historical and projected expenses, and loss ratios.
- A health insurer may submit a single, combined preliminary justification that contains all the information in subsections (A)(1) and (2) for threshold rate increases that affect more than one product if the health insurer has aggregated the claims experience of all products to calculate the rate increases and the rate increases are the same for all products.

- B. If R20-6-607 does not apply to a threshold rate increase, the health insurer shall submit the preliminary justification to the Department and to CMS at least 60 days prior to the date the health insurer intends to implement the threshold rate increase in Arizona.

R20-6-2304. Response to Unreasonableness Determination

If the health insurer receives from CMS a notice that the Department has determined that the health insurer's threshold rate increase is unreasonable, the health insurer shall select one of the following three options:

- Option to not implement the rate increase determined unreasonable. Within 30 days of receiving from CMS the Department's determination, the health insurer shall notify the Department and CMS that it will not implement the rate increase and request the Department to withdraw the rate increase request;
- Option to implement a smaller rate increase than the rate determined unreasonable. Within 30 days of receiving from CMS the Department's determination, the health insurer shall notify the Department and CMS, on a form and in the manner prescribed by the Secretary, that it intends to implement a rate increase that is smaller than the one determined unreasonable. One of the following shall apply to this option:
 - If the health insurer selects this option and the smaller rate increase is not a threshold rate increase, the smaller rate increase is not subject to this Article;
 - If the health insurer selects this option, and R20-6-607 applied to the rate increase the Department determined to be unreasonable, the health insurer

Department of Insurance

shall revise the rate increase filing to reflect the smaller rate increase or file a new rate increase. If the smaller rate increase is a threshold rate increase, the health insurer shall submit a new preliminary justification on the date the health insurer revises the rate increase filing or files a new rate increase; or

- c. If the health insurer selects this option, and R20-6-607 did not apply to the rate increase the Department determined to be unreasonable, and the smaller increase is a threshold rate increase, the health insurer shall submit to the Department and to CMS a new preliminary justification at least 60 days prior to the date the health insurer intends to implement the smaller increase in Arizona.
3. Option to implement the rate increase determined unreasonable. Within 10 business days after the health insurer either implements the rate increase that the Department determined unreasonable, or receives from CMS the Department's determination, the health insurer shall:
 - a. Submit, to the Department and to CMS, a final justification in response to the Department's determination. The information in the final justification shall be the same as the information submitted by the insurer under R20-6-2302(A)(1) and (2) in the preliminary justification supporting the rate increase; and
 - b. Prominently post on its website, on a form and in the manner prescribed by the Secretary under 45 CFR 154.230 the following information:
 - i. The Department's determination that the rate increase is unreasonable and Department's explanation of the Department's analysis of the relevant factors set forth in R20-6-2305(A)(1) and (2), and
 - ii. The health insurer's final justification for implementing the rate increase.
 - c. Continue to make the information in subsection (3)(b) available to the public on its website for at least three years.

Historical Note

New Section made by final rulemaking at 18 A.A.R. 2721, effective October 3, 2012 (Supp. 12-4).

20-143. Rule-making power

- A. The director may make reasonable rules necessary for effectuating any provision of this title.
- B. The director shall make rules concerning proxies, consents or authorizations in respect of securities issued by domestic stock insurance companies having a class of equity securities held of record by one hundred or more persons to conform with the requirements of section 12(g)(2)(G)(ii) of the securities exchange act of 1934, as amended, and as may be amended. Such rule shall not apply to any such company having a class of equity securities which are registered or are required to be registered pursuant to section 12 of the securities exchange act of 1934, as amended, or as may be amended. Whenever such equity securities of any such company are registered or are required to be registered pursuant to section 12 of the securities exchange act of 1934, as amended, or as may be amended, then, no person shall solicit or permit the use of his name to solicit, in any manner whatsoever, any proxy, consent or authorization in respect of any equity security of such company without having first complied with the rules prescribed by the securities and exchange commission pursuant to section 14 of the securities exchange act of 1934, as amended, or as may be amended.
- C. All rules made pursuant to this section shall be subject to title 41, chapter 6.
- D. In addition to any other penalty provided, wilful violation of any rule made by the director is a violation of this title.

20-261.08. Rules

The director may adopt rules pursuant to title 41, chapter 6 to implement sections 20-261.03, 20-261.05, 20-261.06 and 20-261.07 relating to credit for reinsurance.

20-448.01. Required insurance procedures relating to HIV information; confidentiality; violations; penalties; definitions

- A. In this section unless the context otherwise requires:
 - 1. "Confidential HIV-related information" means information concerning whether a person has had an HIV-related test or has HIV infection, HIV-related illness or acquired immune deficiency syndrome and includes information which identifies or reasonably permits identification of that person or the person's contacts.
 - 2. "HIV" means the human immunodeficiency virus.
 - 3. "HIV-related test" means a laboratory test or series of tests for the virus, components of the virus or antibodies to the virus thought to indicate the presence of HIV infection.
 - 4. "Protected person" means a person who takes an HIV-related test or who has been diagnosed as having HIV infection, acquired immune deficiency syndrome or HIV-related illness.
 - 5. "Person" includes all entities subject to regulation under title 20, the employees, contractors and agents thereof, and anyone performing insurance related tasks for such entities, employees, contractors or agents.
- B. Except as otherwise specifically authorized or required by this state or by federal law, no person may require the performance of, or perform an HIV-related test without first receiving the specific written informed consent of the subject of the test who has capacity to consent or, if the subject lacks capacity to consent, of a person authorized pursuant to law to consent for that person. Written consent shall be in a form as prescribed by the director.

C. No person who obtains confidential HIV-related information in the course of processing insurance information or insurance applications or pursuant to a release of confidential HIV-related information may disclose or be compelled to disclose that information except to the following:

1. The protected person or, if the protected person lacks capacity to consent, a person authorized pursuant to law to consent for the protected person.
2. A person to whom disclosure is authorized in writing pursuant to a release as set forth in subsection E of this section, including but not limited to a physician designated by the insured or a medical information exchange for insurers operated under procedures intended to ensure confidentiality, provided that in the case of a medical information exchange:
 - (a) The insurer will not report that blood tests of an applicant showed the presence of the AIDS virus antibodies, but only that unspecified blood test results were abnormal.
 - (b) Reports must use a general code that also covers results of tests for many diseases or conditions, such as abnormal blood counts that are not related to HIV, AIDS, AIDS related complex or similar diseases.
3. A government agency specifically authorized by law to receive the information. The agency is authorized to redisclose the information only pursuant to this section or as otherwise permitted by law.
4. A person regulated by this title to which disclosure is ordered by a court or administrative body pursuant to section 36-665.
5. The industrial commission or parties to an industrial commission claim pursuant to the provisions of section 23-908, subsection D and section 23-1043.02.

D. Test results and application responses may be shared with the underwriting departments of the insurer and reinsurers, or to those contractually retained medical personnel, laboratories, and insurance affiliates, excluding agents and brokers, which are involved in underwriting decisions regarding the individual's application if disclosure is reasonably necessary to make the underwriting decision regarding such application, and claims information may be shared with claims personnel and attorneys reviewing claims if disclosure is reasonably necessary to process and resolve claims.

E. A release of confidential HIV-related information pursuant to subsection C, paragraph 2 of this section shall be signed by the protected person or, if the protected person lacks capacity to consent, a person authorized pursuant to law to consent for the protected person. A release shall be dated and shall specify to whom disclosure is authorized, the purpose for disclosure and the time period during which the release is effective. A general authorization for the release of medical or other information is not a release of confidential HIV-related information unless the authorization specifically indicates its purpose as a general authorization and an authorization for the release of confidential HIV-related information and complies with the requirements of this section.

F. A person to whom confidential HIV-related information is disclosed pursuant to this section shall not disclose the information to another person except as authorized by this section. This subsection does not apply to the protected person or a person who is authorized pursuant to law to consent for the protected person.

G. If a disclosure of confidential HIV-related information is made pursuant to the provisions of a written release as permitted by subsection C, paragraph 2 of this section, the disclosure shall be accompanied by a statement in writing which warns that the information is from confidential records which are protected by state law that prohibits further disclosure of the information without the specific written consent of the person to whom it pertains or as otherwise permitted by law.

H. The person making a disclosure in accordance with subsection C, paragraphs 3, 4 and 5, and subsection G of this section shall keep a record of all disclosures for the time period prescribed by the director. On request, a protected person or his legal representative shall have access to the record.

I. Except as otherwise provided pursuant to this section or subject to an order or search warrant issued pursuant to section 36-665, no person who receives confidential HIV-related information pursuant to a release of confidential HIV-related information may disclose that information to another person or legal entity or be compelled by subpoena, order, search warrant or other judicial process to disclose that information to another person or legal entity.

J. The director shall adopt rules to implement the allowable tests and testing procedures, written consent to perform a human immunodeficiency virus related test, procedures for confidentiality and disclosure of medical information and procedures for gathering underwriting information and may adopt additional rules reasonable and necessary to implement this section.

K. Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, nothing in this section shall be interpreted to restrict the director's authority to full access to records of any entity subject to regulation under title 20, including but not limited to all records containing confidential HIV-related information. The director may only redisclose confidential HIV-related information in accordance with this section.

L. A protected person, whose rights provided in this section have been violated by a person or entity described in subsection A, paragraph 5 of this section, has those individual remedies specified in section 20-2118 against such a person or entity.

20-461. Unfair claim settlement practices

A. A person shall not commit or perform with such a frequency to indicate as a general business practice any of the following:

1. Misrepresenting pertinent facts or insurance policy provisions relating to coverages at issue.
2. Failing to acknowledge and act reasonably and promptly upon communications with respect to claims arising under an insurance policy.
3. Failing to adopt and implement reasonable standards for the prompt investigation of claims arising under an insurance policy.
4. Refusing to pay claims without conducting a reasonable investigation based upon all available information.
5. Failing to affirm or deny coverage of claims within a reasonable time after proof of loss statements have been completed.

6. Not attempting in good faith to effectuate prompt, fair and equitable settlements of claims in which liability has become reasonably clear.
7. As a property or casualty insurer, failing to recognize a valid assignment of a claim. The property or casualty insurer shall have the rights consistent with the provisions of its insurance policy to receive notice of loss or claim and to all defenses it may have to the loss or claim, but not otherwise to restrict an assignment of a loss or claim after a loss has occurred.
8. Compelling insureds to institute litigation to recover amounts due under an insurance policy by offering substantially less than the amounts ultimately recovered in actions brought by the insureds.
9. Attempting to settle a claim for less than the amount to which a reasonable person would have believed he was entitled by reference to written or printed advertising material accompanying or made part of an application.
10. Attempting to settle claims on the basis of an application which was altered without notice to, or knowledge or consent of, the insured.
11. Making claims payments to insureds or beneficiaries not accompanied by a statement setting forth the coverage under which the payments are being made.
12. Making known to insureds or claimants a policy of appealing from arbitration awards in favor of insureds or claimants for the purpose of compelling them to accept settlements or compromises less than the amount awarded in arbitration.
13. Delaying the investigation or payment of claims by requiring an insured, a claimant or the physician of either to submit a preliminary claim report and then requiring the subsequent submission of formal proof of loss forms, both of which submissions contain substantially the same information.
14. Failing to promptly settle claims if liability has become reasonably clear under one portion of the insurance policy coverage in order to influence settlements under other portions of the insurance policy coverage.
15. Failing to promptly provide a reasonable explanation of the basis in the insurance policy relative to the facts or applicable law for denial of a claim or for the offer of a compromise settlement.
16. Attempting to settle claims for the replacement of any nonmechanical sheet metal or plastic part which generally constitutes the exterior of a motor vehicle, including inner and outer panels, with an aftermarket crash part which is not made by or for the manufacturer of an insured's motor vehicle unless the part meets the specifications of section 44-1292 and unless the consumer is advised in a written notice attached to or printed on a repair estimate which:
 - (a) Clearly identifies each part.
 - (b) Contains the following information in ten point or larger type:

This estimate has been prepared based on the use of replacement parts supplied by a source other than the manufacturer of your motor vehicle. Warranties applicable to these replacement parts are provided by the manufacturer or distributor of these parts rather than the manufacturer of your vehicle.
17. As an insurer subject to section 20-826, 20-1342, 20-1402 or 20-1404, or as an insurer of the same type as those subject to section 20-826, 20-1342, 20-1402 or 20-1404 that issues policies, contracts, plans, coverages or evidences of coverage for delivery in this state, failing to pay charges for reasonable and necessary services provided by any physician licensed pursuant to title 32, chapter 8, 13 or 17, if the services are within the lawful scope of practice of the physician and the insurance coverage includes diagnosis and treatment of the condition or complaint, regardless of the nomenclature used to describe the condition, complaint or service.

18. Failing to comply with chapter 15 of this title.

19. Denying liability for a claim under a motor vehicle liability policy in effect at the time of an accident without having substantial facts based on reasonable investigation to justify the denial for damages or injuries that are a result of the accident and that were caused by the insured if the denial is based solely on a medical condition that could affect the insured's driving ability.

B. Nothing in subsection A, paragraph 17 of this section shall be construed to prohibit the application of deductibles, coinsurance, preferred provider organization requirements, cost containment measures or quality assurance measures if they are equally applied to all types of physicians referred to in this section, and if any limitation or condition placed upon payment to or upon services, diagnosis or treatment by any physician covered by this section is equally applied to all physicians referred to in subsection A, paragraph 16 of this section, without discrimination to the usual and customary procedures of any type of physician. A determination under this section of discrimination to the usual and customary procedures of any type of physician shall not be based on whether an insurer applies medical necessity review to a particular type of service or treatment.

C. In prescribing rules to implement this section, the director shall follow, to the extent appropriate, the national association of insurance commissioners unfair claims settlement practices model regulation.

D. Nothing contained in this section is intended to provide any private right or cause of action to or on behalf of any insured or uninsured resident or nonresident of this state. It is, however, the specific intent of this section to provide solely an administrative remedy to the director for any violation of this section or rule related to this section.

E. The director shall deposit, pursuant to sections 35-146 and 35-147, all civil penalties collected pursuant to this article in the state general fund.

20-481.22. Power to make rules

The director may, upon notice and opportunity for all interested persons to be heard, issue such rules and orders as shall be necessary to carry out the provisions of this article, subject to title 41, chapter 6.

20-1691.02. Adoption of rules

The director may adopt reasonable rules to implement this article, including rules that:

1. Establish specific standards for policy provisions of long-term care insurance policies, including terms of renewability, initial and subsequent conditions of eligibility, nonduplication of coverage, coverage of dependents, preexisting conditions, termination of insurance, continuation, conversion, probationary periods, limitations, exceptions, reductions, elimination periods, replacement, recurrent conditions and definitions.

2. Establish loss ratio standards for long-term care insurance policies provided that a specific reference to long-term care insurance policies is contained in the rule.

3. Promote premium adequacy and protect policyholders in the event of substantial rate increases.
4. Establish standards for the manner, content and required disclosure for the sale of long-term care insurance policies, including disclosure of policy provisions, conditions and limitations.
5. Prescribe a standard format, including style, arrangement and overall appearance, and the content of an outline of coverage.
6. Establish minimum standards for marketing practices, insurance producer testing and reporting practices relating to long-term care insurance and penalties for violating the standards.
7. Specify the type or types of nonforfeiture benefits to be offered as part of a long-term care insurance policy and certificate, the standards for nonforfeiture benefits and the requirements for contingent benefit on lapse, including a determination of the specified period of time during which a contingent benefit on lapse will be available and the substantial premium rate increase that triggers a contingent benefit on lapse as described in section 20-1691.11.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE COMMISSION

Title 10, Chapter 4, Article 1, Crime Victim Compensation Program

GOVERNOR'S REGULATORY REVIEW COUNCIL

MEETING DATE: July 10, 2018

AGENDA ITEM: F-5

TO: Members of the Governor's Regulatory Review Council (Council)

FROM: Council Staff

DATE: June 19, 2018

SUBJECT: ARIZONA CRIMINAL JUSTICE COMMISSION (F-18-0706)
Title 10, Chapter 4, Article 1, Crime Victim Compensation Program

COMMENTS ON THE FIVE-YEAR REVIEW REPORT

Purpose of the Agency and Number of Rules in the Report:

In 1982, the Arizona State Legislature created the Crime Victim Compensation and Assistance Fund under A.R.S. § 41-2407 and directed the Criminal Justice Commission (Commission) to administer the fund. The Commission created the Crime Victim Compensation program and the Crime Victim Assistance program to award funds to public and private agencies for distribution to victims of criminally injurious conduct. The Commission staff provides grant monitoring, reporting, and program oversight and conducts financial and program reviews of agencies that receive crime victim funding.

This five-year review report from the Commission covers two rules, Sections 105 and 111, in A.A.C. Title 10, Chapter 4, Article 1 related to the Crime Victim Compensation program. A rescheduling request was granted on the remaining nine rules in the Article since the Council approved substantial amendments to those rules on February 6, 2018. Sections 105 and 111 were last amended in February 2013.

Proposed Action

After a thorough review of the rules during the rulemaking approved by the Council earlier this year, the Commission determines that no amendments are necessary for Sections 105 and 111.

1. Has the agency analyzed whether the rules are authorized by statute?

Yes. The Commission cites to A.R.S. § 41-2405(A)(8) as general authority for the rules, under which the Commission has the authority to adopt rules for "the purpose of allocating fund monies as provided in sections...41-2407 that are consistent with the purposes set forth in those sections and that promote effective and efficient use of the monies.”

As for specific authority, the Commission cites to A.R.S. § 41-2407, which establishes the victim compensation and assistance fund, as well as requires the Commission to administer the fund.

2. Summary of the agency’s economic impact comparison and identification of stakeholders:

The Commission indicates that the rules have minimal economic impact because the rules do not directly affect any businesses.

Key stakeholders are the Commission and crime victims. Any costs associated with the rules are borne exclusively by the Commission through dedicated program fund sources.

3. Has the agency analyzed the costs and benefits of the rulemaking and determined that the rules impose the least burden and costs to those who are regulated?

Yes. The Commission determines that the benefits of the rules greatly outweigh the costs. Any entity that applies under the rules for a grant from the Crime Victim Compensation and Assistance Fund does so voluntarily after determining that the benefits of receiving the grant outweighs the cost of completing the application and submitting any required reports.

4. Has the agency received any written criticisms of the rules over the last five years?

No. The Commission indicates that it has not received any written criticisms of the rules over the last five years.

5. Has the agency analyzed the rules’ clarity, conciseness, and understandability, consistency with other rules and statutes, and effectiveness?

Yes. The Commission indicates that the rules are effective in achieving their objectives, consistent with other rules and statutes, and clear, concise, and understandable.

6. Has the agency analyzed the current enforcement status of the rules?

Yes. The Commission indicates that the rules are enforced as written.

7. Are the rules more stringent than corresponding federal law and, if so, is there statutory authority to exceed the requirements of federal law?

No. The Commission indicates that the rules are not more stringent than federal law. The Victims of Crime Act (VOCA) of 1984 establishes the Federal Crime Victims Fund. Arizona receives funding for its Crime Victim Compensation program under VOCA because it meets the necessary criteria.

8. For rules adopted after July 29, 2010, do the rules require a permit or license and, if so, does the agency comply with A.R.S. § 41-1037?

No. The rules do not require a permit or license.

9. Conclusion

The Commission proposes no action on the rules. The report meets the requirements of A.R.S. § 41-1056 and R1-6-301. Council staff recommends approval of this report.

 10 A.A.C. 4, Article 1
 May 2018

1. Authorization of the rule by existing statutes

General Statutory Authority: A.R.S. § 41-2405(A)(8)

Specific Statutory Authority: R10-4-105 and R10-4-111 are specifically authorized by A.R.S. § 41-2407 and 41-2405(A)(8)

2. The objective of each rule:

Rule	Objective
R10-4-105	Crime Victim Compensation Board: The purpose for the existence of the rule is to describe the requirements for establishing a county-level crime victim compensation board, defining the board member appointment process, setting the term of board member service, describing board member training and attendance requirements, and generally outlining the programmatic responsibilities of the victim compensation board.
R10-4-111	Emergency Compensation Award: The purpose for the existence of the rule is to establish the availability of an emergency compensation award, the eligibility requirements for receiving an emergency award, and limits on how much can be paid to a claimant through an emergency award.

3. Are the rules effective in achieving their objectives? Yes X No

If not, please identify the rule(s) that is not effective and provide an explanation for why the rule(s) is not effective.

Rule	Explanation

4. Are the rules consistent with other rules and statutes? Yes X No

If not, please identify the rule(s) that is not consistent. Also, provide an explanation and identify the provisions that are not consistent with the rule.

Rule	Explanation

5. Are the rules enforced as written? Yes X No

If not, please identify the rule(s) that is not enforced as written and provide an explanation of the issues with enforcement. In addition, include the agency's proposal for resolving the issue.

Rule	Explanation

6. Are the rules clear, concise, and understandable? Yes No

If not, please identify the rule(s) that is not clear, concise, or understandable and provide an explanation as to how the agency plans to amend the rule(s) to improve clarity, conciseness, and understandability.

Rule	Explanation

7. Has the agency received written criticisms of the rules within the last five years? Yes No

If yes, please fill out the table below:

Commenter	Comment	Agency's Response

8. Economic, small business, and consumer impact comparison:

When the rules were made or substantially amended in 2012, the Commission correctly estimated that they would have minimal economic impact. The Commission was correct in anticipating that there was no economic impact to businesses regardless of size, because no businesses were directly affected by the rulemaking. Administrative workload and associated costs to ACJC have been significantly lower than anticipated because the estimated demand for state-level compensation claim reviews was higher than actual demand. As anticipated, the rulemaking did not result in the addition of any full or part time employees, and the rulemaking had no impact on state revenues.

9. Has the agency received any business competitiveness analyses of the rules? Yes No

10. Has the agency completed the course of action indicated in the agency's previous five-year-review report?

Please state what the previous course of action was and if the agency did not complete the action, please explain why not.

The rules were newly made or substantially amended in a rulemaking that was effective on February 4, 2012. These rules have not previously been the subject of a 5YRR.

11. A determination that the probable benefits of the rule outweigh within this state the probable costs of the rule, and the rule imposes the least burden and costs to regulated persons by the rule, including paperwork and other compliance costs, necessary to achieve the underlying regulatory objective:

The benefits of the rules greatly outweigh their minimal costs. No person is regulated by these rules. Any entity that applies under the rules for a grant of monies from the Crime Victim Compensation and Assistance Fund does so voluntarily after determining that the benefit of receiving grant monies outweighs the cost of making application and submitting required reports. An application and periodic reports are necessary to enable the Commission to evaluate proposed projects and ensure that all potential grant recipients are treated fairly and awarded funding is spent in compliance with program rules. Reports are necessary to ensure that Fund monies are properly spent and to enable the Commission to submit reports required of it.

12. Are the rules more stringent than corresponding federal laws? Yes ___ No X

Please provide a citation for the federal law(s). And if the rule(s) is more stringent, is there statutory authority to exceed the requirements of federal law(s)?

The applicable federal statute is the Victims of Crime Act of 1984, as amended, 42 U.S.C. 10601, et seq., referred to as VOCA.

MEETING DATE: July 10, 2018

AGENDA ITEM: F-6

TO: Members of the Governor's Regulatory Review Council (Council)

FROM: Council Staff

DATE: June 19, 2018

SUBJECT: DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH SERVICES (F-18-0705)
Title 9, Chapter 10, Article 1, General

COMMENTS ON THE FIVE-YEAR REVIEW REPORT

Purpose of the Agency and Number of Rules in the Report:

This five-year review report from the Arizona Department of Health Services (Department) covers 19 rules and one table in A.A.C. Title 9, Chapter 10, Article 1 related to licensing of health care institutions. The rules establish health care institution classes and subclasses; licensing exceptions; requirements for architectural plans and specifications; initial license application; fees; renewal license application; licensing time-frames; enforcement actions that can be taken by the Department; denial, revocation, or suspension of a license; requirements for tuberculosis screening; clinical practice restrictions for hemodialysis technician trainees; behavioral health paraprofessionals; nutrition and feeding assistant training programs; requirements for a collaborating health care institution; requirements for abortion reporting; and opioid prescribing and treatment.

The rules were last amended at various times between 2014 and 2018. This is the first five-year review report on the rules.

Proposed Action

The Department plans to amend the rules to implement statutory changes and address the issues identified in this memo, by submitting a Notice of Final Rulemaking to the Council by July 2019.

1. Has the agency analyzed whether the rules are authorized by statute?

Yes. The Department cites to A.R.S. §§ 36-132(A)(17) and 36-136(G) as general authority for the rules. A.R.S. § 36-132(A)(17) requires the Department to "license and regulate health care institutions” and under A.R.S. § 36-136(G), the Department “may make and amend rules necessary for the proper administration and enforcement of the laws relating to the public health.”

The Department also provides specific statutory authority for the rules in the report. Of particular significance is A.R.S. § 36-405, which requires the Department to “adopt rules to establish minimum standards and requirements for the construction, modification, and licensure of health care institutions necessary to assure the public health, safety and welfare.”

2. Summary of the agency’s economic impact comparison and identification of stakeholders:

The Department currently licenses over 6,000 facilities as one of 20 classes/subclasses of health care institutions. As of May 1, 2018, these include:

- . 132 hospitals
- . 45 behavioral health facilities
- . 148 nursing care institutions
- 3 recovery centers
- 8 hospice inpatient facilities
- 201 outpatient surgical centers
- 2,214 outpatient treatment centers
- 1 behavioral health specialized transitional facility
- 4 abortion clinics
- 3 substance abuse transitional facilities
- 545 behavioral health residential facilities
- 40 unclassified health care institutions
- 148 hospice service agencies
- 219 home health agencies
- 287 assisted living centers
- 1,757 assisted living homes
- 61 adult foster care homes
- 221 adult day health care facilities
- 13 behavioral health respite homes
- 44 adult behavioral health therapeutic homes
- 253 counseling facilities

The Department has undertaken 1,660 enforcement actions in the past year, resulting in the suspension or revocation of 10 licenses, and $743,664 in civil money penalties were assessed.

Stakeholders affected by the rules include the Department, health care institutions, medical practitioners, personnel members in licensed health care institutions, patients, their families, the general public, and the Arizona Health Care Cost Containment System (AHCCCS).

Additional stakeholders include architects, contractors, and engineers involved in the construction or modification of health care institutions.

3. Has the agency analyzed the costs and benefits of the rulemaking and determined that the rules impose the least burden and costs to those who are regulated?

Yes. The Department indicates that most of the requirements in Article 1 impose the least burden and costs to persons regulated by the rules. However, the Department believes that the burden of the rules will be further reduced after the issues identified in this report are addressed.

4. Has the agency received any written criticisms of the rules over the last five years?

No. The Department indicates that it has not received any written criticisms of the rules over the last five years.

5. Has the agency analyzed the rules' clarity, conciseness, and understandability, consistency with other rules and statutes, and effectiveness?

Yes. The Department indicates that the rules are effective with the following exceptions:

- Section 101: Definitions should be modified to update cross-references and correct grammatical errors.
- Section 102: Subsection (B) contains requirements for both the applicant and the Department, this subsection should be split into two separate subsections.
- Section 104: The rule should specify a time limit for keeping an application open before the application packet is considered withdrawn. The rule should also better reflect the types of services or modifications that require an architect to review architectural specifications and plans.
- Section 105: The rule should be amended to comply with statutory changes to the licensing requirements in A.R.S. Title 36, Chapter 4.
- Section 106: The fees in subsections (C)(3), (C)(6), (C)(7), and (D) should be modified to better reflect the Department's current costs. The fees have not been revised since they were first adopted in 2010.
- Section 107: The rule should be amended to comply with statutory changes to the licensing requirements in A.R.S. Title 36, Chapter 4.
- Section 108: Subsection (B) should specify a time limit for keeping an application for approval of architectural plans and specifications open before the application is considered withdrawn.
- Table 1.1: The table should be amended to comply with statutory changes.
- Section 109: The rule should be modified to specify circumstances in which the Department should be notified of a change.
- Section 110: The rule should be changed to include modifications such as requested change in authorized services.
- Section 112: Subsections (A)(2) and (3) should be amended to comply with statutory changes.

The Department also indicates that the following rules should be amended to remain consistent with other rules and statutes:

- Section 101: Cross-references in terms, “factory-built building” and “speech=language pathologist” should be updated.
- Sections 105, 107, 108, 112, and Table 1.1: The rules and table do not comply with statutory changes made to A.R.S. Title 36, Chapter 4, which established perpetual licenses.
- Section 109: Subsection (C)(1) contains outdated cross-references to R9-10-1603(A)(4) and R9-10-1803(A)(5).
- Section 110: In subsection (B)(4)(a), a reference to R9-10-412 should be changed to R9-1-412.
- Section 111: In subsection (A)(5) and (6), references to Section 111 should be Section 112.
- Section 114: In subsection (G), a reference to Section 110 should be Section 111.
- Section 118: Cross-references to subsection (B)(7) should be changed to subsection (7).

The Department indicates that the following rules could be made more clear, concise, and understandable:

- Section 101: Definitions such as clinical oversight, patient follow-up hospital, and rural general hospital should be updated to better reflect their meaning.
- Section 102: The term “physical health services” should be used instead of “physical care services” in subsection (B).
- Section 104: In subsection (A), the defined term “observation chair” should be used instead of “behavioral health observation/stabilization chair.”
- Section 105: The rule should be amended to better reflect the requirements in A.R.S. § 36-422(A)(2).
- Section 108: Subsection (C)(3) should be rewritten to clarify that a health care institution license will not be issued an applicant until the applicable fee is paid.
- Sections 109 and 110: Clarifying changes should be made.
- Section 113: The term “infectious active tuberculosis” should be used, as it is consistent with R9-6-101.
- Section 118: The term “collaborating health care institution” should be used in subsection (B)(7).

6. Has the agency analyzed the current enforcement status of the rules?

Yes. The Department indicates that the rules are enforced as written, except for Section 106. Subsections (C)(3), (C)(6), (C)(7), and (D) contain fees that were made by exempt rulemaking in 2014 and not remade through regular rulemaking within two years after they were adopted; therefore, the Department does not enforce those fees.

7. Are the rules more stringent than corresponding federal law and, if so, is there statutory authority to exceed the requirements of federal law?

No. The Department indicates that the rules are not more stringent than federal law.

8. For rules adopted after July 29, 2010, do the rules require a permit or license and, if so, does the agency comply with A.R.S. § 41-1037?

Yes. The rules require the issuance of a specific agency authorization, which is authorized by A.R.S. § 36-405. The statute requires the director to “adopt licensing provisions that facilitate the colocation and integration of outpatient treatment centers that provide medical, nursing and health-related services....”

9. Conclusion

The Department plans to submit a Notice of Final Rulemaking to the Council by July 2019. The report meets the requirements of A.R.S. § 41-1056 and R1-6-301. Council staff recommends approval of this report.

2. The objective of each rule:

The purpose of the rules in Article 1 is to specify requirements that are applicable to more than one class or subclass of health care institution or for which there is no other Article in the Chapter related to the subject.

Rule	Objective
R9-10-101	To define terms used in 9 A.A.C. 10 so that a reader can consistently interpret requirements in the Chapter.

R9-10-102	To identify the classes and subclasses under which a health care institution may apply for a license; and To require a health care institution to comply with the requirements in Article 17 if there are no specific rules in 9 A.A.C. 10 for the health care institution's class or subclass, or if the Department determines that the health care institution is an unclassified health care institution.
R9-10-103	To establish exceptions to health care institution licensing requirements for certain health care institutions or parts of health care institutions; and To identify when a hospital and its facilities do not require separate health care institution licenses.
R9-10-104	To establish requirements for an application for approval of architectural plans and specifications for construction or modification of a health care institution required to comply with any physical plant codes and standards in A.A.C. R9-1-412; To specify that an applicant may request an architectural evaluation from the Department; To require the Department to approve or deny architectural plans and specifications for a health care institution according to R9-10-108; and To clarify that obtaining Departmental approval of applicable architectural plans and specifications is a part of, but does not replace, the requirement to obtain a health care institution license before operating a health care institution.
R9-10-105	To establish initial license application requirements for health care institutions, including information regarding the health care institution's location, contact information, class or subclass, owner, governing authority, chief administrative officer, and physical plant; and To require a health care institution to comply with the initial application requirements in 9 A.A.C. 10 for the class or subclass for which licensure is requested.
R9-10-106	To establish a range of fees that the Department collects for licensing of health care institutions.
R9-10-107	To establish renewal license application requirements for health care institutions, including information regarding the health care institution's location, contact information, class or subclass, owner, governing authority, chief administrative officer, and physical plant; and To establish criteria for when a license is issued for a one-year or two-year period or for the duration of an accreditation period.
R9-10-108	To delineate time-frames for the Department to grant or deny an initial or a renewal license, or grant or deny approval of an application from a health care institution.
Table 1.1	To specify time-frames for the Department's review of architectural plans and specifications, an initial or a renewal license, or an application for a modification for a health care institution.
R9-10-109	To establish which changes to a health care institution require a licensee to notify the Department; To establish the information a licensee or a health care institution's governing authority is required to provide to the Department when a change specified in the rule occurs; To establish notification requirements for an adult behavioral health therapeutic home, a behavioral health respite home, an affiliated outpatient treatment center, or a counseling facility; To specify when a new initial license application is required and when documentation of a health care institution's architectural plans and specifications are not required to be submitted with an initial application; To require the Department to approve or deny a request for a change in services or modification of a health care institution according to R9-10-108; and To prohibit a licensee from implementing a change or modification described in the rule until an approval or amended license is issued by the Department.

R9-10-110	To specify when a health care institution is required to submit an application for approval of architectural plans and specifications for a modification to the Department, To establish the documentation a licensee is required to submit to the Department when requesting approval of a modification, To require the Department to approve or deny a request for a modification according to R9-10-108, and To prohibit a licensee from implementing a modification described in the rule until an approval or amended license is issued by the Department.
R9-10-111	To establish the actions that the Department may take if an applicant or licensee is not in substantial compliance with applicable rules, and To establish the factors that the Department will consider in determining the appropriate enforcement action.
R9-10-112	To establish the circumstances under which the Department may deny, revoke, or suspend a license to operate a health care institution for an applicant, licensee, or controlling person of the health care institution.
R9-10-113	To establish requirements related to screening for tuberculosis.
R9-10-114	To establish clinical practice restrictions for a hemodialysis technician trainee working in a health care institution.
R9-10-115	To establish requirements for a health care institution using behavioral health technicians or behavioral health paraprofessionals for providing services to patients of the health care institution.
R9-10-116	To establish requirements related to the approval and operation of a nutrition and feeding assistant training program.
R9-10-118	To establish requirements for a collaborating health care institution related to documentation and to the collaborating health care institution's responsibilities for patients referred by the collaborating health care institution to an adult behavioral health therapeutic home or a behavioral health respite home.
R9-10-119	To clarify the abortion reporting requirements in A.R.S. § 36-2161, and To specify situations where a transfer of custody of fetal tissue would require reporting and when it would not require reporting.
R9-10-120	To establish requirements for a health care institution related to prescribing, ordering, or administering opioids as part of treatment.

3. Are the rules effective in achieving their objectives? Yes ___ No X

If not, please identify the rule(s) that is not effective and provide an explanation for why the rule(s) is not effective.

------	-------------

R9-10-101	The rule would be more effective if changes were made to definitions in the rule, including: the definition of “administrative office” were revised to specify that behavioral health services cannot be provided in a location designated as an administrative office; the term “behavioral health services” were also added to the definitions of “contracted services” and “opioid treatment”; the definition of “applicant” also included a governing authority requesting approval of a modification not requiring architectural plans and specifications; the definition of “behavioral health staff” were removed because the term is not used in the Chapter; the definition of “court-ordered pre-petition screening” were corrected to read “same meaning as “prepetition screening” in A.R.S. § 36-501”; the definition of “informed consent” were changed to use the defined term “psychotropic medication” rather than “psychotropic drug” and to add “opioid” to the definition for consistency with R9-10-120; the definition of “medication” were corrected to use the defined term “nonprescription drug” rather than “nonprescription medication”; the term “occupational therapy assistant” as defined in A.R.S. § 32-3401 were used rather than “occupational therapist assistant”; definitions of “respite capacity” and “single group license” were added; and incorrect cross-references and grammatical errors were corrected. In addition, the term “contractor,” as defined in the rule, is used incorrectly in R9-10-219(11), and the term “medical staff bylaws” should be corrected in the rule and in R9-10-203, R9-10-902, and R9-10-911.
R9-10-102	Subsection (B) contains requirements for two different persons and would be more effective if requirements for each person were in separate subsections.
R9-10-104	The rule would be more effective if the rule contained a time limit for keeping an incomplete application open before the application packet is considered withdrawn. The rule could also be more effective if changes were made to the rule to better reflect the types of services or modifications that require an architect to review architectural plans and specifications rather than licensing personnel to review a floor plan/site plan. The rule would also be more effective if the mailing address, if different from the street address, were required.
R9-10-105	The rule is not effective because it does not comply with changes made by Laws 2017, Ch. 122, to the licensing requirements in A.R.S. Title 36, Chapter 4, since it refers to an initial license and does not include an indication that the license is valid unless revoked or suspended, the license is voluntarily surrendered upon the licensee closing the health care institution, or a required fee is not paid. The rule would also be more effective if an application required information about the requested respite capacity, if applicable, and the mailing address, if different from the street address.
R9-10-106	The rule would be more effective if the obsolete subsections (C)(3), (6), and (7) and (D) were removed or remade. The fee amounts in rule have not been revised since they were adopted, effective January 1, 2010, by exempt rulemaking to implement a statutory change establishing self-funding for health care institutions. The rule could also be more effective if these fee amounts were reviewed and potentially changed so they more accurately reflect the costs to the Department.
R9-10-107	The rule is not effective because it does not comply with changes made by Laws 2017, Ch. 122, to the licensing requirements in A.R.S. Title 36, Chapter 4, since it refers to a renewal license.
R9-10-108	The rule would be more effective if subsection (B) contained a time limit for keeping open an application for approval of architectural plans and specifications before the application is considered withdrawn, if the rule did not refer to an initial or renewal license, and if other changes were made to comply with Laws 2017, Ch. 122, if necessary.
Table 1.1	The Table would be more effective if changes were made to comply with Laws 2017, Ch. 122.
R9-10-109	The rule would be more effective if it specified the notification of the Department of a change in the chief administrative officer, consistent with A.R.S. 36-425(I); required notification of a change in hours of operation; and included other changes to comply with Laws 2017, Ch. 122, related to initial or renewal licenses. The rule would also be more effective if the rule required the notification of a change in the health care institutions covered under a single group license and related application requirements, and if the rule more clearly delineated when a change in name requires notification of the change (name change without change in ownership) and when a new application for licensure (change in ownership) is required. Since the changes described in subsections (H) and (I) would constitute a modification rather than a change, the subsections should be removed or moved into R9-10-110.

R9-10-110	The rule would be more effective if modifications, such as a requested change in authorized services, were included in the rule.
R9-10-111	The rule would be more effective if incorrect cross-references were corrected.
R9-10-112	The rule would be more effective if changes were made in subsections (A)(2) and (3) to bring the rule into compliance with changes made by Laws 2017, Ch. 122.
R9-10-118	The rule would be more effective if incorrect cross-references were corrected.

4. Are the rules consistent with other rules and statutes? Yes ___ No X

If not, please identify the rule(s) that is not consistent. Also, provide an explanation and identify the provisions that are not consistent with the rule.

Rule	Explanation
R9-10-101	The reference in the definition of “factory-built building” should be to A.R.S. § 41-4001, not to A.R.S. § 41-2142. The cross-reference in the definition of “speech-language pathologist” should be to A.R.S. Title 36, not to Title 35.
R9-10-105, R9-10-107, R9-10-108, Table 1.1, and R9-10-112	The rule does not comply with changes made by Laws 2017, Ch. 122, to the licensing requirements in A.R.S. Title 36, Chapter 4, which established perpetual licenses.
R9-10-109	The cross-references in subsection (C)(1) should be to R9-10-1603(A)(3) and R9-10-1803(A)(3), not to R9-10-1603(A)(4) and R9-10-1803(A)(5).
R9-10-110	The cross-reference in subsection (B)(4)(a) should be to R9-1-412 not to R9-10-412.
R9-10-111	The cross-references in subsections (A)(5) and (6) should be to R9-10-112 not to R9-10-111.
R9-10-114	The cross-reference in subsection (G) should be to R9-10-111 not to R9-10-110.
R9-10-118	The cross-references in subsections (B)(8) and (9)(c) should be to subsection (B)(7) not to subsection (7).

5. Are the rules enforced as written? Yes ___ No X

If not, please identify the rule(s) that is not enforced as written and provide an explanation of the issues with enforcement. In addition, include the agency’s proposal for resolving the issue.

Rule	Explanation
------	-------------

R9-10-106	The fees in subsections (C)(3), (6), and (7) and (D), which were added by the 2014 exempt rulemaking and not remade through regular rulemaking within two years after their adoption, are not enforced.
-----------	---

6. Are the rules clear, concise, and understandable? Yes No

If not, please identify the rule(s) that is not clear, concise, or understandable and provide an explanation as to how the agency plans to amend the rule(s) to improve clarity, conciseness, and understandability.

Rule	Explanation
Multiple, including R9-10-101, R9-10-104, R9-10-110, R9-10-113, R9-10-115, and R9-10-116	The rule would be clearer if minor grammatical errors in the rule were corrected and wording changes made to improve understandability.
R9-10-101	The rule would be clearer if the definition of “clinical oversight” included monitoring to ensure that a behavioral health technician is providing services to a patient in an appropriate manner, if the term “patient follow-up instructions” were changed to “follow-up instructions,” if the definition of “rural general hospital” were re-formatted, and the defined term were “time-out” rather than “time out” to be consistent with use in the rest of the Chapter. Although not an issue with the definition of “pest control program” itself, other rules in the Chapter would be improved if requirements in Articles using the defined term were clarified to ensure compliance with requirements in A.A.C. R3-8-201(C)(4). In addition, the defined term “supportive services” should be used in R9-10-607(A)(3), rather than “supportive care.”
R9-10-102	The rule would be clearer if the defined term “physical health services” were used in subsection (B), rather than “physical care services.”
R9-10-104	The rule would be clearer if the defined term “observation chair” were used in subsection (A)(1)(g), rather than “behavioral health observation/stabilization chair.”
R9-10-105	The rule would be clearer if subsection (A)(5)(a) were changed to better describe requirements in A.R.S. § 36-422(A)(2).
R9-10-108	The rule would be clearer if subsection (C)(3) were clarified to indicate that a health care institution license is not issued to an applicant approved for a license until the applicable fee is paid.
R9-10-109	The rule would be clearer if the terms “affiliated counseling facility” and “affiliated outpatient treatment center” were moved from R9-10-1901 into R9-10-101.
R9-10-110	The rule would be clearer if a typographical error were corrected in subsection (B), subsection (B)(4)(a) were clarified to include a part of a health care institution, and other minor wording changes were made to improve the understandability of the rule.
R9-10-113	The rule would be clearer and more understandable if the term “infectious active tuberculosis” were used, consistent with the definition in A.A.C. R9-6-101, and defined in R9-10-101.

R9-10-118	The rule would be clearer and more understandable if the term “collaborating health care institution” were used in subsection (B)(7), consistent with the definition in R9-10-101.

If yes, please fill out the table below:

Rule	Explanation

8. Economic, small business, and consumer impact comparison:

The Department currently licenses over 6,000 facilities as one of 20 classes/subclasses of health care institutions under the rules in 9 A.A.C. 10, Article 1. As of May 1, 2018, these include: 132 hospitals; 45 behavioral health inpatient facilities; 148 nursing care institutions; three recovery care centers; 8 hospice inpatient facilities; 201 outpatient surgical centers; 2,214 outpatient treatment centers; one behavioral health specialized transitional facility; four abortion clinics; three substance abuse transitional facilities; 545 behavioral health residential facilities; 40 unclassified health care institutions; 148 hospice service agencies; 219 home health agencies; 287 assisted living centers; 1,757 assisted living homes; 61 adult foster care homes; 21 adult day health care facilities; 13 behavioral health respite homes; 44 adult behavioral health therapeutic homes; and 253 counseling facilities. Under R9-10-111 and R9-10-112, the Department has undertaken 1,660 enforcement actions in the past year, resulting in the suspension or revocation of 10 licenses, and $743,664 in civil money penalties were assessed.

In the past five years, these rules have been revised 11 times. All of the rules, except R9-10-119 and R9-10-120, were revised by at least two of the five exempt rulemakings that took place between 2013 and 2016. R9-10-119 was adopted by emergency rulemaking at 21 A.A.R. 1787, effective August 14, 2015; renewed by emergency rulemaking at 22 A.A.R. 420, effective February 11, 2016; and then adopted by regular rulemaking at 22 A.A.R. 1343, with an immediate effective date of May 5, 2016. R9-10-120 was adopted by emergency rulemaking at 23 A.A.R. 2203, effective July 28, 2017; renewed by emergency rulemaking at 24 A.A.R. 303, effective January 24, 2018; and then adopted by regular rulemaking at 24 A.A.R. 657, with an immediate effective date of March 6, 2018. An economic, small business, and consumer impact statement (EIS) was prepared as part of the regular rulemaking for both of these two rules. Annual costs/revenues changes were designated in the EIS for R9-10-119 as minimal when $1,000 or less, moderate when between $1,000 and $10,000, and substantial when $10,000 or greater in additional costs or revenues, and for R9-10-120 as minimal when more than $0 and $10,000 or less, moderate when between $10,000 and $50,000, and substantial when $50,000 or greater in additional costs or revenues. A cost was listed as significant when meaningful or important, but not readily subject to quantification. The designations used in the EIS for R9-10-120 are used in this comparison, except when discussing R9-10-119.

Stakeholders affected by these rules include the Department, health care institutions licensed under the rules, medical practitioners in licensed health care institutions, personnel members in licensed health care institutions, patients/residents/participants/recipients and their families, and the general public. Architects, contractors, and engineers involved in the construction or modification of a health care institution are also stakeholders for R9-10-104. The Arizona Health Care Cost Containment System (AHCCCS) is also a stakeholder for R9-10-112.

As part of the exempt rulemakings, R9-10-101 has been revised four times. The 2013 integration rulemaking in 19 AAR 2015 resulted in 159 new or moved definitions, 17 revised definitions, and 18 definitions removed. The 2014 integration rulemaking in 20 A.A.R. 1409 resulted in 21 new or moved definitions, 30 revised definitions, and 4 definitions removed. The 2014 rulemaking for counseling facilities in 20 A.A.R. 3535 resulted in 1 new definition, 4 revised definitions, and 1 definition removed. The 2016 rulemaking for colocation in 22 A.A.R. 1035 resulted in 1 new definition. The Department believes that these changes provided a significant benefit to all stakeholders.

Besides clarifying existing requirements and updating cross-references, the 2013 integration rulemaking in 19 AAR 2015 resulted in the addition of new health care institution classes/subclasses being added to R9-10-102; removing references to 9 A.A.C. 20 for facilities providing behavioral health services from R9-10-103 and adding that a separate license is not required for a satellite facility or a facility only providing ancillary services. Requirements for fees were renumbered into R0-10-106 and clarified to include behavioral health facilities. Changes to R9-10-107 included the removal of the requirement for a signature to be notarized and clarification of the term of licensure and that no onsite compliance inspection would be performed during an accreditation period. The rulemaking tied enforcement actions in the original R9-10-110 to violations posing a direct risk to patients. In the original R9-10-113 for hemodialysis technician trainees, definitions that had been moved to R9-10-101 were removed, as was an obsolete/confusing requirement. The Department believes that these changes provided a significant benefit to all stakeholders, with some providing a minimal benefit.

In addition, the rulemaking added a requirement for providing information on requested licensed occupancy to R9-10-104. In R9-10-105, the rulemaking added a requirement for specifying services for which authorization is requested and providing a proposed scope of services. The revised rule also clarified that, if part of the HCI must comply with requirements in A.A.C. R9-1-412, the applicant must submit an application according to R9-10-104. Changes to R9-10-107 included a requirement for the scope of services to be provided, and changes to R9-10-109 included requirements for notification when intending to terminate operation of a health care institution. The Department believes these changes may have imposed a minimal cost on health care institutions and provided a significant benefit to other stakeholders. A new R9-10-112 added requirements related to tuberculosis screening; and a new R9-10-114 added and updated requirements for behavioral health paraprofessionals and behavioral health technicians from 9 A.A.C. 20. In R9-10-115, requirements for unclassified health care institutions were repealed since a new Article for these facilities was adopted in the Chapter, and new requirements for nutrition and feeding assistant training programs were added. Requirements for counselling facilities were added to R9-10-116, and requirements for collaborating health care institutions with respect to responsibilities for oversight of adult behavioral health therapeutic homes and children's behavioral health respite homes were added to R9-10-117. The Department believes these changes may have imposed a minimal-to-moderate cost on health care institutions and provided a significant benefit to other stakeholders by protecting the health and safety of patients, residents, participants, and recipients.

The 2014 integration rulemaking in 20 AAR 1409 further clarified existing requirements and updated cross-references. The rulemaking also added new classes/subclasses of health care institutions, specified that a behavioral health respite home may be used for adults as well as children, and moved requirements related to modification into a separate Section than for changes to improve effectiveness. The Department believes that these changes provided a significant benefit to all stakeholders, with some providing a minimal-to-substantial benefit to some stakeholders. The rulemaking added requirements in R9-10-104 for providing information about the project architect or engineer and certification for installed equipment, as well as adding that the Department may conduct on-site review during construction to conform with current practice. In R9-10-106, the Department added fees for licensed occupancy and dialysis stations and for satellite facilities. Additional changes were also made in the Section containing requirements for behavioral health paraprofessionals and behavioral health technicians to reflect that more than policies and procedures were needed to use unlicensed individuals to perform patient care services that would require a professional license if performed outside a licensed health care institution. Minor changes were also made to the renumbered R9-10-116, adding new requirements for nutrition and feeding assistant training programs. Requirements for collaborating health care institutions with respect to responsibilities for oversight of adult behavioral health therapeutic homes and children's behavioral health respite homes were added to the renumbered R9-10-118, including responsibilities for ensuring that a new patient does not pose threat to current resident or vice versa and that a patient is appropriately placed. The rulemaking also added requirements for documentation related to placement and tuberculosis screening be in a patient's medical record at the collaborating health care institution. The Department believes these changes may have imposed a minimal-to-moderate cost on health care institutions and provided a significant benefit to other stakeholders by protecting the health and safety of patients, residents, participants, and recipients.

In addition to the changes made through the integration rulemakings in 2013 and 2014, R9-10-109 and R9-10-112 were further revised in subsequent rulemakings. In a rulemaking related to counseling facilities at 20 A.A.R. 3535, notification requirements for affiliated outpatient treatment centers and counseling facilities receiving administrative support from an affiliated outpatient treatment center were added to R9-10-109. Notification that the license of a hospital would be suspended or revoked if the hospital's provider agreement with AHCCCS were suspended or revoked was added at 20 A.A.R. 97 to comply with Laws 2013, Ch. 10. Besides the potential costs to a hospital imposed by Laws 2013, Ch. 10, rather than the rules, the Department estimates that these changes may have imposed a minimal cost on affected health care institutions.

In the EIS submitted with the rulemaking for R9-10-119, cost bearers were identified as the Department and licensed health care institutions where abortions are performed, including hospitals, outpatient treatment centers, and abortion clinics. Beneficiaries were identified as the Department, health care institutions, and the general public. The Department estimated that the review of the additional information required in the rule would impose at most a minimal cost on the Department and could provide a significant benefit to the Department from having accurate information about the final disposition of fetal tissue. Licensed health care institutions where abortions are performed were estimated to incur a minimal cost from the added time to comply with the requirement for reporting the final disposition of the fetal tissue. If a licensed health care institution where abortions are performed transfers custody of fetal tissue to a person other than as specified in the rule, the Department estimated that the licensed health care institution where abortions are performed might incur a minimal-to-moderate cost from the added time to compile the additional information required by the rule. The Department anticipated that a licensed health care institution where abortions are performed that meets the reporting exception requirements in subsection (B) of the rule might receive a significant benefit from assuring the general public that such transfers are not occurring at the health care institution. The general public was believed to receive a significant benefit from the assurance that transfers of fetal tissue to a person other than a funeral establishment or crematory are being monitored by the Department. The Department believes that the costs and benefits identified in this EIS are generally consistent with the actual costs and benefits of the rules.

The EIS submitted with the rulemaking for R9-10-120 identified persons affected by the rulemaking to include the Department, AHCCCS and other third-party payors, licensed health care institutions, individuals prescribing or ordering an opioid on behalf of a licensed health care institution, individuals administering an opioid to a patient on behalf of a licensed health care institution or providing assistance in the self-administration of medication for a patient's prescribed opioid, patients of licensed health care institutions and their families, and the general public. The Department was believed to receive a significant benefit from being better able to, and more easily, assess whether a licensed health care institution is adequately addressing the opioid epidemic occurring in Arizona. The Department believed that AHCCCS and other third-party payers might receive up to a substantial cost savings through a reduction in the number of hospitalizations or emergency department visits from individuals suffering an opioid overdose as a result of opioids prescribed, ordered, or administered as part of treatment in licensed health care institutions. The Department believed that making changes to their policies and procedures to specifically address opioids and having specific processes in place as part of an existing quality management program would cause most licensed health care institutions to incur a minimal cost, although there might be a few with extensive ordering, prescribing, or administration policies and procedures or that identified a larger number of opioid-related adverse reactions or other negative patient outcomes that could incur a moderate cost. Having these processes in place was believed to provide a significant benefit to a licensed health care institution. The Department anticipated that licensed health care institutions not already reporting deaths to the Department might incur a minimal-to-moderate increase in costs for reporting these deaths, depending on the number of opioid-related deaths being reported. Clinical requirements that the administrator of a licensed health care institution is required to ensure take place might impose minimal-to-substantial increased cost on a health care institution depending on what practices the health care institution was currently employing. The requirements in the rule related to the administration of an opioid to a patient or to providing assistance in the self-administration of medication for a prescribed opioid might cause a licensed health care institution to incur at most a minimal increased cost. The Department believed that the rule might cause an affected medical practitioner (physician, physician assistant, or registered nurse practitioner who works for a licensed health care institution) to incur minimal-to-moderate additional costs, depending on the number of patients for whom the medical practitioner orders, prescribes, or administers opioids, and cause them to receive a significant benefit from providing better care to a patient. The Department anticipated that patients and their families might receive a significant benefit from the requirements in the rule. If a licensed health care institution passed on any increases in cost due to the rule, a patient could incur a minimal increase in the cost of services provided by the licensed health care institution. The Department anticipated that the general public would receive a significant benefit from the rule, which was developed to help combat the opioid overdose epidemic and reduce the number of opioid overdose deaths. Since the effective date of this rule was March 6, 2018, it is too early to determine if the costs and benefits identified in this EIS are generally consistent with the actual costs and benefits of the rules.

9. Has the agency received any business competitiveness analyses of the rules? Yes ___ No X

10. Has the agency completed the course of action indicated in the agency's previous five-year-review report?

Please state what the previous course of action was and if the agency did not complete the action, please explain why not.
This is the first five-year review of the rules since they were totally revised in the 2013 rulemaking, so there is no previous course of action.

11. A determination that the probable benefits of the rule outweigh within this state the probable costs of the rule, and the rule imposes the least burden and costs to regulated persons by the rule, including paperwork and other compliance costs, necessary to achieve the underlying regulatory objective:

The changes in both the 2013 exempt rulemaking and the 2014 exempt rulemaking, as well as additional rulemakings revising parts of the Article, were intended to reduce monetary and regulatory costs. Although most of the requirements in the Article impose the least burden and costs to persons regulated by the rule necessary to achieve the underlying regulatory objective, the Department believes that the burden of the rules would be further reduced through a rulemaking to address identified issues.

12. Are the rules more stringent than corresponding federal laws? Yes ___ No X

Please provide a citation for the federal law(s). And if the rule(s) is more stringent, is there statutory authority to exceed the requirements of federal law(s)?

13. For rules adopted after July 29, 2010 that require the issuance of a regulatory permit, license, or agency authorization, whether the rules are in compliance with the general permit requirements of A.R.S. § 41-1037 or explain why the agency believes an exception applies:

The rules require the issuance of a specific agency authorization, which is authorized by A.R.S. § 36-405, so a general permit is not applicable.

14. Proposed course of action

If possible, please identify a month and year by which the agency plans to complete the course of action.

The Department plans to change the rules to implement Laws 2017, Ch. 122, as well as to address other issues identified in this report, and submit a Notice of Final Rulemaking to the Governor's Regulatory Review Council by July 2019.

TITLE 9. HEALTH SERVICES

CHAPTER 10. DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH SERVICES - HEALTH CARE INSTITUTIONS: LICENSING

Editor's Note: The heading for 9 A.A.C. 10 changed from "Licensure" to "Licensing" per a request from the Department of Health Services (Supp. 03-4).

Editor's Note: The Office of the Secretary of State publishes all Chapters on white paper (Supp. 01-2).

Editor's Note: This Chapter contains rules which were adopted, amended, and repealed under exemptions from the provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act (A.R.S. Title 41, Chapter 6) pursuant to Laws 1993, Ch. 163, § 3(B); Laws 1996, Ch. 329, § 5; Laws 1998, Ch. 178 § 17, and Laws 1999, Ch. 311. Exemption from A.R.S. Title 41, Chapter 6 means that the Department of Health Services did not submit these rules to the Governor's Regulatory Review Council for review; the Department may not have submitted notice of proposed rulemaking to the Secretary of State for publication in the Arizona Administrative Register; the Department was not required to hold public hearings on these rules; and the Attorney General did not certify these rules. Because this Chapter contains rules which are exempt from the regular rulemaking process, the Chapter is printed on blue paper.

K. The powers and duties prescribed by this section do not apply in instances in which regulatory powers and duties relating to public health are vested by the legislature in any other state board, commission, agency or instrumentality, except that with regard to the regulation of meat and meat products, the department of health services and the Arizona department of agriculture within the area delegated to each shall adopt rules that are not in conflict.

The standards and requirements shall relate to the construction, equipment, sanitation, staffing for medical, nursing and personal care services, and recordkeeping pertaining to the administration of medical, nursing, behavioral health and personal care services, in accordance with generally accepted practices of health care. The director shall use the current standards adopted by the joint commission on accreditation of hospitals and the commission on accreditation of the American osteopathic association or those adopted by any recognized accreditation organization approved by the department as guidelines in prescribing minimum standards and requirements under this section.

B. The director, by rule, may:

A person shall not establish, conduct or maintain in this state a health care institution or any class or subclass of health care institution unless that person holds a current and valid license issued by the department specifying the class or subclass of health care institution the person is establishing, conducting or maintaining. The license is valid only for the establishment, operation and maintenance of the class or subclass of health care institution, the type of services and, except for emergency admissions as prescribed by the director by rule, the licensed capacity specified by the license.

B. The licensee shall not imply by advertising, directory listing or otherwise that the licensee is authorized to perform services more specialized or of a higher degree of care than is authorized by this chapter and the underlying rules for the particular class or subclass of health care institution within which the licensee is licensed.

The agreement may include any stipulations regarding the health care institution or facility, including conditions for future expansion of the health care institution or facility and changes in the operational status of the health care institution or facility that will result in a breach of the agreement. This subsection does not apply to the issuance of a license for a health care institution located in the same location for which a health care institution license was previously issued.

E. Notwithstanding any law to the contrary, a health care institution that was licensed as a level 1 psychiatric acute behavioral health facility-inpatient facility as of January 1, 2012 and that is not certified under title XIX of the social security act shall be licensed as a hospital and is not required to comply with the physical plant standards for a general hospital, rural general hospital or special hospital prescribed by the department.

If a hospital complies with applicable licensure or accreditation requirements, the department shall reissue individual licenses for each hospital facility that is located in a separate building from the main hospital building if requested to do so by the hospital. This subsection does not limit the department's duty to inspect a health care institution to determine its compliance with department licensure standards. This subsection does not apply to nursing care institutions and residential care institutions.

H. An applicant or licensee must notify the department within thirty days after any change regarding a controlling person and provide the information and affirmation required pursuant to subsection A, paragraph 1, subdivision (d) of this section.

3. A written request for a temporary license that includes:

(a) The anticipated date of operation.

(b) An attestation signed by the applicant that the applicant and the facility comply with and will continue to comply with the applicable licensing statutes and rules.

1. The name of the facility.
2. The name of the licensee.
3. The facility's class or subclass.
4. The temporary license's effective date.

Subject to the limitation prescribed by subsection B of this section, the director shall inspect the premises of the health care institution and investigate the character and other qualifications of the applicant to ascertain whether the applicant and the health care institution are in substantial compliance with the requirements of this chapter and the rules established pursuant to this chapter. The director may prescribe rules regarding department background investigations into an applicant's character and qualifications.
- B. The director shall accept proof that a health care institution is an accredited hospital or is an accredited health care institution in lieu of all compliance inspections required by this chapter if the director receives a copy of the institution's accreditation report for the licensure period. If the health care institution's accreditation report is not valid for the entire licensure period, the department may conduct a compliance inspection of the health care institution during the time period the department does not have a valid accreditation report for the health care institution.
- C. On a determination by the director that there is reasonable cause to believe a health care institution is not adhering to the licensing requirements of this chapter, the director and any duly designated employee or agent of the director, including county health representatives and county or municipal fire inspectors, consistent with standard medical practices, may enter on and into the premises of any health care institution that is licensed or required to be licensed pursuant to this chapter at any reasonable time for the purpose of determining the state of compliance with this chapter, the rules adopted pursuant to this chapter and local fire ordinances or rules. Any application for licensure under this chapter constitutes permission for and complete acquiescence in any entry or inspection of the premises during the pendency of the application and, if licensed, during the term of the license. If an inspection reveals that the health care institution is not adhering to the licensing requirements established pursuant to this chapter, the director may take action authorized by this chapter. Any health care institution, including an accredited hospital, whose license has been suspended or revoked in accordance with this section is subject to inspection on application for relicensure or reinstatement of license.
- D. The director shall immediately report to the board of examiners of nursing care institution administrators information identifying that a nursing care institution administrator's conduct may be grounds for disciplinary action pursuant to section 36-446.07.

36-425. Inspections; issuance of license; posting requirements; provisional license; denial of license

- A. On receipt of a properly completed application for a health care institution license, the director shall conduct an inspection of the health care institution as prescribed by this chapter. If an application for a license is submitted due to a planned change of ownership, the director shall determine the need for an inspection of the health care institution. Based on the results of the inspection and after the submission of the applicable licensing fee, the director shall either deny the license or issue a regular or provisional license. A license issued by the department shall be posted in a conspicuous location in the reception area of that institution.

B. The director shall issue a license if the director determines that an applicant and the health care institution for which the license is sought substantially comply with the requirements of this chapter and rules adopted pursuant to this chapter and the applicant agrees to carry out a plan acceptable to the director to eliminate any deficiencies. The director shall not require a health care institution that was designated as a critical access hospital to make any modifications required by this chapter or rules adopted pursuant to this chapter in order to obtain an amended license with the same licensed capacity the health care institution had before it was designated as a critical access hospital if all of the following are true:

1. The health care institution has subsequently terminated its critical access hospital designation.
2. The licensed capacity of the health care institution does not exceed its licensed capacity before its designation as a critical access hospital.
3. The health care institution remains in compliance with the applicable codes and standards that were in effect at the time the facility was originally licensed with the higher licensed capacity.

C. A health care institution license does not expire and remains valid unless:

1. The department subsequently revokes or suspends the license.
2. The license is considered void because the licensee did not pay the licensing fee before the licensing fee due date.

D. Except as provided in section 36-424, subsection B and subsection E of this section, the department shall conduct a compliance inspection of a health care institution to determine compliance with this chapter and rules adopted pursuant to this chapter at least once annually.

E. If the department determines a facility to be deficiency free on a compliance survey, the department shall not conduct a compliance survey of that facility for twenty-four months after the date of the deficiency free survey. This subsection does not prohibit the department from enforcing licensing requirements as authorized by section 36-424.

F. A hospital licensed as a rural general hospital may provide intensive care services.

G. The director shall issue a provisional license for a period of not more than one year if an inspection or investigation of a currently licensed health care institution or a health care institution for which an applicant is seeking a license reveals that the institution is not in substantial compliance with department licensure requirements and the director believes that the immediate interests of the patients and the general public are best served if the institution is given an opportunity to correct deficiencies. The applicant or licensee shall agree to carry out a plan to eliminate deficiencies that is acceptable to the director. The director shall not issue consecutive provisional licenses to a single health care institution. The director shall not issue a license to the current licensee or a successor applicant before the expiration of the provisional license unless the health care institution submits an application for a substantial compliance survey and is found to be in substantial compliance. The director may issue a license only if the director determines that the institution is in substantial compliance with the licensure requirements of the department and this chapter. This subsection does not prevent the director from taking action to protect the safety of patients pursuant to section 36-427.

H. Subject to the confidentiality requirements of articles 4 and 5 of this chapter, title 12, chapter 13, article 7.1 and section 12-2235, the licensee shall keep current department inspection reports at the health care institution. Unless federal law requires otherwise, the licensee shall post in a conspicuous location a notice that identifies the location at that institution where the inspection reports are available for review.

I. A health care institution shall immediately notify the department in writing when there is a change of the chief administrative officer specified in section 36-422, subsection A, paragraph 1, subdivision (g).

J. When the department issues an original license or an original provisional license to a health care institution, it shall notify the owners and lessees of any agricultural land within one-fourth mile of the health care institution. The health care institution shall provide the department with the names and addresses of owners or lessees of agricultural land within one-fourth mile of the proposed health care institution.

K. In addition to the grounds for denial of licensure prescribed pursuant to subsection A of this section, the director may deny a license because an applicant or anyone in a business relationship with the applicant, including stockholders and controlling persons, has had a license to operate a health care institution denied, revoked or suspended or a license or certificate issued by a health profession regulatory board pursuant to title 32 or issued by a state agency pursuant to chapter 6, article 7 or chapter 17 of this title denied, revoked or suspended or has a licensing history of recent serious violations occurring in this state or in another state that posed a direct risk to the life, health or safety of patients or residents.

L. In addition to the requirements of this chapter, the director may prescribe by rule other licensure requirements.

36-427. Suspension or revocation; intermediate sanctions

A. The director, pursuant to title 41, chapter 6, article 10, may suspend or revoke, in whole or in part, the license of any health care institution if its owners, officers, agents or employees:

1. Violate this chapter or the rules of the department adopted pursuant to this chapter.
2. Knowingly aid, permit or abet the commission of any crime involving medical and health-related services.
3. Have been, are or may continue to be in substantial violation of the requirements for licensure of the institution, as a result of which the health or safety of one or more patients or the general public is in immediate danger.
4. Fail to comply with section 36-2901.08.
5. Violate section 36-2302.

B. If the licensee, the chief administrative officer or any other person in charge of the institution refuses to permit the department or its employees or agents the right to inspect the institution's premises as provided in section 36-424, such action shall be deemed reasonable cause to believe that a substantial violation under subsection A, paragraph 3 of this section exists.

C. If the director reasonably believes that a violation of subsection A, paragraph 3 of this section has occurred and that life or safety of patients will be immediately affected, the director, on written notice to the licensee, may order the immediate restriction of admissions or readmissions, selected transfer of patients out of the facility, reduction of capacity and termination of specific services, procedures, practices or facilities.

D. The director may rescind, in whole or in part, sanctions imposed pursuant to this section on correction of the violation or violations for which the sanctions were imposed.

36-429. Removal of licensee; temporary management continued operation

A. If the director reasonably believes that a violation of this chapter by a licensee endangers the health, safety or welfare of one or more of the licensee's patients, in addition to other remedies provided by this chapter, the director may enter into an agreement with the licensee or bring an action requesting the superior court to:

1. Remove the administrative officers, agents or employees of such licensee by injunction, enjoin the licensee from continued operation and revoke the license.
2. Appoint temporary personnel to continue operation of the health care institution under conditions and requirements set by the court pending correction of the violation and restoration of the licensee, revocation of the license or correction of the violation and change of ownership.

B. The action shall be brought in the name of the people of the state through the attorney general in the superior court in the county in which the health care institution is located.

36-430. Unlicensed operation prohibited; injunction

The operation or maintenance of a health care institution which does not hold a current and valid license or which exceeds the range of the services authorized by the class or subclass for which it is licensed is a violation of this chapter and is declared a nuisance inimical to the public health and safety. The director, in the name of the people of the state, through the attorney general, may bring an action for an injunction to restrain such violation or to enjoin the future operation or maintenance of any such health care institution until substantial compliance with the provisions of this chapter and the rules and regulations and standards adopted pursuant thereto is obtained.

36-2161. Abortions; reporting requirements

A. A hospital or facility in this state where abortions are performed must submit to the department of health services on a form prescribed by the department a report of each abortion performed in the hospital or facility. The report shall not identify the individual patient by name but must include the following information:

1. The name and address of the facility where the abortion was performed.
2. The type of facility where the abortion was performed.
3. The county where the abortion was performed.
4. The woman's age.
5. The woman's educational background by highest grade completed and, if applicable, level of college completed.
6. The county and state in which the woman resides.

7. The woman's race and ethnicity.
8. The woman's marital status.
9. The number of prior pregnancies and prior abortions of the woman.
10. The number of previous spontaneous terminations of pregnancy of the woman.
11. The gestational age of the unborn child at the time of the abortion.
12. The reason for the abortion, including whether the abortion is elective or due to maternal or fetal health considerations.
13. The type of procedure performed or prescribed and the date of the abortion.
14. Any preexisting medical conditions of the woman that would complicate pregnancy and any known medical complication that resulted from the abortion.
15. The basis for any medical judgment that a medical emergency existed that excused the physician from compliance with the requirements of this chapter.
16. The physician's statement if required pursuant to section 36-2301.01.
17. If applicable, the weight of the aborted fetus for any abortion performed pursuant to section 36-2301.01.
18. Whether a fetus or embryo was delivered alive as defined in section 36-2301 during or immediately after an attempted abortion and the efforts made to promote, preserve and maintain the life of the fetus or embryo pursuant to section 36-2301.
19. Statements by the physician and all clinical staff who observed the fetus or embryo during or immediately after the abortion certifying under penalty of perjury that, to the best of their knowledge, the aborted fetus or embryo was not delivered alive as defined in section 36-2301.

B. The report must be signed by the physician who performed the abortion or, if a health professional other than a physician is authorized by law to prescribe or administer abortion medication, the signature and title of the person who prescribed or administered the abortion medication. The form may be signed electronically and shall indicate that the person who signs the report is attesting that the information in the report is correct to the best of the person's knowledge. The hospital or facility must transmit the report to the department within fifteen days after the last day of each reporting month.

C. Any report filed pursuant to this section shall be filed electronically at an internet website that is designated by the department unless the person required to file the report applies for a waiver from electronic reporting by submitting a written request to the department.

36-2901.08. Hospital assessment

A. The director shall establish, administer and collect an assessment on hospital revenues, discharges or bed days for the purpose of funding the nonfederal share of the costs, except for costs of the services described in section 36-2907, subsection F, that are incurred beginning January 1, 2014 and that are not covered by the proposition 204 protection account established by section 36-778 and the Arizona tobacco litigation settlement fund established by section 36-2901.02 or any other monies appropriated to cover these costs, for all of the following individuals:

1. Persons who are defined as eligible pursuant to section 36-2901.07.
2. Persons who do not meet the eligibility standards described in the state plan or the section 1115 waiver that were in effect immediately before November 27, 2000, but who meet the eligibility standards described in the state plan as effective October 1, 2001.
3. Persons who are defined as eligible pursuant to section 36-2901.01 but who do not meet the eligibility standards in either section 36-2934 or the state plan in effect as of January 1, 2013.

B. The director shall adopt rules regarding the method for determining the assessment, the amount or rate of the assessment, and modifications or exemptions from the assessment. The assessment is subject to approval by the federal government to ensure that the assessment is not established or administered in a manner that causes a reduction in federal financial participation.

C. The director may establish modifications or exemptions to the assessment. In determining the modifications or exemptions, the director may consider factors including the size of the hospital, the specialty services available to patients and the geographic location of the hospital.

D. Before implementing the assessment, and thereafter if the methodology is modified, the director shall present the methodology to the joint legislative budget committee for review.

E. The administration shall not collect an assessment for costs associated with service after the effective date of any reduction of the federal medical assistance percentage established by 42 United States Code section 1396d(y) or 1396d(z) that is applicable to this state to less than eighty per cent.

F. The administration shall deposit the revenues collected pursuant to this section in the hospital assessment fund established by section 36-2901.09.

G. A hospital shall not pass the cost of the assessment on to patients or third-party payors that are liable to pay for care on a patient's behalf. As part of its financial statement submissions pursuant to section 36-125.04, a hospital shall submit to the department of health services an attestation that it has not passed on the cost of the assessment to patients or third-party payors.

H. If a hospital does not comply with this section as prescribed by the director, the director may suspend or revoke the hospital's Arizona health care cost containment system provider agreement registration. If the hospital does not comply within one hundred eighty days after the director suspends or revokes the hospital's provider agreement, the director shall notify the director of the department of health services, who shall suspend or revoke the hospital's license pursuant to section 36-427.

41-1073. Time frames; exception

A. No later than December 31, 1998, an agency that issues licenses shall have in place final rules establishing an overall time frame during which the agency will either grant or deny each type of license that it issues. Agencies shall submit their overall time frame rules to the governor's regulatory review council pursuant to the schedule developed by the council. The council shall schedule each agency's rules so that final overall time frame rules are in place no later than December 31, 1998. The rule regarding the overall time frame for each type of license shall state separately the administrative completeness review time frame and the substantive review time frame.

B. If a statutory licensing time frame already exists for an agency but the statutory time frame does not specify separate time frames for the administrative completeness review and the substantive review, by rule the agency shall establish separate time frames for the administrative completeness review and the substantive review, which together shall not exceed the statutory overall time frame. An agency may establish different time frames for initial licenses, renewal licenses and revisions to existing licenses.

C. The submission by the department of environmental quality of a revised permit to the United States environmental protection agency in response to an objection by that agency shall be given the same effect as a notice granting or denying a permit application for licensing time frame purposes. For the purposes of this subsection, "permit" means a permit required by title 49, chapter 2, article 3.1 or section 49-426.

D. In establishing time frames, agencies shall consider all of the following:

1. The complexity of the licensing subject matter.
2. The resources of the agency granting or denying the license.
3. The economic impact of delay on the regulated community.
4. The impact of the licensing decision on public health and safety.
5. The possible use of volunteers with expertise in the subject matter area.
6. The possible increased use of general licenses for similar types of licensed businesses or facilities.
7. The possible increased cooperation between the agency and the regulated community.
8. Increased agency flexibility in structuring the licensing process and personnel.

E. This article does not apply to licenses issued either:

1. Pursuant to tribal state gaming compacts.
2. Within seven days after receipt of initial application.
3. By a lottery method.

41-1074. Compliance with administrative completeness review time frame

- A. An agency shall issue a written notice of administrative completeness or deficiencies to an applicant for a license within the administrative completeness review time frame.
- B. If an agency determines that an application for a license is not administratively complete, the agency shall include a comprehensive list of the specific deficiencies in the written notice provided pursuant to subsection A. If the agency issues a written notice of deficiencies within the administrative completeness time frame, the administrative completeness review time frame and the overall time frame are suspended from the date the notice is issued until the date that the agency receives the missing information from the applicant.
- C. If an agency does not issue a written notice of administrative completeness or deficiencies within the administrative completeness review time frame, the application is deemed administratively complete. If an agency issues a timely written notice of deficiencies, an application shall not be complete until all requested information has been received by the agency.

41-1075. Compliance with substantive review time frame

- A. During the substantive review time frame, an agency may make one comprehensive written request for additional information. The agency and applicant may mutually agree in writing to allow the agency to submit supplemental requests for additional information. If an agency issues a comprehensive written request or a supplemental request by mutual written agreement for additional information, the substantive review time frame and the overall time frame are suspended from the date the request is issued until the date that the agency receives the additional information from the applicant.
- B. By mutual written agreement, an agency and an applicant for a license may extend the substantive review time frame and the overall time frame. An extension of the substantive review time frame and the overall time frame may not exceed twenty-five per cent of the overall time frame.

41-1076. Compliance with overall time frame

Unless an agency and an applicant for a license mutually agree to extend the substantive review time frame and the overall time frame pursuant to section 41-1075, an agency shall issue a written notice granting or denying a license within the overall time frame to an applicant. If an agency denies an application for a license, the agency shall include in the written notice at least the following information:

1. Justification for the denial with references to the statutes or rules on which the denial is based.
2. An explanation of the applicant's right to appeal the denial. The explanation shall include the number of days in which the applicant must file a protest challenging the denial and the name and telephone number of an agency contact person who can answer questions regarding the appeals process.

41-1079. Information required to be provided

- A. An agency that issues licenses shall provide the following information to an applicant at the time the applicant obtains an application for a license:
1. A list of all of the steps the applicant is required to take in order to obtain the license.
 2. The applicable licensing time frames.
 3. The name and telephone number of an agency contact person who can answer questions or provide assistance throughout the application process.
- B. This section does not apply to the Arizona peace officer standards and training board established by section 41-1821.

STAFF MEMORANDUM - FIVE-YEAR REVIEW REPORT

MEETING DATE: July 10, 2018

AGENDA ITEM: F-7

TO: Members of the Governor's Regulatory Review Council (Council)

FROM: Council Staff

DATE: June 19, 2018

SUBJECT: DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH SERVICES (F-18-0707)
Title 9, Chapter 10, Article 3, Behavioral Health Inpatient Facilities

COMMENTS ON THE FIVE-YEAR REVIEW REPORT

Purpose of the Agency and Number of Rules in the Report:

This five-year-review report from the Arizona Department of Health Services (Department) covers 24 rules in A.A.C. Title 9, Chapter 10, Article 3 related to licensing of behavioral health inpatient facilities. The rules establish application requirements; quality management reports; personnel requirements; admission procedure; treatment plan; discharge plan; patient rights; medical records retention; behavioral health services; child and adolescent residential treatment services; detoxification services; medication services; food services; emergency and safety standards; environmental standards; and physical plant standards.

The rules were last amended in 2014. This is the first five-year-review report on the rules.

Proposed Action

The Department plans to address the issues identified in this memo by submitting a Notice of Final Rulemaking to the Council by July 2019.

1. Has the agency analyzed whether the rules are authorized by statute?

Yes. The Department cites to A.R.S. §§ 36-132(A)(1), 36-132(A)(17) and 36-136(G) as general authority for the rules. A.R.S. § 36-132(A)(17) requires the Department to "license and regulate health care institutions" and under A.R.S. § 36-136(G), the Department "may make and amend rules necessary for the proper administration and enforcement of the laws relating to the public health." The Department also provides specific statutory authority for the rules in the report.

2. Summary of the agency’s economic impact comparison and identification of stakeholders:

There were 44 licensed behavioral health inpatient facilities in Arizona as of January 1, 2018. The Department received 36 renewal applications and 17 initial applications in 2017 for behavioral health inpatient facility licenses. In 2017, the Department also conducted 28 compliant surveys and 16 compliance surveys. The Department received $7,250 in monetary penalties as a result of seven late applications and five survey enforcements. Six behavioral health inpatient facilities closed in 2017.

Stakeholders include the Department, Arizona behavioral health inpatient facilities, health care providers (including behavioral health professionals), social workers, patients, their families, and the general public.

The Department indicates that the rules were intended to reduce monetary regulatory costs and to facilitate licensing of “integrated health programs that provide both behavioral and physical health services.” The Department also states that changes made to the rules in the last five year period were intended to make the rules more consistent with current practices and to increase consistency within the health care institution licensing rules.

3. Has the agency analyzed the costs and benefits of the rulemaking and determined that the rules impose the least burden and costs to those who are regulated?

Yes. The Department believes that the rules impose the least burden and costs to persons regulated by the rules, including paperwork and other compliance costs, necessary to achieve the underlying regulatory objectives.

4. Has the agency received any written criticisms of the rules over the last five years?

No. The Department indicates that it has not received any written criticisms of the rules over the last five years.

5. Has the agency analyzed the rules’ clarity, conciseness, and understandability, consistency with other rules and statutes, and effectiveness?

Yes. The Department indicates that the rules are consistent with other rules and statutes. Additionally, the Department notes that the rules are effective in achieving their objectives, with the following exceptions:

- Section 302: The term “initial license” should be removed from the rule to comply with statutory changes.
- Section 306: The rule should be amended to provide more specificity regarding requirements for staffing levels. Also, the rule should require a behavioral health professional to be on the premises at all times.

- Section 307: The rule should be modified to require a facility to assess the acuity of a patient upon admission and update a patient’s treatment plan accordingly. Subsection (8) allows a medical practitioners to wait up to 72 hours after the patient is admitted before performing a medical examination; however, based on incidents that have occurred the Department believes that the time period should be shorter to protect the patient’s health and safety.
- Section 314: The rule only allows medical services to be provided under the direction of a physician; however, the rule would be more effective if it better addressed to the physical needs of a patient. In addition, the contents in subsection (A)(2) should be moved to a new section titled “Nursing Services.” The rule should also require that an acuity plan be developed for each unit of the facility.
- Section 321: The rule references outdated guidelines. The reference should be changed to “Dietary Guidelines for Americans 2015-2020” and provide the correct document title and website address.

The Department has identified the following two rules that could be made more clear, concise, and understandable:

- Section 316: The rule should be amended to clarify that equipment and supplies are only required to be removed before use as a seclusion room.
- Section 324: In subsection (B)(8)(b), “patient” should be made plural to acknowledge that more than one patient might share a bedroom and bathroom.

6. Has the agency analyzed the current enforcement status of the rules?

No. The Department indicates that the rules are enforced as written.

7. Are the rules more stringent than corresponding federal law and, if so, is there statutory authority to exceed the requirements of federal law?

No. The Department indicates that no federal laws are applicable to the rules.

8. For rules adopted after July 29, 2010, do the rules require a permit or license and, if so, does the agency comply with A.R.S. § 41-1037?

Yes. The rules require the issuance of a specific agency authorization, which is authorized by A.R.S. § 36-405. The statute requires the director to “adopt licensing provisions that facilitate the colocation and integration of outpatient treatment centers that provide medical, nursing and health-related services....”

9. Conclusion

The Department plans to make the changes identified in this memo and submit a Notice of Final Rulemaking to the Council by July 2019. The report meets the requirements of A.R.S. § 41-1056 and R1-6-301. Council staff recommends approval of this report.

R9-10-302	The rule is effective, but would be more effective if the Department removed the term “initial license” to reflect the changes made by Laws 2017, ch 122.
R9-10-306	The rule is effective, but it would be more effective if the Department added more specific requirements for staffing levels and the rule required a behavioral health professional to be on the premises.
R9-10-307	The rule is effective. However, the following would improve the rule’s effectiveness:

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The rule would be more effective if it required a facility to assess the acuity of a patient upon admission and update a patient’s treatment plan in response to additional information about or changes to the patient’s acuity. R9-10-307(8) permits a medical practitioner to wait up to 72 hours after admission before performing a medical history and physical examination. Based on incidents that have occurred in this class of health care institution, the Department believes the permissible time period should be shorter to protect the health and safety of a patient. The rule would be more effective if the Department added a requirement that a treatment plan must address the staffing necessary to meet the patient’s level of acuity.
R9-10-314	The rule is effective. However, the following would improve the rule’s effectiveness: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> The current rule allows medical services to be provided only under the direction of a physician. The rule would be more effective if it better addressed to physical needs of the patient to ensure health and safety. The rule would be more effective if the contents of R9-10-314(A)(2) were expanded upon within the section or moved to a new Section entitled “Nursing Services.” The rule would be more effective if it required that an acuity plan be developed for each unit of the facility and reflect the assessed acuity of each patient in the unit.
R9-10-321	The rule is effective. However, R9-10-321(B)(3) references outdated guidelines at https://health.gov/dietaryguidelines/dga2010/DietaryGuidelines2010.pdf. The rule would be more effective if it referenced the up-to-date “Dietary Guidelines for Americans 2015-2020” and used the document name in addition to the link to increase clarity if the website location changes.

6. Are the rules clear, concise, and understandable? Yes No

If not, please identify the rule(s) that is not clear, concise, or understandable and provide an explanation as to how the agency plans to amend the rule(s) to improve clarity, conciseness, and understandability.

Rule	Explanation
R9-10-316	The rule is clear, concise and understandable, although the wording in R9-10-316(B)(4)(d) would be clearer if it clarified that equipment and supplies are only required to be removed before use as a seclusion room.
R9-10-324	The rule is clear, concise and understandable, although the rule would be clearer if “patient” were changed to “patient or patients” in R9-10-324(B)(8)(b) to acknowledge that more than one patient might share a bedroom and therefore also share a bathroom.

7. Has the agency received written criticisms of the rules within the last five years? Yes No

If yes, please fill out the table below:

8. Economic, small business, and consumer impact comparison:

There were 44 licensed behavioral health inpatient facilities in Arizona as of January 1, 2018. The Department received 36 renewal applications and 17 initial applications in 2017. In 2017, the Department also conducted twenty-eight complaint surveys and sixteen compliance surveys and received $7250.00 in monetary penalties as a result of seven late applications and five survey enforcements. Six behavioral health inpatient facilities closed in 2017.

Prior to 2013, the rules for facilities now located under behavioral health inpatient facility licensure had been adopted at 9 A.A.C. 20. In 2013, the rules for level 1 residential treatment centers and level 1 sub-acute agencies from 9 A.A.C. 20 were revised in their entirety, integrated with other health care institution licensure rules, and moved to 9 A.A.C. 10, Article 3 as part of an exempt rulemaking to comply with Laws 2011, Ch. 96. Laws 2013, Ch. 10, § 13, amended Laws 2011, Ch. 96 to extend the time for the Department to further revise the rules in 9 A.A.C. 10 under exempt rulemaking authority to April 30, 2014, during which time another exempt rulemaking of 9 A.A.C. 10 and 9 A.A.C. 20 (effective July 1, 2014) further revised all but three of the rules and added a new Section.

Stakeholders for these rulemakings include the Department, Arizona behavioral health inpatient facilities, health care providers (including behavioral health professionals), social workers, patients and their families, and the general public.

The changes in both the 2013 exempt rulemaking and the 2014 exempt rulemaking were intended to reduce monetary and regulatory costs and facilitate licensing of “integrated health programs that provide both behavioral and physical health services.” The changes also made the rules more consistent with practices and increased consistency within health care institution licensing rules.

The 2013 exempt rulemaking moved some of the information related to behavioral health inpatient facilities from the old 9 A.A.C. 20 to 9 A.A.C. 10, Article 1, which contains requirements that apply to all health care institutions. It also created 9 A.A.C. 10, Article 3, which is specific to behavioral health inpatient facilities.

The 2013 exempt rulemaking changed some requirements for behavioral health inpatient facilities when it created 9 A.A.C. 10, Article 3. It added more specific requirements for governing authorities and administrators, added requirements for quality management, and added contracted services requirements. It also made minor changes to personnel requirements, including additional requirements related to personnel qualifications. The Department separated requirements for assessment and treatment plan into separate Sections, combined admission and assessment into one Section, and added Sections for “Transport; Transfer,” “Medical Records,” “Physical Health Services,” “Behavioral Health Services,” “Behavioral Health Observation/Stabilization Services,” “Food Services,” “Emergency and Safety Standards,” and “Physical Plant Standards.” It also combined the old “Transportation” Section and the old “Outings” Section into one “Patient Outings” Section and removed a few transportation and outing requirements. The rulemaking also altered admission and assessment requirements and made minor changes to required time frames for updating patient medical records. The rulemaking added several requirements for discharge, although it removed requirements for involuntary discharge. It also rearranged the patient rights Section by moving several components that had been part of patient rights to other Sections, adding a few additional requirements, and removing a few items. Significant changes were made to the restraint and seclusion Section and several definitions were removed. The rulemaking also removed a few requirements about detoxification. The “Environmental Standards” Section was significantly rearranged and altered and some items were moved to the new “Physical Plant Standards” Section, although several new items were also added to the “Physical Plant Standards” Section. These changes integrated the licensing of health programs that provide both behavioral and physical health services and made the rules more effective and easier to understand.

The 2014 exempt rulemaking made changes to most Sections and added a Section for “Child and Adolescent Residential Treatment Services” to consolidate requirements related to patients under age eighteen that had been in other Sections. It also changed the requirements for when an applicant must indicate what they are requesting authorization to provide. The rulemaking added items that must be included in policies and procedures and clarified when an individual who is accountable when an administrator is not present must be present on the premises. It also added a personnel record requirement, removed fingerprint clearance requirements, and removed requirements related to patient transport. It made a minor change related to discharge and altered assessment requirements, including the timeline and personnel involved. The rulemaking specified exceptions to transport and transfer requirements and clarified that consent is required before release of information in patient medical records. It also added a number of items that must be included in patient medical records. It made a few changes to requirements for physical health services. It removed several requirements for restraint and seclusion and added requirements for facilities authorized to provide seclusion. It made a few small changes to the detoxification Section and updated meal planning guidelines to Dietary Guidelines for Americans, 2010. Pet vaccination requirements were simplified and minor changes were made to the tobacco policy and emergency and safety standards. The rulemaking also changed facility requirements for bedrooms and added an allowance for an administrator to ask for more time to comply with physical plant standards. These changes integrated the licensing of health programs that provide both behavioral and physical health services and made the rules more effective and easier to understand.

9. Has the agency received any business competitiveness analyses of the rules? Yes ___ No √

10. Has the agency completed the course of action indicated in the agency's previous five-year-review report?
Please state what the previous course of action was and if the agency did not complete the action, please explain why not.

This is the first five-year-review of the new rules adopted by exempt rulemaking in 2013 and amended in 2014.

11. A determination that the probable benefits of the rule outweigh within this state the probable costs of the rule, and the rule imposes the least burden and costs to regulated persons by the rule, including paperwork and other compliance costs, necessary to achieve the underlying regulatory objective:

The changes in both the 2013 exempt rulemaking and the 2014 exempt rulemaking were intended to reduce monetary and regulatory costs and the Department believes that the rule imposes the least burden and costs to persons regulated by the rule, including paperwork and other compliance costs, necessary to achieve the underlying regulatory objective.

12. Are the rules more stringent than corresponding federal laws? Yes ___ No √

Please provide a citation for the federal law(s). And if the rule(s) is more stringent, is there statutory authority to exceed the requirements of federal law(s)?

Federal laws are not applicable to the rules in 9 A.A.C. 10, Article 3.

13. For rules adopted after July 29, 2010 that require the issuance of a regulatory permit, license, or agency authorization, whether the rules are in compliance with the general permit requirements of A.R.S. § 41-1037 or explain why the agency believes an exception applies:

The rules require the issuance of a specific agency authorization, which is authorized by A.R.S. § 36-405, so a general permit is not applicable.

14. Proposed course of action

If possible, please identify a month and year by which the agency plans to complete the course of action.

The Department plans to amend the rules in 9 A.A.C. 10, Article 3 to address issues identified in this 5 year review by July 2019.

TITLE 9. HEALTH SERVICES

CHAPTER 10. DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH SERVICES - HEALTH CARE INSTITUTIONS: LICENSING

Editor's Note: The heading for 9 A.A.C. 10 changed from "Licensure" to "Licensing" per a request from the Department of Health Services (Supp. 03-4).

Editor's Note: The Office of the Secretary of State publishes all Chapters on white paper (Supp. 01-2).

Editor's Note: This Chapter contains rules which were adopted, amended, and repealed under exemptions from the provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act (A.R.S. Title 41, Chapter 6) pursuant to Laws 1993, Ch. 163, § 3(B); Laws 1996, Ch. 329, § 5; Laws 1998, Ch. 178 § 17, and Laws 1999, Ch. 311. Exemption from A.R.S. Title 41, Chapter 6 means that the Department of Health Services did not submit these rules to the Governor's Regulatory Review Council for review; the Department may not have submitted notice of proposed rulemaking to the Secretary of State for publication in the Arizona Administrative Register; the Department was not required to hold public hearings on these rules; and the Attorney General did not certify these rules. Because this Chapter contains rules which are exempt from the regular rulemaking process, the Chapter is printed on blue paper.

J. The rules adopted under the authority conferred by this section shall be observed throughout the state and shall be enforced by each local board of health or public health services district, but this section does not limit the right of any local board of health or county board of supervisors to adopt ordinances and rules as authorized by law within its jurisdiction, provided that the ordinances and rules do not conflict with state law and are equal to or more restrictive than the rules of the director.

K. The powers and duties prescribed by this section do not apply in instances in which regulatory powers and duties relating to public health are vested by the legislature in any other state board, commission, agency or instrumentality, except that with regard to the regulation of meat and meat products, the department of health services and the Arizona department of agriculture within the area delegated to each shall adopt rules that are not in conflict.

L. The director, in establishing fees authorized by this section, shall comply with title 41, chapter 6. The department shall not set a fee at more than the department's cost of providing the service for which the fee is charged. State agencies are exempt from all fees imposed pursuant to this section.

M. After consultation with the state superintendent of public instruction, the director shall prescribe the criteria the department shall use in deciding whether or not to notify a local school district that a pupil in the district has tested positive for the human immunodeficiency virus antibody. The director shall prescribe the procedure by which the department shall notify a school district if, pursuant to these criteria, the department determines that notification is warranted in a particular situation. This procedure shall include a requirement that before notification the department shall determine to its satisfaction that the district has an appropriate policy relating to nondiscrimination of the infected pupil and confidentiality of test results and that proper educational counseling has been or will be provided to staff and pupils.

N. Until the department adopts exemptions by rule as required by subsection I, paragraph 4, subdivision (f) of this section, food and drink are exempt from the rules prescribed in subsection I of this section if offered at locations that sell only commercially prepackaged food or drink that is not potentially hazardous, without a limitation on its display area.

O. Until the department adopts exemptions by rule as required by subsection I, paragraph 4, subdivision (h) of this section, a whole fruit or vegetable grown in a public school garden that is washed and cut on-site for immediate consumption is exempt from the rules prescribed in subsection I of this section.

P. Until the department adopts an exclusion by rule as required by subsection I, paragraph 14 of this section, the standardized survey known as "the hospital consumer assessment of healthcare providers and systems" may not include patients who experience a fetal demise.

Q. For the purposes of this section, "fetal demise" means a fetal death that occurs or is confirmed in a licensed hospital. Fetal demise does not include an abortion as defined in section 36-2151.

36-405. Powers and duties of the director

A. The director shall adopt rules to establish minimum standards and requirements for the construction, modification and licensure of health care institutions necessary to ensure the public health, safety and welfare. The standards and requirements shall relate to the construction, equipment, sanitation, staffing for medical, nursing and personal care services, and recordkeeping pertaining to the administration of medical, nursing, behavioral health and personal care services, in accordance with generally accepted practices of health care. The director shall use the current standards adopted by the joint commission on accreditation of hospitals and the commission on accreditation of the American osteopathic association or those adopted by any recognized accreditation organization approved by the department as guidelines in prescribing minimum standards and requirements under this section.

B. The director, by rule, may:

1. Classify and subclassify health care institutions according to character, size, range of services provided, medical or dental specialty offered, duration of care and standard of patient care required for the purposes of licensure. Classes of health care institutions may include hospitals, infirmaries, outpatient treatment centers, health screening services centers and residential care facilities. Whenever the director reasonably deems distinctions in rules and standards to be appropriate among different classes or subclasses of health care institutions, the director may make such distinctions.

2. Prescribe standards for determining a health care institution's substantial compliance with licensure requirements.

3. Prescribe the criteria for the licensure inspection process.

4. Prescribe standards for the selection of health care-related demonstration projects.

5. Establish nonrefundable application and licensing fees for health care institutions, including a grace period and a fee for the late payment of licensing fees, and fees for architectural plans and specifications reviews.

6. Establish a process for the department to notify a licensee of the licensee's licensing fee due date.

7. Establish a process for a licensee to request a different licensing fee due date, including any limits on the number of requests by the licensee.

C. The director, by rule, shall adopt licensing provisions that facilitate the colocation and integration of outpatient treatment centers that provide medical, nursing and health-related services with behavioral health services consistent with article 3.1 of this chapter.

D. Ninety percent of the fees collected pursuant to this section shall be deposited, pursuant to sections 35-146 and 35-147, in the health services licensing fund established by section 36-414 and ten percent of the fees collected pursuant to this section shall be deposited, pursuant to sections 35-146 and 35-147, in the state general fund.

E. Subsection B, paragraph 5 of this section does not apply to a health care institution operated by a state agency pursuant to state or federal law or to adult foster care residential settings.

36-421. Construction or modification of a health care institution

A. A license application for a health care institution shall include architectural plans and specifications or the department's approval of the architectural plans and specifications. These plans and specifications shall meet the minimum standards for licensure within the class or subclass of health care institution for which it is intended. The application shall include the name and address of each owner and lessee of any agricultural land that is regulated pursuant to section 3-365.

B. Construction or modification of a licensed health care institution shall meet the minimum standards for licensure within the class or subclass of health care institution for which it is intended.

C. An applicant shall comply with all state statutes and rules and local codes and ordinances required for the health care institution's construction.

D. A health care institution or its facility shall not be licensed if it is located on property that is less than four hundred feet from agricultural land that is regulated pursuant to section 3-365, except that the owner of the agricultural land may agree to comply with the buffer zone requirements of section 3-365. If the owner agrees in writing to comply with the buffer zone requirements and records the agreement in the office of the county recorder as a restrictive covenant running with the title to the land, the health care institution or facility may be licensed and located within the affected buffer zone. The agreement may include any stipulations regarding the health care institution or facility, including conditions for future expansion of the health care institution or facility and changes in the operational status of the health care institution or facility that will result in a breach of the agreement. This subsection does not apply to the issuance of a license for a health care institution located in the same location for which a health care institution license was previously issued.

E. Notwithstanding any law to the contrary, a health care institution that was licensed as a level 1 psychiatric acute behavioral health facility-inpatient facility as of January 1, 2012 and that is not certified under title XIX of the social security act shall be licensed as a hospital and is not required to comply with the physical plant standards for a general hospital, rural general hospital or special hospital prescribed by the department.

F. For the purposes of this section, health care institution does not include a home health agency or a hospice service agency.

The rules shall be applicable to patients admitted to or treated in agencies, other than the state hospital, as set forth in this chapter and shall provide for periodic inspections of such agencies.

B. The director shall make rules concerning the admission of patients and the transfer of patients between mental health treatment agencies other than the state hospital. This chapter does not impose a duty on an officer, agent or employee of this state to discharge a responsibility or create any right in a person or group if the discharge or right would require an expenditure of state monies in excess of the expenditure authorized by legislative appropriation for that specific purpose.
